Is It Twilight For Egg Producers?

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LANCASTER — The egg industry is battling to survive. Their product faces declining per capita consumption, negative press reports of salmonella, cholesterol and low prices. Can producers survive?

Al Wenger, national egg industry leader from Rheems, challenged the approximately 200 participants at the county egg association meeting held Thursday night at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center, that now is the time to gain control of the market. "Retailers have a stranglehold on our product," he said, "now is the time to take drastic measures and not try a patch up job."

He said, "We've just come through the worst 18 months the poultry industry has ever seen. We're losing five percent per capital consumption. Some call our product dangerous—but we know better; we know we are producing a healthy, safe product."

Despite this knowlege, he reasoned, "It doesn't get better even if we try harder." He commended local industry for their terrific advertising efforts, but he insisted, "That still doesn't break the stranglehold of retail power over our product." He told the audience, the egg producers are fighting more than consumer's health worries about cholesterol and salmonella. He blamed retailers for setting prices and not passing price cuts on to the customer. He questioned, "Don't you think it's strange when your egg prices go down yet store prices remain the same?"

To break retailers strangleholds on price setting, Wenger challenged the audience to see the concept of what would happen if they set production controls. "This is only a concept not a proposal,"

Pork Referendum Sept. 7 & 8

The pork referendum to decide whether to continue the national pork check-off will be held September 7 and 8. Registration and voting will be held at your local county extension office.Anyone, including 4-H, FFA and other youth who have owned and raised two or more hogs for sale during the period of November 1, 1986 through September 6, 1988 is eligable to vote. Absentee ballots must be completed and returned by September 1.

A majority of yes votes is needed to continue the program.

Queen Star Sexy Is E-Town's Supreme Champion Animal

BY LISA RISSER

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — The judges had a tough decision to make: which would be champion of the Elizabethtown Fair? A steer, a dairy cow, a hog, or a sheep? They chose Tom McCauley's Queen Star Sexy, a seven-year-old Sexation daughter.

McCauley's Holstein competed with Arlisa Snavely's yearling Shropshire ewe, Deb Wolgemuth's Angus-Chianina cross steer, and Laura Folker's Chester-Hampshire cross barrow.

Jerry Wyble, an Elizabethtown High School vo-ag teacher and judge of the dairy animal, declared Queen Star Sexy "a large, well-balanced cow that was sharp and open ribbed and stood on a good set of legs and hooves."

McCauley is the 17-year-old son of Dr. Alan D. McCauley of New Directions Holsteins in Elizabethtown. He has won four other supreme dairy champion titles at the fair. Queen Star Sexy is rated Excellent 94 and had 32,148 pounds of milk with 4.4 percent butterfat in 365 days for her last lactation.

The other judges for the show were Rep. Sam Hayes (R-Tyrone) for sheep; Dennis Grumbine, owner of Evergreen Tractors and a hog raiser, for swine; and Glenn Flickinger, an area supervisor for Pennfield, for beef.

Rep. Hayes called Snavely's ewe "a broody, well-balanced animal with a sound hind leg, which is one of the animal's stong points." In addition, he said it did a fine job of representing its species.

Folker's hog was "the kind we're looking for as seed stock," said Grumbine. "There's a proven correlation between length of neck and length of loin, and this barrow has a long neck. It's a neat package."

Flickinger liked Wolegemuth's steer saying "it's heavier through the shoulders, but makes that up when you look through its loin."

Dairy Princesses Prepare For Work, State Contest

At a recent three-day dairy princess training seminar at Shippensburg University, 40 county dairy princesses along with 26 alternates and 48 adults participated as full-time attendees. In addition, 25 others attended some of the classes.

This year 40 county dairy princesses and 40 alternates are serving their county dairy industry. This seminar gives the new princesses background on many of the things they need to know to accomplish their task of promoting dairy products.

Subjects covered at the seminar included the responsibility and honor of being a dairy princess, background on the industry promotion organizations and the nutritional value of milk. The princesses were also prepared for public speaking, how to deal with the media and time management.

A big event in the lives of county dairy princesses is the state contest. The program organized by the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Service, Inc. has set the date of Saturday evening September 24 for the state banquet and coronation. The place is the Harrisburg Marriott.

Janet Harding, program director, said this week, the milk punch reception will commence at 5:30 p.m. followed by the banquet at 6:30 p.m. and the coronation at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at $15.00 each from the Promotion Services, 214 South Street, Box 640, Clarion, PA 16214. For more information you may call (814) 226-7470. Ticket order deadline is September 20.

FUTURES MARKET TRENDS GRAIN AND LIVESTOCK

This market information provided by ACRES ACRES is a copyrighted market information service developed by the American Farm Bureau and available to Pennsylvania farmers on a daily basis through Pennsylvania Farmers' Association Farm Management Services For additional market comments and trading service contact PFA Commodity Futures Service (717) 761-2740

Acres Corn Update: Corn futures closed sharply higher with the September contract up the 10 cent limit. Some buying was prompted by rumors that estimates for the USSR grain production would be reduced. Fears of early frost also supported the market. Short-covering dominated early trade with the markets steady to better opening.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures closed sharply higher amid crop concerns. A midwest crop tour was reportedly finding numerous fields of drought-damaged beans in Iowa. Gains were accelerated by local short-covering. Forecasts for cooler temperatures led to speculation about an early frost that could reduce yields further. Meal and oil was also sharply higher. Strength in oil was attributed to export business and was very supportive to beans.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures closed higher supported by the strength in surrounding pits. Wheat continues to draw support from active export business. Additional tenders were removed toward the close. Early trading held prices in a narrow range with trades taking a wait and see attitude toward recent developments.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle futures closed higher today on commercial buying stemming from a firmer tone to the cash trade today. The late rally in corn was also supportive to the deferreds prompting a new high in the April contract. Additional funding by the CCC to Mexico for for livestock and meat purchases also lent support. Feeder cattle also closed higher supported by higher average cash prices and spillover from the live cattle pit.
ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady futures-steady to higher

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures settled higher on spillover from strength in the cattle pit on a late session rally. Earlier weakness was attributed to expectations for larger slaughter levels and steady to lower cash prices this morning. Weak product prices at midday limited gains in the October contract and featured bear spreading. Bellies also closed higher continuing to draw support from large movement out of storage.
ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: cash - steady to higher futures - steady

Northeast Chicken Parts

August 24, 1988

Buying interest was active as dealers sought to fill needs from light and confidently held offerings. Cutlets were no more than adequate overall and clearing well at higher trending prices. Whole breasts were limited in availability and short of full buying interest. Legs were in tight supply and leg quarters cleared easily at 37 to 38 cents Wings were adequate to occasionally fully adequate and attracting less interest than other items.

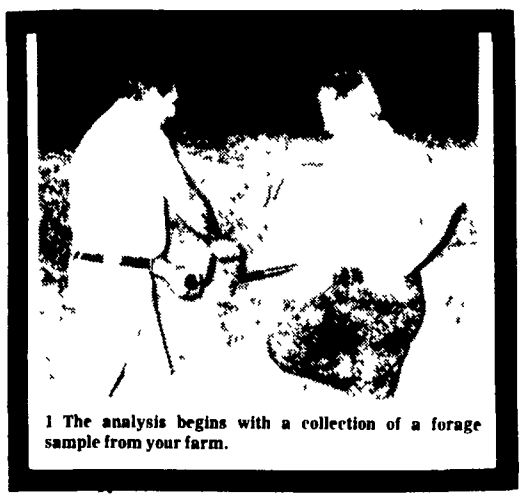
"NO CHARGE" FORAGE TESTING

ACCURATE FORAGE TESTING GIVES YOU A MORE RELIABLE DAIRY FEEDING PROGRAM



1 The analysis begins with a collection of a forage sample from your farm.

Not all testing is the same. The accuracy of your results depends on the thoroughness and professionalism of the people performing the analysis, and the precision of the testing equipment used.

In our Technical Services Laboratory, located in Lancaster, we perform more than 5,000 forage analyses a year for farms like yours, in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware. This service enables you to learn the exact nutrient values of your homegrown forages so that we can work with you to develop your best feeding program.

4. Samples are chemically digested to measure protein levels.

—PENNFIELD DAIRY PROGRAM PLUSES:—

2. A sample is weighed seven times during the procedure to gather data.

\+ "NO CHARGE" - CERTIFIED FORAGE TESTING LAB. Pennfield's Forage Testing Lab is certified by the NAHTA (National Alfalfa Hay Testing Assoc.)

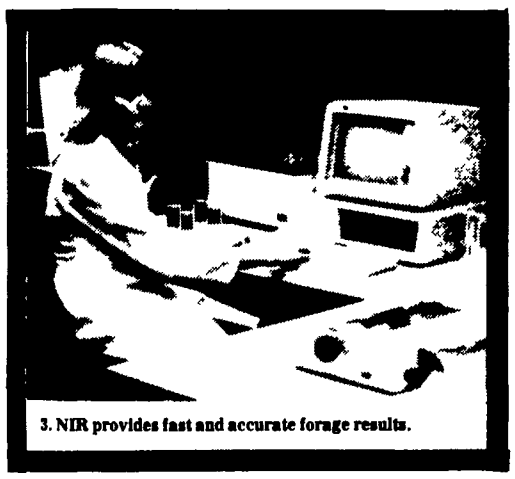
\+ Order dept. open 24 hours per day Monday 5 AM through Saturday 5 AM. Answering service on weekends.

5. Acid detergent fiber is another important indication of nutrient content.

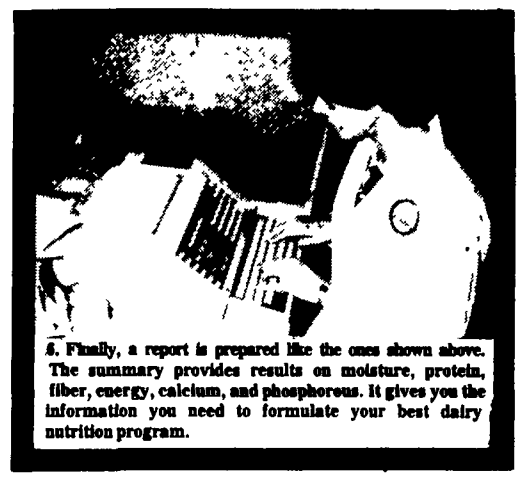


3. NIR provides fast and accurate forage results.

\+ Grain exchange program for Corn - Barley - Oats

\+ Dairy Terms: 2½% Cash Discount - due 15th of following month.

\+ Well trained "Dairy Service Specialists" who can work with you to help solve problems when they occur.



6. Finally, a report is prepared like the ones shown above. The summary provides results on moisture, protein, fiber, energy, calcium, and phosphorous. It gives you the information you need to formulate your best dairy nutrition program.

FEED PRICES FOR WEEK OF AUG 29 AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE WEEKLY WITH GRAIN MARKET

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

AUG. 29-SEPT. 4, 1988

Rains defeat the summer heat.

Ty Cobb played his first major-league baseball game Aug 30, 1905 Severe earthquake in Charleston, S C, killed nearly 100 persons Aug 31, 1886 Average length of days for the week 13 hours, 10 minutes Detroit radio station 8MK (WWJ) broadcast first news show Aug 31, 1920 Los Angeles recorded high temperature of 110° F Sept 1, 1955 Last quarter of the moon Sept 2 (Fri) He who has no poetry in himself will find poetry in nothing

Ask the Old Farmer: We have three mahogany beds that are 50 years old, and they squeak so badly that they almost keep us awake We've tried wedges, with no success Can you suggest anything? C E, Cumberland, R I

Try putting masking tape on the ends of the side rails where they make contact with the headboards and footboards Put on more than one layer if needed If they still squeak, apply petroleum jelly to the masking tape and rub it in

Home Hints: Divide your perennials now, so that the plants will have time to reestablish themselves before a hard frost sets in

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Beginning of week cool with thundershowers, midweek clear and seasonable, end of week showery and warm

Greater New York-New Jersey: Week begins with heavy rain and cool temperatures, midweek clear and mild, end of week heat wave, continued clear

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Week begins cool with thundershowers, midweek clear and warm, heat wave at end of week

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Beginning of week heavy rain, midweek clear and mild, end of week continued clear with warmer temperatures

OPINION

Pork Producers' Opportunity

Dairymen promote milk from dollars taken off their milk checks. The beef producers and vegetable farmers have recently voted to spend their money for product advertising. Now it's the pork producers chance to have a say in their future. On September 7 and 8 a referendum on whether to continue the national pork checkoff will be held. Voting will take place at the county exension offices during regular office hours.

In this case, the promotion and research program for hog producers will need a majority of yes votes from across the nation to be passed. Funding for the program that has been in effect on a trial basis comes from a checkoff of one-fourth of one percent on the market value of all feeder pigs, seed stock and market hogs. In addition, the same levy would be placed on all inported procine animals, pork and pork products.

While the specific reasons for an up-turn in consumer acceptance of pork are hard to determine, Glen Grimes of the University of Missouri reports pork demand increased two to three percent in the first four months of 1988 after climbing five percent in 1987. Grimes figures that put an extra six dollars per head in producers pockets.

The flagstaff of the present promotion has been "Pork, The Other White Meat". This promotion positions pork as fatless turkey and poultry meat.

In Pennsylvania the share of funds has been used to promote pork in Acme stores and to advertise during Penn State and Phillies games.

Pork producers must now decide if the cost is worth the return. And they must decide soon. And they must vote on the issue to let their voice be part of the outcome of the referendum. After it's over, it's over.

There is no age limit on who can vote. Anyone who has raised hogs or pigs for sale in their name since November 1986 is eligible to vote. This includes 4-H, FFA and other youth swine projects.

We would hope a large number of hog producers will take the opportunity to be heard by ballot on this referendum. The results willhave an impact on the hog industry for years to come.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin

To Determine Fertilizer Needs

The early fall months are good times to do soil testing and learn what plant nutrients will be needed for the 1989 cropping season. When the plant nutrient needs are known for this fall, some of them can be applied to the soil, and others can be ordered. Be sure to include the nutrient value of manure when planning your fertiliizer needs. The appropriate nutritive values of the different manures are listed on page 22 of the 1987-88 Agronomy Guide.

With fall application, the plants will have time to absorb some of the plant nutrients and strengthen it for the winter. This is especially true with alfalfa and some of the perennial grass crops. When soil tests are made in the fall, the land owner has more time to locate and deal for his lime and fertilizer needs.

To Prepare For Local Fairs

We are rapidly approaching the time for local Fairs. These times should be happy events — but once in a while they are not because planning was not done ahead of time. This is the time to take necessary precautions to help prevent the possibility of your taking disease to the Fair with your animals or bringing infection home to your farm.

Most Fairs require health charts and specific tests or vaccination for animals and poultry. Be sure to read the health requirements carefully. And, it doesn't hurt to be more strict than what the regulations may require.

Animals or poultry with any form of ailment should be left at home.

When animals or poultry leave the Fair and go home, it's important to have a place where you can isolate them and observe them closely for a period of time before returning them to their herdmates. If in doubt, consult your veterinarian for advice.

To Fertilize Alfalfa

The fall of the year, after the removal of the last cutting, is a good time to topdress existing alfalfa stands. The application of a phosphorus-potash fertiilizer (according to a soil test) in the fall will strengthen the alfalfa roots and result in higher yields next summer. Nitrogen should not be needed on established alfalfa stands because alfalfa is a legume and produces its own nitrogen. Some growers topdress with fertilizer in the fall and again after the removal of the first cutting in the spring.

This should result in maximum yields with a healthy stand. When alfalfa plants are well fed and treated for insect injury, they should be able to stand weather adversities. Alfalfa plants are heavy feeders on both phosphorus and potash. Unless these elements are replaced each year, the plants and yield will suffer.

To Be Aware Of Animals In The Garden

In the last two weeks, gardeners have been having more than their share of animals (groundhogs, rats, mice, rabbits, raccoons, skunks, and possums) invading their gardens and eating cantaloupes, watermelons, corn and tomatoes, according to Bruce Hellerick, Extension Agent - Horticulture. Most gardeners would not mind if the animals ate one entire melon but tend to get very angry when they take one or two bites out of almost every melon in their patch. The problem is compounded by the dry weather. Since the wild berry and nut crops are very scarce, your garden looks even more inviting. Unfortunately, there is very little you can do to discourage these visitors. Here are a few things gardeners have tried with varying success: animal repellents, dried blood, tobacco dust, lime, twine dipped in kerosene, and human hair. Many people want to use some kind of bait. To my knowledge there are no materials labeled for this use.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W ALTHOUSE

Background Scripture:
Deuteronomy 32:48-52;34.
Devotional Reading:
Joshua 1:1-9.

One of the most inspiring moments of my several visits to the Holy Land was the trek to the top of Mt. Nebo in Jordan to watch the sun set on Jerusalem and the Mount of Olives. It was literally and figuratively a "golden moment" for me and my compatriots.

Mt. Nebo is the traditional site of Moses' look into the Promised Land across the Jordan River. Whether this is really where it happened, we don't know, but regardless it is an inspiring and appropriate spot to remember Moses' experience in which God says to him, "I have let you see it with your eyes, but you shall not go over there" (Deuteronomy 34:4b). Looking northward, Moses could probably see the Sea of Galilee. To the south he could probably see the desert of Negev. If the day was really clear, he could probably see the Mediterranean in the west and the whole of the Jordan Valley.

If you go there today for sundown, you can see the sun gracing the spires of some of the churches on the Mount of Olives. That was probably the only difference in what I saw and what Moses saw, I saw Jerusalem, but he didn't. Yet, he actually saw more than I did. Moses saw the fulfillment of God's covenant with Israel. He saw it from afar and would not experience it himself, but he could see enough to know that God's promise would be fulfilled.

THE WRONG SIDE

So Moses died on the "wrong side" of the river. Instead of the Promised Land, he died in the land of Moab and was buried there. In a sense, it would seem that he died before his work was complete. The people of Israel were also on the "wrong side" of the Jordan River. He had brought them to it, but he could not take them into it. Moses died, leaving his task to another. It would be Joshua who would complete what Moses had begun.

Still, we must realize that Moses' reputation was undiminished by the fact that he had not completed the task God had given him. The writer of Deuteronomy was still able to say: "And there has not arisen a prophet in Israel like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, none like him for all the signs and the wonders which the Lord sent him to do in all the land of Egypt, to Pharoah and to all his servants and to all his land..." (34:10,11).

A SUCCESS?

The basic concern was not whether Moses was "successful, "but obedient and faithful. With one exception, Moses remained faithful. There were many times when he surely wanted to give up on this thankless job. The people were frequently disobedient and one wonders whether they ever stopped complaining. Still, Moses kept on through good times and bad. He was obedient and he left to God the question as to whether he was successful. He knew that another would have to take up his mantle and lead the people on to the end of their journey.

So it may be for many of us. We all would like to be successful, although most of us realize we're not sure what that means. But it is not difficult to know what it means to be faithful and that is something we can all achieve, if we want. If we're faithful to God and what he wants of us, we can leave "success" in his hands and it may well be that someone else will have to take up what we have not been able to conclude. The view from Mt. Nebo is enough for any of us and it only appears to be "the wrong side of the river."

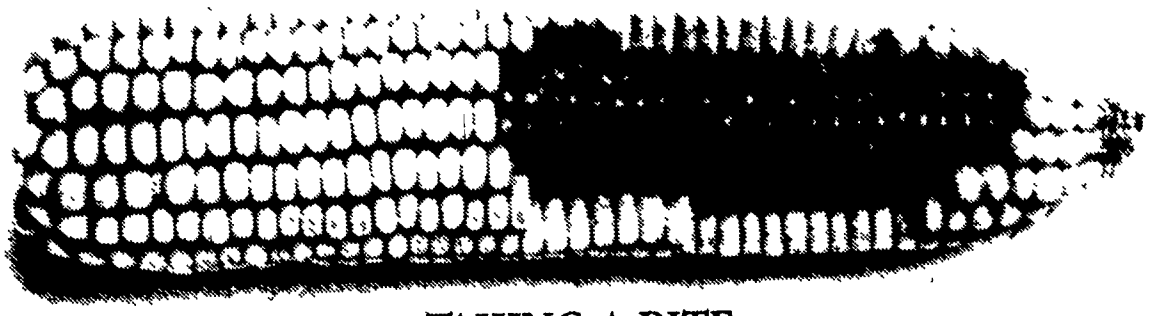
IS FERMENTATION



TAKING A BITE

DRY MATTER?

IT IS IF YOU'RE NOT USING SILAGE FRESH™

Uncontrolled fermentation eats up more dry matter than you might think. About 30,000 lbs in a 300 ton silo! Nothing to sneeze at with today's high production costs.

That's why it's smart to make Agway Silage Fresh Enzyme Additive or Silage Fresh Bacterial Inoculant part of your silo management program.

Silage Fresh controls fermentation to help you recover more tons of dry matter. It improves forage quality, too, for more milk per acre of corn ensiled.

Find out which Silage Fresh product will work best for you by calling your Agway Farm Enterprise Salesperson today.

Working for people who work the land.™

Count On Cargill!

The Royal Family Of The Alfalfa Industry

Crown
Outstanding yield potential. Produces high-quality forage. Excellent winterhardiness. High levels of resistance to the five major alfalfa diseases. A "new generation" variety that performs especially well in the north.

Endure
Exceptional tolerance to Verticillium Wilt and Phytophthora Roto Rot. Outstanding winterhardiness. Rapid recovery when management and fertilization are good. Excellent opportunity for extra cutting each year.

Are You And Your Cows Ready?

Base-building time is upon us and that usually triggers more calvings. Are you and your cows ready for the calving season? Both have to be in top form if you really want your cows to produce well, to calve with a minimum of stress and to conceive at the desired time. That's asking a lot of a cow and we need to be prepared to give her all the help she needs if we expect her to do well for us. But remember, in today's tight economy good production is important, but the highest production may not be the most profitable level.

Where do we start? In the tail end of her previous lactation and with the heifers. Be sure heifers are growthy. Holstein heifers should be ready to calve at 22 to 24 months of age at a weight of about 1200 pounds. That requires good heifer management!

Cows should be in good flesh - not fat - when they are dried off, preferably in the same degree of flesh that is ideal for calving. Strive to feed late lactation cows so they all dry off at a uniform state of fleshing. This will give you a more uniform group of dry cows to feed, which helps you to perfect your dry cow program.

Dry treat all cows, whether infected or not. In addition to eradicating present infections, dry treatments also help prevent new infections, and a dry cow is very vulnerable to new infections during the first week of her dry period. Thus, it is important to have a very sanitary dry cow area, especially during that first week.

The dry period is also a good time to perform a number of other operations such as hoof trimming, deworming, vaccinating, etc. You may want to consult with your veterinarian about the need for some of these practices.

Remember, calving time is one of the most stressful times in a cow's life. Direct your management efforts toward relieving cows of as many of these stresses as possible. She'll reward you later in the form of better production and conception.

Be sure to provide a sanitary maternity area. The best place is a well-sodded pasture fenced off just for this purpose. It should have shade, shelter and water and be close to the buildings so cows can be easily observed. Using pastures in good weather gives you the opportunity to clean and disinfect indoor pens and to let them remain idle for long periods of time, all of which helps to break up disease cycles.

Observe cows closely and be ready to render assistance as needed. Separate the calf immediately after birth, dry it off, disinfect its naval, take it to a clean individual pen and bottle feed it colostrum. All of this will reduce the chances of the calf picking up infections, especially Johnes.

If the cow starts to bag up and leak milk before calving, you may want to pre-milk her for several reasons. If she leaks, there's a good chance she will pick up an udder infection. Milking her out completely and frequently will help to flush out infectious organisms. It also reduces udder pressure which improves circulation and helps reduce udder edema. It also gives you an opportunity to spot infections and to eradicate them early in the lactation. You might have to preserve colostrum from another cow to feed to her calf. Premilking might predispose certain cows to milk fever, but that might be easier to treat than mastitis and broken down udders.

Lawrence Muller Receives Research Award

CHAMPAIGN, Il. — Lawrence D. Muller, Professor of Animal Science, The Pennsylvania State University, is the recipient of the1988 MSD Agvet Dairy Management Research Award sponsored by MSD AGVET, a division of Merck & Company, Inc.

The award, consisting of $1500 and a plaque, was presented to Mueller June 28 at the 83rd Annual Meeting of the American Dairy Science Association held on the University of Alberta campus at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. Muller received the award for his outstanding research in dairy cattle dairy farm management.

Major research areas of Mueller include fermented colostrum for calves, calf housing, brown midrib mutants of corn, forage preservation, protein nutrition of calves and lactating cows, induced parturition, and buffers for lactating cows and for calves. In the area of calf nutrition, Muller investigated the influence of various chemicals and bacterial cultures on the preservation of colostrum, the effect of methionine hydroxy analog on calf performance, and nutritional requirements for cold-housed calves. Working with the early lactation cow, he was involved in some of the original research evaluating the effect of brown midrib corn silage on dry matter intake, digestibility, and lactation performance. Muller and his students were one of the first groups to study extensively the effects of buffer addition to dairy cattle rations.

Muller's research has wide application for the nation's dairy industry. His research on use of buffers and nutrition of dairy calves contributed significantly to solutions for nutritional and management problems experienced on many farms. His research has made major contributions in use of fermented colostrum, applicability of brown midrib corn in ruminant diets, value of buffers in diets of calves and lactating cows, feeding strategy to induce daylight calving, energy needs of calves housed in cold environments, and benefits of supplemental niacin for summer feeding programs.

His current research areas include feeding systems and strategies for young calves, protected amino acid nutrition for lactating cows, mechanisms of action of bovine somatotropin on milk production, milk composition and reproductive performance, and interaction of extra dietary nutrients and somatotropin treatment on lactational performance.

Muller has been an active member of ADSA since 1964. He has been a member and chair of several important association committees, has served on the Production Division Council, and is currently serving on the ADSA Board of Directors. Muller also holds memberships in American Society of Animal Science, American Institute of Nutrition, American Forage and Grassland Council, Gamma Sigma Delta, Sigma Xi, and Dairy Shrine Club.

Lawrence Muller is author or coauthor of 65 papers in referred journals, 75 abstracts, one book and numerous articles in the popular press. He has been a popular speaker at nutrition conferences throughout the US and at various producer groups.

Muller received his B.S. degree from the University of Illinois in dairy science in 1964 and the M.S. in 1966. He earned the Ph.D. degree in animal science from Purdue University in 1969.

From 1969 to 1971, Muller was Assistant Professor of Animal Science at Purdue University. In 1971, he accepted a position of Assistant Professor in the Department of Dairy Science at South Dakota State University where he taught courses in dairy production and management and conducted research in dairy cattle nutrition and management. In 1976, he received the Outstanding Teacher Award in the College of Agriculture.

In 1976 he accepted the position of Associate Professor of Dairy Science at The Pennsylvania State University. He is responsible for courses in nutrition and management and for advising about 15 undergraduate students in addition to his research activities. He has advised 21 graduate students. Three of his students placed first or second in graduate paper presentations at professional meetings. For his teaching and advising activities, Muller received the Ralston Purina Teaching Award from ADSA in 1985 and the Outstanding Advisor Award of the ADSA student division in 1983.

MSD Agvet, the animal health division of Merck & Company, Inc., provides products, technology, and delivers systems to meet animal health and agricultural needs throughout the world. MSD Agvet has sponsored this award since its inception in 1986.

Hershey Named State Bush Chairman At Ag Progress

ROCK SPRINGS — At a press conference here at Ag Progress Days — just hours before Vice President George Bush received the Republican nomination for President. The announcement was made of the formation of "Farmers For Bush" chaired by state Representative Art Hershey of Chester County.

"Agriculture is the largest industry in Pennsylvania and the nation. Those of us in agribusiness found that under the last Democratic Administration we could not afford, because of high interest rates, to keep our farms after a poor growing season," Hershey said. "Now we have access to working capital to not only make a living but also expand. The paralyzing grain embargo of 1980 still haunts many farmers. We must ensure that hasty policy decisions that cripple our industry and our nation never happen again. Our choice for President is as clear as our choice for poverty or prosperity — our choice is George Bush.

"The farm community has always been the backbone of America. With our solid belief in God, Country, and Family, we have set a standard for our country's morals. We want a leader who shares those ideals — clearly George Bush is that leader.

"George Bush was the first candidate to recognize the problems facing agriculture. As Vice President he provides dedicated leadership and hope for continued success."

Broody Ewe Named E-Town's Supreme Champion Sheep

BY LISA RISSER

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — The judge considered Madeline, a yearling Shropshire ewe to be well balanced and broody, the very reasons Arlisa Snavely of Lancaster chose her. Arlisa's eye was good because Madeline was named the supreme champion sheep of the youth show.

The daughter of Jim and Arlene Snavely, 15-year-old Arlisa purchased the yearling from Wey Shropshires to add to her herd, which currently totals 20.

Madeline will become part of Arlisa's breeding stock and will be taken to compete in more fairs including Farm Show in January.

The show's grand champion market lamb went to Phil Yeagley. The 117-pound lamb was later sold at auction to Leroy Fox of Fox's Market in Middletown for $6 per pound.

Jane Endslow showed a 122-pound lamb that took the reserve grand champion market lamb spot. Willie the Butcher, represented by Tim Krieder placed the winning bid of $3.50 per pound for the animal.

New Holland Girl Shows Champion Hog At E-Town Fair

BY LISA RISSER

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — Laura Folker doesn't really know why she chose the Chester-Hampshire cross barrow to show at the fair, she just wanted him. It must have been fate because she and that hog went on to become the grand champion market hog at the Elizabethtown Fair this week.

The 232-pound hog was later sold to Hatfield Packing for $3.65 per pound or $846.80. Part of this money 16-year-old Laura has earmarked for the feed mill, but the remainder she hopes to use to fix up her '66 Ford Mustang, which will be painted scarlet red when finished.

Laura, the daughter of Tony and Edith Folker, has been showing hogs since she was eight years old. She is currently a member of the Grassland FFA Chapter, Gardenspot High School.

Gerald M. Boyd of Ephrata showed a 236-pound gilt that took reserve grand championship honors. The rambunctious hog, which livened up Thursday night's sale by escaping under the sale fence and rooting under the feet of the seated sale officials, brought a top bid of $3.05 from Ken Miller who was representing Leidey Packaging.

Boyd, 9, is the son of Kerry and Deb Boyd. He is a second year 4-H'er and the gilt is his first reserve grand champion.

Baity, Wood Capture Top Honors at Northeast Show

Lycoming Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — "What a surprise, I had no idea," said a bubbling Ann Lee Baity, Covington, who captured the grand champion trophy at the Northeast Pennsylvania Champion Show at Troy on August 17. Ann Lee and her father, Dean Baity, own the three-year-old grand champion Emma Dean Valiant Fresca ET.

Sired by S W D Valiant, Fresca's dam was Emma Dean Majesty Fondue. According to Ann Lee, Fondue placed second in the aged-cow class at the show this year and won first in her class at the show last year. Ann Lee is proud of the fact that she bred both the grand champion and her dam, Fondue.

At two-years and seven months, Ann Lee reported, Fresco produced 21,100 pounds of milk with a 3.9 percent of fat and 816 pounds of fat. Ann Lee owns eight cows and notes the grand champion is currently being housed by Leroy and Ida Jane Plance with their herd at Wellsboro.

The reserve grand champion trophy and the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners went to Gordon & Dorothy Wood of Gor Wood D Acres, Mansfield. The Woods' aged cow, Gor Wood D Creek Harriet, captured the reserve grand champion award this year as well as last at the show.

Sired by Creek Bluff Elevation Lester, Harriet's dam is Gor Wood Milu Beauty Huff Twin. According to Ron Wood, Harriet (EX 94), has won All-Pennsylvania or honorable mention on different occasions since she became a three year old. Currently, Harriet is producing 32,000 pounds of milk with 1200 pounds of fat.

Longtime veterans and winners in the showring, the Woods are currently milking 160 cows at their Mansfield farm and maintain a BAA of 109.

Winner of the junior champion trophy was Leroy Plance, Wellsboro, for showing his intermediate calf, L & J Marlin Maxine. Maxine's dam is a deep-pedigreed excellent Browndale Concord with a record as a three year old of 21,147 pounds of milk, 4.0 percent fat, and 836 pounds of fat. The intermediate calf was sired by Loc Lin Ma Elevation Marlin.

In addition to the junior champion prize, Plance took home the champion bull award. Plance milks 40 cows at his Wellsboro location.

The reserve junior champion trophy went to Lynn and Bonnie Miller, Towanda, for their senior yearling, Royal Haven Boutique. Sired by Straight Pine Elevation Pete, Boutique's dam is Royal Haven Bouquet ET. According to Bonnie, Boutique was first in her class at the state show this spring and was nominated All-American senior calf last year.

Seventeen-year-old Daniel Yule, Millville, son of Richard and Virginia Yule, won the youth grand champion prize for his senior two-year-old entry, Yule's Pride Warden Selma ET. Selma is out of a Canadian dam, C Maycrest Majesty Sally, and sired by Hilltopper Warden. According to Virginia Yule, Selma has been a 4-H project of Daniel's since she was a calf and has done well, having won the reserve junior champion award in the 4-H District Show in 1986 at Troy.

Daniel is a member of the junior holstein club and the Columbia County Dairy 4-H Club.

Twenty-one-year-old Jackie Sparling, daughter of Howard and Anne Lee Sparling, Mansfield, captured the youth reserve grand champion award by showing her four-year-old, Anne How Dairyman Annette. Annette was sired by Arlinda Car Dairyman and out of dam, Kendale Creek Aagie. Jackie, who won the Keystone Farmer award in 1986 presently owns 22 cows and hopes to eventually start a farm of her own. She is a member of the Mansfield Chapter of FFA and has been showing cattle for several years.

One hundred sixty Holsteins were registered at the fifteenth annual Northeast Pennsylvania Champion Show which made it one of the largest on record.

Other than the number and fine quality of Holsteins exhibited, the show will be remembered for another reason. Shortly after the show as exhibitors were gathering up their cattle to leave, a severe thunderstorm with high winds struck the fairgrounds. Toppled by tornado-like gusts of wind were a giant oak and another huge tree located a few feet to the rear of the newly constructed show arena. Although the show arena was spared, the huge oak crushed a nearby 20-by-30 FFA building. Large limbs torn loose by the storm littered the fairgrounds. Luckily, no one was injured.

Judge for the event was James Wright, Tully, NY. Dairy princesses helping with the show were: Tery Kizer, Tioga County; Georgette Kramer, Sullivan County; and Peggy Tome, Potter County.

30 YEARS AGO
THIS WEEK

-The tobacco harvest is in high gear on county farms this week with reports of very good tobacco from all parts of the county. Tobacco already in sheds is starting to cure well with no signs of damage from hot weather. Some farmers seem to think that cool nights have helped. Reports from many parts of the county indicate that the tobacco is generally of good size and quality.

Farmers reported most of the other major crops in the county are growing and maturing well this week.

-The 4-H Pig Clubs from Lancaster and Lebanon Counties staged their 18th annual roundup and sale at the Lancaster Union Stockyards on Wednesday.

A 220 pound Yorkshire pig shown by John Barley, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Barley of Washington Boro, RD1, was named grand champion. Barley will be an eighth grader at Penn Manor High School next month. -The price of $1.16 cwt. was paid by Kunzler and Co.

Harold Smith, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Smith, Lebanon Valley Farms, Annville R1, had the reserve champion, a 195 pound Hampshire. Weiland Packing Co., Phoenixville, paid 51 cwt. for it.

William Maule, Quarryville R2 had the champion group of ten. Their total weight was 2065 pounds. Kunzler and Co. was the buyer at 27.50 per pound.

Robert Groff of Peach Bottom had the reserve champion group of ten weighing a total of 2455 pounds. They brought 26.50 cents per pound from J. Lloyd Hollinger of Lancaster.

Barley Replaces Unangst As Ag Republican Chairman

PINE GROVE MILLS — Pennsylvania Ag Republicans head into the fall elections with a new chairman and a challenge to help elect the full ticket from presidential candidate George Bush and U.S. Senator John Heinz to G.O.P. state representatives.

John Barley of Conestoga, a Lancaster County cattle feeder and state representative, made the challenge here last week upon winning the Ag Republicans chairmanship. He replaced Don Unangst of Greenville, who stepped down earlier this summer after being named state director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

No changes were made in other Ag Republican offices. Ernie Miller, Hamburg, remains as vice chairman; Ed Nehrig, Homer City, as treasurer; and Carolyn Rutter, Dover, as secretary.

"Farmer support is critical to win control of the state senate and house of representatives," Barley said in calling for more participation by farmers.

In the state senate, he noted, party control could be decided in the tight 27th senatorial district race where senate ag committee chairman Edward Helfrick, R. Elysbury, Northumberland County, is running against State Representative John Showers, D, New Berlin, Union County.

In the state house, Barley explained, Democrats held a 103-100 margin at the start of the current session.

"A switch of two seats will give Republicans control," he pointed out.

Northwest — Beverly Snyder, Emlenton, Venango County, phone: 412/867-2472; Southwest — Jeff McConnell, Volant, Lawrence County, phone: 412/533-2175; Southwest Central — Joe Johns, Davidsville, Somerset County, phone: 814/479-4805; North Central — Charles Benner, Middleburg, Snyder County, phone: 717/539-8389; Southeast Central — Glenn Wengert, Myerstown, Lebanon County, phone: 717/866-6678; Northeast — Dan Naylor, Factoryville, Lackawanna County, phone: 717/945-9303; Southeast — Richard Solly, Ivyland, Bucks County, phone: 215/322-4370.

-On Thursday of last week, pretty Mary Jane Hill was runner-up in the County 4-H Posture Queen Contest. On Friday she was runner-up no longer but a queen in her own right. At York she was crowned Peach Dessert Queen of Pennsylvania for her Peach Crisp pie which she made in front of the judges from an original recipe. In winning the title she defeated contestants from Adams, Lehigh and York Counties.

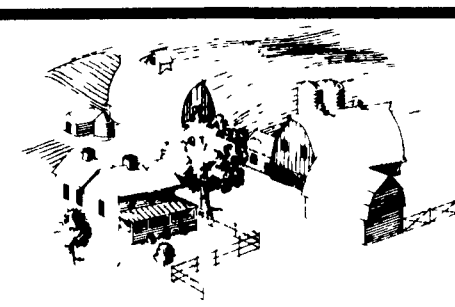
Open House At Bicksler Farm

A new $625,000 CHORE-TIME layer facility was on display at an open house on the farm of John and Doris Bicksler at Bethel Wednesday. The 108,864 bird Dura Cage house features a modern computer controlled feeding system and variable egg gathering speeds to accomodate the packing crew without the need to stop individual belt collectors.

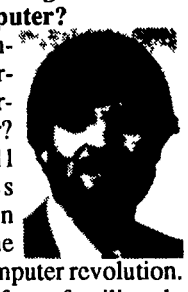
The 55'x532' chicken house with a 40'x44' egg and cooler room was built by King Construction, New Holland. The equipment and supervision of the project was provided by Northeast Agri Systems, Inc., Lititz.

On hand to greet the nearly 500 poultrymen who attended the open house were (l to r) Mark Kleinsmith, sales mgr. Chore-Time; Larry Horst, salesman, Northeast Agri Systems; Richard Gentry, Chore-Time representative; Elmer King, owner, King Construction; Wally Newman, marketing mgr., Chore-Time; John and Doris Bicksler, farm owners; James Evans, president, Chore-Time; Howard Brembeck, chairman of board and founder of Chore-Time; Dave Newman, vice president, Northeast Agri Systems and Samuel Smucker, building foreman, King Construction.



FARM MANAGEMENT

Considering A Computer?



Are you considering the purchase of a personal computer? Virtually all farm families have been touched by the impact of the computer revolution. Although most farm families do not own computers, most do access computers through the services they hire: accountants, nutritionists, consultants, and DHIA, to name a few.

As I travel through Lebanon, Dauphin and Berks Counties, I find an increasing number of farm families who own and use computers to support decision making in their businesses. Breeding livestock histories, field records, enterprise accounting, and quick ration balancing all have helped farmers make good decisions. However, some of these families have not gained much from the purchase of a computer. Computer games and easier typing do not contribute much to the bottom line.

The profitable use of a computer depends on three elements: 1. the user, 2. useful software that meet farm families' needs and 3. a compatible computer that will run the desired software. Let's look at each of these elements in some detail.

1. The User - Farmers who have benefitted from computer use share several characteristics.

* They are committed to the management of their farm business.
* They keep records in order to use them to make decisions.
* They are willing to commit time to use the computer. Computers seldom save time, but can make your time more productive.
* Most importantly, satisfied computer users have identified several tasks that they want the computer to do.
* They buy computers because they have tasks for it to do, not because they think a computer purchase is the thing to do.
* They buy a computer if it will do the task better than available services or doing it by hand.

2. Useful Software - This is the critical area. Can you find computer programs (software) that will perform the tasks that you have

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder can free you from your chains

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house Year after year

TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel, their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life

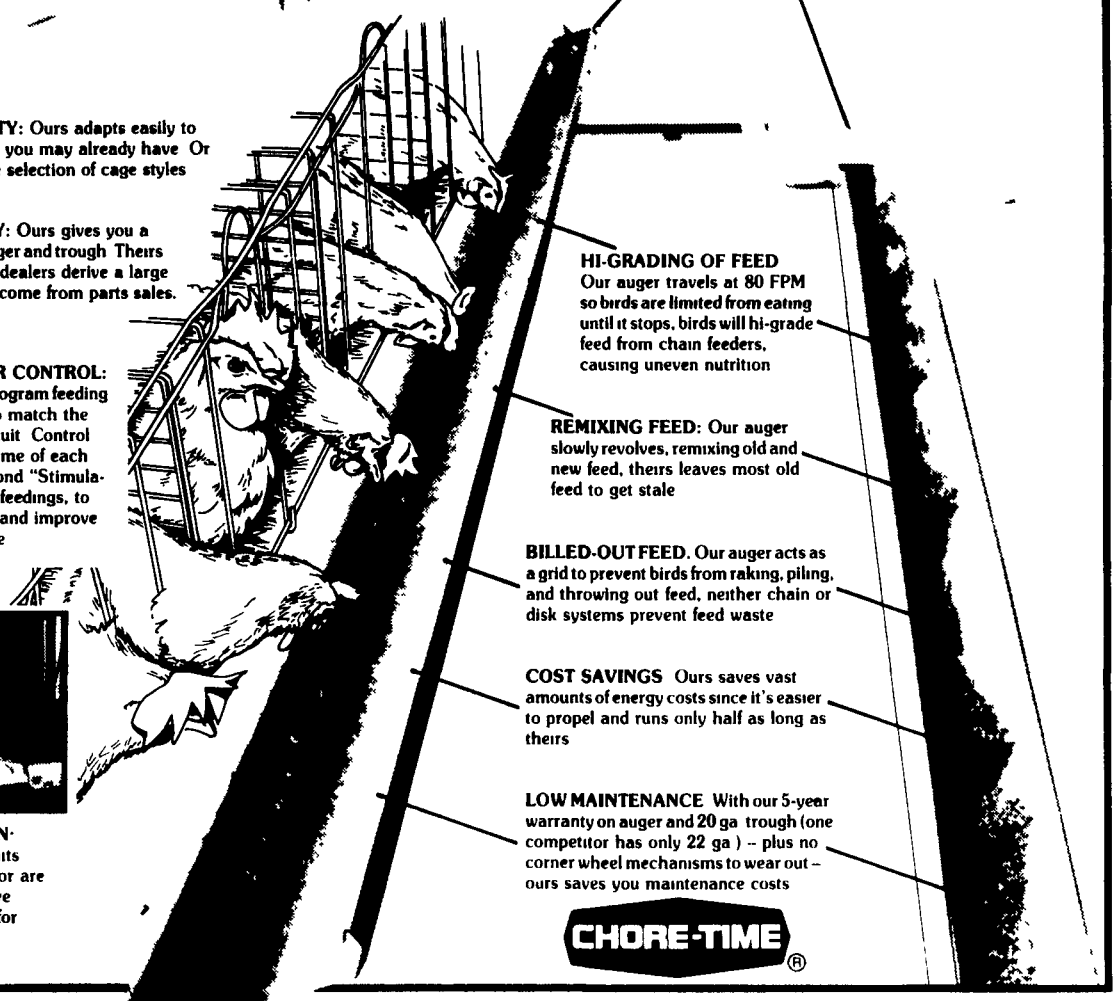
PROVEN DESIGN Over 10 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction

EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough Theirs doesn't In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales. Ours don't

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake

SIMPLE OPERATION "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation



HI-GRADING OF FEED Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops, birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed, theirs leaves most old feed to get stale

BILLED-OUT FEED. Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed, neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste

COST SAVINGS Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs

LOW MAINTENANCE With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga trough (one competitor has only 22 ga) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs

McCauley Wins Top Dairy Spot At E-Town Fair For Fifth Time

BY PAT PURCELL

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — For the fifth year in Elizabethtown Fair history, Tom McCauley has captured the title of supreme dairy champion. This year he took the title with his seven-year-old Sexation daughter, Queen Star Sexy.

Last year's winner, Metcalfs Valiant Beauty ET, set a precedent by being the first dry cow to be named the supreme dairy animal.

Creedin Cornman, this year's show judge, is accustomed to the dairy arena, but in a different capacity, showing not judging. Cornman Holsteins have already picked up several championships early in the show season. He was impressed with quality of animals shown at Elizabethtown and feels they will do well against some stiff competition in upcoming events.

Tom McCauley's Sexy and Justin Howes' Legacy Sexation Percy made judging difficult for Cornman in the Holstein aged cow class.

"We have a tremendous pair of cows here," said Cornman. "Two very close cows. They both have a lot of angularity and openness of rib."

He favored the more balanced udder on the seven-year-old, but praised Howes on his outstanding showmanship ability and the impressive characteristics of all the animals he exhibited.

Howes is the 10-year-old son of Jay and Sue Howes of Elizabethtown.

A lot of time and hard work by Heather Becker and a great teacher and friend, David Harnish, according to her mother, Pattie, paid off big for Becker at the dairy show. The Ayrshires of Narvon Valley Farm swept the junior and grand championships: a first for Becker. Harnish, a former Lancaster County 4-H leader and retired dairy farmer, devotes much of his time to working with Becker and several other 4-H'ers to help them improve their animal-raising skills and showmanship. Becker was pleased with her collection of trophies, but admitted without Harnish's advice and help she probably wouldn't have won.

Two newcomers to Pennsylvania, but not to the showring, dominated the Guernsey show. David and Mae Henisee moved from Medford, N.J. to Elizabethtown a little more than a year ago. Their children, John, Heather, David and Jason began their 4-H career in New Jersey, but are pleased with active dairy competitions in Pennsylvania. Four-H activities had come to a stop in their former home state.

"Farming and dairying is a lot bigger in Pennsylvania and that's great, especially when you want to stay in the business," said John.

Area Resident Named Fellow In International Society

LEESPORT (Berks) — The Soil and Water Conservation Society selected a New Cumberland resident as a recipient of the Fellow Award of 1988. Vernal C. Miles of 16th Street was one of eight persons nationwide selected for this award.

The Fellow Award is the highest honor that SWCS presents to its members. The award is given for professional excellence and service to the Society.

Miles is retired from the USDA Soil Conservation Service where his last position was woodland specialist. He presently serves as part-time director of the Pennsylvania Land Improvement Contractors Association. He served 39 years with SCS and has been with PLICA for 14 years.

He was recognized for his contributions to soil and water conservation throughout his career. Miles joined SCS when the agency was created in the 1930s. He has long been active in advocating and motivating employees, coworkers, contractors and landowners to put conservation on the land.

He was a farm planner early on in his career in the Blacklick Watershed Project in Indiana County, Pennsylvania. This was the first soil conservation project in Pennsylvania.

Later he served as a work unit conservationist and as an area conservationist, both in Coudersport. He retired from his state woodland specialist position in 1973. Miles is a 1935 graduate of the Pennsylvania State College with a BS in forestry.

The Soil and Water Conservation Society is an international professional organization and the fellow award was presented to Miles at their annual convention in Columbus, Ohio.

Egg Producers?

Wenger reiterated several times.

He mentioned that Europe, Australia and Canada have production control. If America adopted a similar plan there would be a set quota on what is produced. In response to consumer demand only the amount of eggs that consumers demand would be allowed on the market.

To solve the problem, Wenger forsees the need for production controls to be administrated by a board and supported by a national check-off similar to the dairy industry's program. A certain percentage of the checkoff dollars would be spent on •research for health and nutrition.

•research new ways to use eggs

Wenger admits many of these ideas were brought up before and failed. He said, "They failed for several reasons: lousy communication, poor planning and bad timing. It's time to take another look."

Since opposition to the former proposal happened in the northeastern states, Wenger said, "The impetus to get started must come from Mid Atlantic region specifically Pennsylvania. If we wish to do something, we must start here with producers. I'm trying to see if we can do something to change our destiny." He added, producers are fiercly independent and that a marketing program would take a long term effort and will not be inexpensive.

"The world is waiting," he challenged." We can decide what we want to do. It's up to us to tell them."

The audience questioned how new entries would be handled in the marketing program conceptualized by Wenger. He responded, "Are new producers our problem?" The audience was silent until one person called out, "Nobody in his right mind would built a chicken house today."

Wenger replied, "We must increase our market. That's where our answer lies."

An audience member remarked that the dairy industry is regulated and classified and if it has surplus producers get less. If the egg industry would pattern their program after this, marketing orders would probably involve a two tier pricing system based on the quality of eggs with the lower class going to breakage or exporting. But Wenger argued that eggs produced over quota that would go to a secondary market need not pay lower. "Companies all over the world prefer American eggs. The dollar drop caused us to loose the market." He inferred that changes were possible in the export business to recapture that loss.

Wenger told the audience that their group was large enough to change the egg industry. "Are you willing to put forth the effort? Do you want to do it?"

When egg producers brought up the difficulties for getting such measures passed, Wenger countered, "Can we have control of the marketing program without checkoff?" He said, "It's up to us to put together a program worth our while and the money to do it."

Other topics discussed at the meeting on taking control of your egg industry included:

•The way I see it— viewpoints of two egg producers, Paul Wolgemuth, Jr. of Elizabethtown and Ted Esbenshade, Mount Joy; who said the bad times have had some positive effects on the industry by making making producers watch costs and birds more closely and equipment and quality.

•Why have egg prices gone sour? Dr. Milt Madison, agricultural economist from Penn State, illustrated his talk with charts and graphs that showed how elasticity along with suppply and demand causes peaks and valleys in the egg market.

Lebanon Holstein Sale Has $1600 Top

LEBANON—The Lebanon County holstein sale here Thursday evening had prices holding throughout the evening. The top of the sale was Henket Bell Paula from Amos Balsbaugh Jr., Lebanon. This Bell daughter from a Rag Apple dam with three records to over 25,000 lbs. of milk sold to Phares Z. Musser for $1600. Musser who is the Lebanon County Holstein Assn. president also bought the third high selling consignmemt. At $1500 was Plushanski Fred Clairssa, the bred heifer that carries Hilltop Apollo Ivanhoe on both side of the pedgree from Plushanski Farms Inc., Kutztown.

The second high price of $1550 was paid for Arnold-Acres Basic Loyal-Twin the Good Plus heifer with a two-year- old record of 22,372 lbs. milk, 789 lbs. fat. This Marlu Basic daughter was consigned by Arnold Acres, Inc., Lebanon and purchased by Carl Brandt, Hershey.

In all, 64 head consisting of 13 milking animals, 36 bred heifers and 15 open heifers down to three-month-old calves averaged $1034. Dale Hoover, pedigrees, said the sale was not quite as good as last year but about what was expected in light of the present farm economic conditions.

Harvey Bomgardner and Connie Hoffer served as sale chairpersons. Harry Bachman was the auctioneer.

Rural Electric Co-op Supports 4-H Beef

BY BETH GRAY
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD — The Bedford Rural Electric Cooperative wrote checks totaling more than $538 to 39 young exhibitors of steers at the Bedford County Fair. The co-op annually pays three cents for each pound gained by one market steer per exhibitor between a weigh date in January and the opening of the Fair in August.

Ty Jay of Artemas RD 1 packed 660 lbs. on his entry during the seven months, topping the list of gainers. But he was ineligble for the top prize since his steer was selected grand champion of the show.

A cousin, Ryan Jay of Artemas RD 1, thus moved into the number one position as his steer gained 658 lbs. Young's Minerals of Roaring Spring rewarded him with a $50 prize while the co-op paid him nearly $20.

Young's awarded a $25 second prize to Cathy Furlong of Alum Bank RD 1 for feeding 570 lbs. onto her steer. Her co-op check was just over $17. Jon Taylor of Bedford ranked third, with 569 lbs. added, and picked up a $25 award from Morral Supply of Everett plus $17 from the cooperative.

Another thing that will help cut mastitis flare-ups in early lactation as well as help cows fight off infections, associated with calving and other stresses, is an adequate level of selenium and vitamin E. Our soils and feeds in the Northeast are deficient in selenium and stored feeds, especially silages, are low in vitamin E. Because dry cows consume less grain, the concentration of selenium and vitamin E needs to be greater in the dry cow mix than in a concentrate mix for lactating cows. Dry cows may also need injectable selenium to supplement what they consume in the ration.

All during the dry period cows should receive a few pounds of a properly formulated dry-cow grain mix so they get the vitamins and minerals they need; and so the rumen microorganisms and the lining of the digestive tract will be acclimated to handling heavier intakes of grain in early lactation. If non-protein-nitrogen (NPN) such as urea or ammonia, is to be fed to the lactating cows, be sure it is also in the dry cow and heifer ration 3-4 weeks before calving. To help prevent udder edema, avoid feeding excessive levels of salt.

To avoid getting dry cows too fat, restrict grain intake to about 3-5 pounds daily and corn silage to about one half of their total forage dry matter intake. Increase these rates if the cows need more flesh.

To reduce the risk of milk fever, restrict alfalfa intake to about one half of the total forage dry matter intake, and avoid excessive levels of calcium in the grain mix.

To help reduce displaced abomasums (twisted stomachs) and ketosis be sure dry cows are consuming lots of forage. Ideally, 60% or more of the ration dry matter should be forage, some of which should be dry, long-stemmed forage such as hay. This will encourage good rumination, help develop good muscle tone in the rumen, stimulate good microbial activity and help pave the way for maximum dry matter intake after calving.

About 2-3 weeks before calving start acclimating dry cows - and heifers - to higher levels of grain intake and gradually introduce them to the kinds of feeds they'll be receiving after calving, but remember you still want to keep the cows basically on a dry-cow ration so their nutrient intakes will remain approximately on target. In other words, don't make drastic substitutions especially with the concentrates; instead, you might continue with the dry ration and add a few pounds of the milking ration grain (forage or TMR). Limit grain intake to about 0.5% of their body weight (about 8-10 pounds) for a mature Holstein.

During and shortly after calving avoid switching rations. Keep feeding her at about the same rate for a few days before you start pushing more grain or switch to other feeds. During early lactation, your challenge is to maximize dry matter intake without throwing cows off-feed. The following ideas may help you accomplish this. There are many variations to these ideas that will work under different management systems; ultimately, you'll have to decide what is best for your particular situation.

Free early lactation cows high quality, highly digestible, properly balanced, energy-dense, palatable rations while being sure you always meet the cows' forage dry matter and fiber intake needs. Remember, you've got to keep the rumen healthy! Know how much forage cows are eating; weigh what is fed; deduct what is wasted or refused and calculate actual intakes, and correct it for moisture intake.

One way to get more energy into cows is to feed more grain, but not at the expense of meeting cows' minimum forage and fiber needs. Another way is to add fats and oils to the ration, but limit total intake to about 1 pound per day; that's equivalent to about 5 pounds of soybeans or cottonseed. In some cases, these levels may be increased slightly, especially if some of the fat is "protected" so it bypasses the rumen. Remember excessive amounts of fat can decrease microbial digestion of fiber in the rumen and that can be a serious problem. It can also cause off-flavored milk and tie up some of the minerals; mineral levels need to be increased accordingly.

Higher rates of grain can be tolerated: if forages are fed before grain to stimulate saliva production - saliva is a good buffer, if buffers are included in the ration at high-enough levels, if grain is fed at more frequent intervals, or if total mixed rations are used.

If total mixed rations are used - more dairymen should benefit from using them, whether they have tie stalls or free stalls - many dairymen prefer to put fresh cows in the high group. Initially, because their appetites are less, fresh cows consume less TMR. That automatically reduces grain intake, which is good soon after calving. Starting fresh cows in the high group reduces the stress of switching them from a lower group to a higher group at a time when you want them to climb towards peak production. In a tie stall barn, ration switches could be made without the social stress of changing cows from one group to another. Good topdressing techniques could also help smooth the transition from a dry cow ration to a high-group ration, or from a low-group ration to a high-group ration.

Remember, the trick is to have cows calve in good flesh, with minimal stress, free from infections, ready to eat and to work; and to maintain their flesh, appetite and health so they can produce and reproduce well. That requires good feed, well-formulated rations, precision feeding techniques, a keen eye and timely attention to details. There is no short cut if you want high levels of profitable production.

The level of production that is most profitable will vary from farm to farm, and it'll vary as the price of milk changes relative to the cost of production. You may have to decide what level is comfortable and adaptable to your situation and the level you can and care to manage.

The crowd at the Lancaster County Holstein Field Day listen to the placing reason given by judge Ron Buffington on the cow class.

Lancaster Holstein Field Day At Lapps

GAP (Lancaster)—Beside the farm pond in the modern dairy barns of the Tom Lapp family dairy farm east of here, about 200 members of the Lancaster County Holstein Assn. met for their annual field day. A judging contest, a buffet supper and a gospel singing group were included in the evening's activities.

In the judging contest the womem took the top honors. Evelyn Glick had a perfece score of 150 points. Evie Landis was second with 141 points and Barbara Brubaker had 132 points.

In the men's division Vernon Umble had 134 points, Raleigh Rhodes had 129 points and Carl Martin had 128 points.

Du Wayne Martin had the top youth score with 127 points, Paul Harnish had 122 points and Marvin Landis had 121 points.

Ron Buffington from Ohio was the official judge and called attention to Lapp's 91 point excellent Marvex daughter as a favorite of the herd. "When you have an excellent cow like this that looks like she could go 94 or 95 points sometine and she isn't halter broke, you know your are on to something," he said.

The Lapp's farm 120 acres with mostly family help. Ed Yoder helps in the busy seasons. The herd average on 65 milking cows is 21,214 milk, 748 fat with a BAA of 104.

Clifford Blank served as committee chairman along with Nelson Wenger, Lowel Brubaker and Don Risser.

Penn Gate Wins Premier Banners At Southcentral Show

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Franklin) — Two well-known southcentral breeders garnered top honors at the Southcentral Championship Show August 15 at the Shippensburg Fairgrounds.

A dam and daughter pair owned by James and Nina Burdette of Mercersburg was named senior and grand champion and junior champion of the open show. Windy Knoll View Ultimate Pala and her daughter, Windy Knoll View Valiant Paola, also won the Dame & Daughter class.

Pala, a Quality Ultimate daughter, was also named best bred and owned of the show. She is a three year old who is currently milking one hundred pounds. She was reserve grand champion of the Southcentral Championship show in 1987 and an All-Pennsylvania junior two year old that year. In 1986, she was an ALl-Pennsylvania junior yearling.

Pala's daughter, the Junior Champion, is a summer yearling heifer. A Valiant daughter, she was first in her class at the Pennsylvania Soring Holstein Show.

Penn Gate Farms, Littlestown, was named premier breeder and exhibitor for the second year in a row. Steve and Chris Wood operated the 200-acre farm in partnership with Chris's father, Robert Gitt. They milk seventy cows. Penn Gate took top honors in the junior best three class and showed the reserve junior champion. Penn Gate Melrose Tinker, a Melvin daughter, was top junior yearling heifer and reserve junior champion of the open show.

Lockway Hollow Sexation, an Ocean-View Sexation daughter, took home reserve senior and reserve grand champion honors. A four year old owned by C. Richard and Georgianna Locke, Mercersburg, she was grand champion at the State Show in March. She is classified 87 points and is projected to produce 21,000 pounds of milk. She was also a member of the first place best three females group.

Youth senior and grand champion was a five year old Valiant daughter owned by Thomas McCauley of Lancaster County, Metcalfs Valiant Beauty-ET.

Youth reserve senior and reserve grand champion honors went to William A. Hall of Shippensburg with his three year old. Hall-A-Way Reba is a Marla Basic daughter.

Neil Bowen, Wildmoor Farm, Wellsboro, served as judge. "This was an exceptionally good quality show," he said. "Quality ran deep in most classes. It was a strong championship show." Bowen farms in partnership with his father and milks 56 cows.

George Cashell, St. Thomas, was show chairman. Tom Dum, Elliotsburg, served as ring man.

A highlight of the show was the presentation of the Paul D. Eckstine Memorial Trophy for the Best Three Females. Eckstine, who died August 9, 1987, had served as show chairman for the championship shows and for numerous other Holstein shows. The award is a revolving one; the winner will keep it for one year and then return it to be presented again at the next show. Each winner will retain a plaque in recognition of his accomplishment. This year, the trophy was won by Lockway Farm, Mercersburg.

There were 200 entries. Class placings were:

Penn State Researchers Focus On Nitrates and Water Quality

BY PAT PURCELL

ROCK SPRINGS (Centre) — "Agricultural production has grown more in the last 40 years than in the previous 2,000 years. That kind of growth is bound to cause some incompatibilities," said Dr. Dale E. Baker, Penn State University Professor of Soil Chemistry to those attending the water quality tour as part of Ag Progress days last week..

The water quality tour showcased the efforts of Penn State researchers to study the effects of farming practices on ground water and surface water. Pesticide, herbicide, sludge and sewage application on agricultural lands creates conditions which are not only incompatible with human life, but sometimes, if left unchecked, threatening to human life.

The application of sewage sludge on farm land became a popular practice beginning in the 1970's and spawned a need to study the effects of cadmium, nickel, lead, chromium and other waste products entering into the food chain. Ten to fifteen farms in a certain area of the Commonwealth have been contaminated by heavy metal buildup whihch has rendered the soil no longer suitable for agriculture.

At the time spreading sludge was beginning there were many questions, but few answers. No one knew what the sludge would do to the soil because no soil test available to measure these metals. For those 15 farms in the state the current monitoring method came too late.

Dr. Baker began studying effects of sludge application 15 years ago by establishing test plots. Out of his work came the Baker soil test which has become the standard in Pennsylvania for monitoring these metals. The problem with such metals in wastes being applied to farm land is that can introduces toxicity into the food chain and at certain levels of concentration actually contaminate farm land and prevent future agricultural use. The Baker soil test was developed to detect these possibly toxic metals.

The only threat to humans or animal life from heavy metals comes from the food chain and not through water contamination. Managing wastes properly is difficult. The build up of metals to toxic levels cannot be seen in the soil and even more critical is that it cannot be seen in human organs.

Sludge and resulting residue of heavy metals is only part of the total pollution picture. What is sprayed onto crops or injected into the soil can threaten human and animal life while it aids the farmer.

According to J. K. Hall, Dept. of Agronomy, pesticides and herbicides find their way into our groundwater and streams in two ways. Chemicals can be transported through the soils by the percolation process known as leaching or by surface runoff. In both instances the chemicals are transported by water.

While pesticides are formulated to degrade to organic products such as carbon dioxide, water and nutrients, rainfall may transport the harmful chemical compounds before they have degraded into unthreatening natural elements.

Contamination of ground water and surface water was studied on no-till and conventional-tilled plots. Although there was less surface run-off on the no-till plots there was increased amounts of chemicals leached thorugh the soil on the no-till plots. While the no-till process drastically cuts soil loss to runoff, as the soil is retained so is the concentration of chemicals retained for a longer time. This extended period of time creates more opportunity for leaching.

Nitrate Leaching In Pennsylvania Corn Fields

The actual nitrate pollution from farming practices in the state is difficult to establish because it is difficult to measure. Penn State researchers presently use deep core soil samples to estimate nitrate leaching amounts, but it falls short in detecting losses due to denitrification and tells little about leaching between samples.

On a heavily manured field in Lancaster County, researchers found that more than 200 kilograms of nitrate disappeared over winter, but they could not establish what amounts were leached or denitrified.

Researchers are also studying the level of nitrate leaching from fields when the recommended amounts of commercial fertilizer is applied. According to their findings, for seven experiments the nitrate leaching amount in response to the recommended application rates was 23 mg/l. The public health standard for drinking water recommends levels should not be above 10 mg/l.

However, some surprising results from studies done in Europe have shown that there may actually be more leaching in 'optimally fertilized, manure fields than in fields receiving only inorganic nitrogen fertilizer'. Most of the leaching in these fields occurs in the fall and in the spring when the corn crop is not taking up the nitrogen.

The problem for researchers is that conventional lysimeters cannot measure nitrate levels in some Pennsylvania soils because of large cracks and channels indigenous to certain areas. Instead, researchers are using pan lysimeters which are placed in the ground below the root area to gain a more accurate estimate of leaching losses, but this is not extremely accurate.

During the winter of 1987, 18 pans were placed in the reserach plots. Some plots were treated with liquid dairy manure, or no manure, potassium bromide. Soil and plant samples are taken weekly. If the information can be verified through other nitrogen-testing models then this process will be used to estimate nitrate leaching losses from corn fields throughout Pennsylvania.

Until an accurate and reliable nitrogen testing process can be developed and made accessible to researchers as well as farmers it will be quite difficult to determine the amount of nitrogen leaching from fields and it will be equally as difficult what optimum nitrogen applications are.

Trends In Fluid Milk Consumption

BY BLAIR J. SMITH
PSU, Ag Economics

The Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board in cooperation with Penn State University obtains, for the month of October in each odd-numbered year, sales of fluid milk products in Pennsylvania by type of outlet, type of container, size of container, and type of product. The first such survey was conducted in 1957 and the most recent in 1987, providing data for the 30 year trends highlighted below:

Trend variable	Percent of total sales
Type of outlet:
Home delivery	54.4	2.4
Stores	29.9	82.5
Other*	15.7	15.1
Type of container:
Glass	55.8	0.6
Paper	41.3	49.4
Plastic	0	46.8
Size of container:
Half-pints	8.2	9.4
Quarts	66.5	6.9
Half-gallons	20.4	29.5
Gallons	0.1	48.0
Type of product:
Whole milk	83.9	52.7
Lowfat milk	1.8 (1961)	31.1
Skimmilk	2.5 (1959)	7.6
Flavored milk	3.3 (1959)	7.5

*Includes schools, restaurants, institutions, and the like.

The dramatice changes in the four trend variables are self-evident. In 1957 the retail side of the dairy industry was characteristically composed of whole milk delivered to the home in glass quart bottles. In 1987 whole milk was still the dominant type of product (although being rapidly replaced by lowfat milk), but it is now largely purchased in stores in paper and plastic gallons.

With respect to type of outlet, sales through "other" outlets have remained almost unchanged over the 30 year period. This should be particularly alarming to the dairy industry as everyone knows of the tremendous increase in the number of meals eaten outside the home in recent years.

Neither skim nor flavored milk has caught on in any big way in Pennsylvania, but the message from consumers is clear enough -- lowfat milk is increasingly the product of choice at the expense of whole milk. Nevertheless, whole milk sales remain strong and are likely to be a very important share of the market for a long time to come.

Berks County Holstein Picnic

KUTZTOWN (Berks) — The Berks County Holstein Club held their annual picnic on Friday, August 5, 1988 at the DJSP Schuler Farm near Kutztown. A large crowd turned out for an evening of fellowship, judging and food.

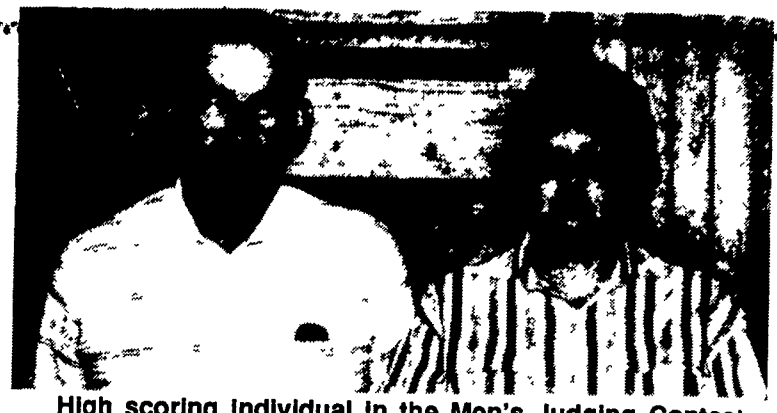
The evening began with a judging contest of three different classes and was officiated by Donald Hostetter of Chester County. Winners of the contest were as follows: Youth Division- 1. Jeff Davis, 2. Lynette Heffner, 3. Gary Bicksler, 4. Andrew Bicksler, 5. Duane Stump, 6. Duane Stoltzfus, 7. Erica Davis, 8. John Bicksler. Ladies Division- 1. Jane Krick, 2. Mary Jane Stoltzfus, 3. Debbie Grube, 4. Beth Rohrbach, 5. Robin Miller, 6. Darlene Younker, 7. Phoebe Bitler, 8. Joanne Kunkel. Men's Division- 1. Harvey Stoltzfus, 2. Luther Davis, 3. John Stump, 4. Ray Davis, 5. Don Meyer, 6. Ray Bicksler, 7. Burd Schantz, 8. Ken Sanner.

Following a buffet supper, the County Sale Representative and the Berks County Dairy Princess, Tammy Balthaser each gave reports. The featured speaker for the evening was the State Holstein President, Jay Landis from Lancaster. His comments included some of the goals of the Holstein Association in the light of current agricultural and economic trends and concerns.

The following businesses were the gracious sponsors of the judging prizes for the event: Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Sire Power Inc., Longacre's Electrical Service, Leesport Agway, Albright's Mill, F.M. Brown's Sons Inc., Huber's Animal Supply, K&K Feeds, Anthony's Feeds, Farm Bureau, Oley Valley Feed, Shartlesville Farm Equipment, Agri-Service (John Gish), Agri-King, Fisher & Thompson Milking Equipment. The Berks County Holstein Club also presented the top three individuals in each division with a Berks County Holstein Club T-shirt.

Featured speaker at the Berks County Holstein Picnic was the Pennsylvania Holstein Association State President, Jay Landis from Lancaster.

Site of the Berks County Holstein Club Picnic was the S-Pine Lawn Farm operated by DJSP Schuler near Kutztown.



High scoring individual in the Men's Judging Contest was Harvey Stoltzfus of Morgantown. High scorer in the Ladies Contest was Jane Krick.

Ride-A-Thon Sponsored By Maryland March Of Dimes

HAVRE DE GRACE, MD — The Maryland March of Dimes is sponsoring a Ride-A-Thon on Saturday, September 17. Riders will meet Steppingstone Musuem at 10:00 a.m. and begin their ride at noon through the Susquehanna State Park in Maryland.

There will be food, free sodas and lemonade, and free T-shirts to the first 50 entrants. The day will include crafts and dancing exhibitions by American Indians and visits from the 5th U.S. Calvary Memorial Regiment, local television and radio personalities, the 1988 Poster Child, and Havre de Grace Mayor, David Craig.

Sponsor sheets are available from Sandy, 301/272-2208, or Joy, 301/879-0157. A $5 donation is requested.

Directions to the museum are: Leave I-95 at exit 89 (Havre de Grace) onto Route 155 toward Bel Air. After a quarter mile, turn right onto Earlton Road and follow for half a mile. Turn left at Quaker Bottom Road and follow this road to the museum entrance and parking lot, about one mile.

Stylish Steer Takes E-Town's Top Beef Title

BY LISA RISSER

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — Deb Wolgemuth's stylish steer, Henry, had what it takes to win as he swept the Elizabethtown Fair beef competition to be named the grand champion of the event.

Henry and Deb went on to compete in the Supreme Animal Contest on Thursday night where the judges called him a fine example of a meat animal. Deb, the 15-year-old daughter of John and Thelma Wolgemuth of Mount Joy, has been in 4-H for 5 years. She purchased the 1,200-pound Angus-Chianina cross at the Keystone International Livestock Exhibition.

In the reserve grand champion spot was the 1,220-pound market steer shown by Greg Harnish. Harnish's steer also was the top in his Steers for Sale class. Mike Firestine and Sean McKinney, representing Lebanon Valley National Bank, put in the top bid of $1 per pound for the steer.

In an exciting turn of events, the reserve champion market steer, shown by Doug Musser, was sold for $1.06 per pound to John Groff, representing Groff Meats.

Drivers License Waiver Expected For Farmers

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Department of Transportation (DOT) is expected to grant a waiver to farmers exempting them from the new commercial driver's license (CDL) requirement that goes into effect this summer.

The announcement of the farm waiver was delayed after some parties questioned whether such an exemption would extend to large food corporations that operate farms and large trucks.

"DOT is worried that these big companies that grow and process food will take advantage of any exemption given farmers," said a transportation official at USDA.

Possible solutions include a stipulation that the waiver does not extend to companies that grow and process food.

Transportation officials doubt DOT will grant a blanket waiver for farmers. More likely, they say, the waiver will be based on some radius of a farm where farm trucks normally operate. Another possibility is a waiver based on total miles driven.

"I don't think they'll base the exemption on mileage," said Bill Dunton of USDA's Office of Transportation.

The CDL requirement will extend to all trucks weighing more than 26,000 pounds, to vehicles carrying more than 16 passengers and to vehicles that transport hazardous materials that require a placard.

Under the licensing rules, drivers would have to be given a written test and a driving test in the type of vehicle they will be driving. Drivers would be checked for driving violations and suspensions, and a driver could hold only one license. The states would administer the program under federal guidelines. States that failed to enforce the CDL would lose part of their federal highway funds.

Groups seeking waivers are farmers, volunteer firemen, active duty military personnel and employees of public utilities.

States have the option to "grandfather" selected operators who have good driving records.

District Eastern Shore Champion Holstein Show

BY SUE CROW
Maryland Correspondent

CENTREVILLE, Md. — The District Show for Cecil, Kent, Queen Annes, Caroline and the other Eastern Shore counties was held in Queen Anne's County 4-H Park in Centreville. The sweltering heat which accompanied the county fair the week before had finally subsided and it was an enjoyable day in the show pavilion.

For the Skinner family it was a day to celebrate as they captured the laurels for both the open and 4-H classes. Brother and sister J.R. and Dawn were in the ring together for the final placings. Dr. James McCaffree; from Galantry Holsteins, Delta, Pa. had the task of judging the animals. Dawn's senior calf, Donside Dudley Angela, took the junior champion ribbon in both open and 4-H. The junior yearling, Chestnuts Valiant Jasmine, owned by Paige Davis came home with the reserve spot for both shows.

J.R 's junior 2-year-old took the senior and grand champion rosette for the 4-H show. Donside Shirly also took the reserve senior and reserve grand champion trophy for the Open Show. The senior 3-year-old from Pintail Point took the honors of senior and grand champion with Elvira Tony Evelyn-et.

In the fitting and showing classes there were some new faces. In the novice, first year showman, Katie Dixon took first place with Melinda Jackson placing second. In the juniors it was Charles Patterson taking the top spot and Greg Knutsen receiving first in the intermediate class. Paige Davis from Cecil County took home the top spot for the seniors and the champion of the ring in fitting and showmanship.

A complete listing of the placing for the open and 4-H shows follows:

identified for the computer? So, you want the computer to keep financial records for each enterprise, run a ration balancing program, keep field history records of sprays, fertilizer and liming, write business letters, and keep the church accounts in line. Which of these tasks is most important to you? Can you get software to do these tasks with the kind of flexibility to match your personal needs? Wise software selection includes the following:

* Time to experiment with the software before purchase.

* Names of other users of the software to use as references.

* Documentation - that is, thorough written instructions about the use and trouble-shooting of this software.

* Support - Someone that you can call with questions about the software and someone that will see that you get updates on the program as the authors make improvements.

In summary, just as you wouldn't buy a corn planter that you couldn't get spare parts for, why should you buy software that is not supported.

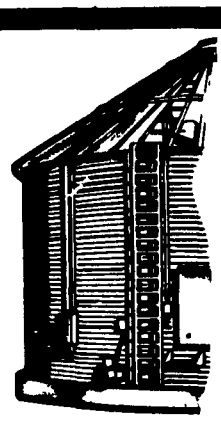
3. Compatible Computer - If you have done your homework up to this point, this third element can be easy. Buy the personal computer that runs the programs that meet your most pressing needs.

* Buy enough computer power to meet your needs. You probably will not need the top-of-the-line computer. However, you should get a computer that is expandable.

* As with machinery purchases, a reliable dealer is important in computer purchases. * Get a computer that is compatible with one of the three basic operating systems that have survived the personal computer wars. If the price is more than you are prepared to spend, could this task be done manually? Also, review the available consultants and services to see if they could provide the service more profitably.

If you choose to purchase a computer, you will need to learn a new language and many new skills to make it work for you. One support group to aid in this process is a computer user-group. In the three-county area I serve, we are looking to start an ag-users group to help farmers learn and share computer expertise. If an ag-users group is of interest to you, contact your local extension office to see if they know of a group in your area.

A computer purchase is a decision that should be entered into slowly, with much thought. Consider your time and interest as a user, find useful software and a compatible computer before you buy.



IT MAY BE CHEAPER BUT IS IT BETTER?

Buying grain storage on price alone can be quite dangerous. Some other brands of grain bins quote a low price and achieve it by selling you only part of a bin. BROCK offers you a complete grain bin at an honest price and includes the needed components that help the bin last longer, protect your stored grain right, and yield the best returns as your No. 1 grain marketing tool. Feature for feature, you get more for your money and more crop security with BROCK. So why settle for only half a bin?

"DISEASE WAS EATING MY EARLY WHEAT ALIVE.

P.L. ROHRER & BRO., INC. HELPED ME FIGHT BACK WITH TWAIN."

The best way to win the battle against disease is to plant a winner like Twain. Twain's an early maturing soft red winter wheat that offers excellent protection against viral and soil borne diseases, plus very good protection against foliar disease. And Twain's a big winner in yield, too. This season, fight back and win. See us for details.

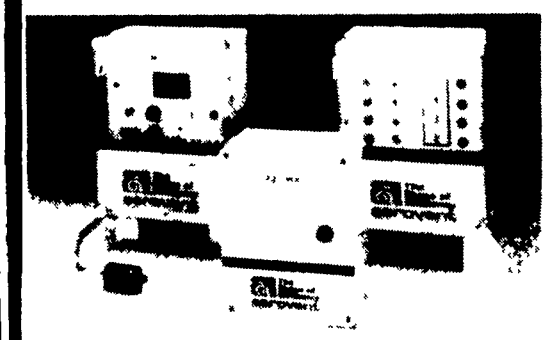
CERTIFIED PERFORMANCE

amca MEMBER

Aerovent Modular Ventilation Units Feature: (1) Aluminum Shutters; (2) Wall Housings in ROVEL® /ABS, Painted Metal or Galvanized Metal; (3) Cast Aluminum Propellers, Airfoil Design with Macheta Tip; (4) Propeller Secured By Compression Fit Taper-Lock Bushings; (5) Discharge Cones That Boost CFMs Up To 17%; and (6) PVC Coated Guards offer Lowest Resistance and Maintain Safety.

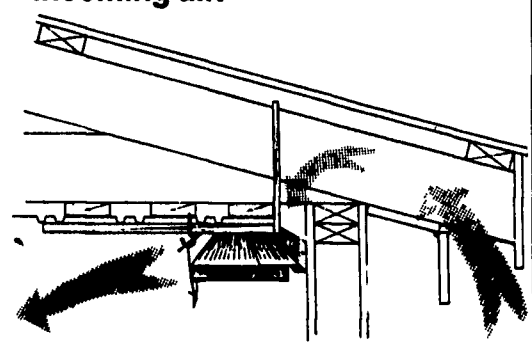
Field-tested controls to operate your ventilation equipment in an efficient, reliable manner.

Ventilation controls are the most important part of any ventilation system. Ours are designed to withstand the rigors of the livestock environment. Housed in watertight, dusttight enclosures, these controls' electrical components are protected from corrosion and dust. From the simplest on/off thermostat to the most sophisticated digital or analog controls, our engineering focus has been on reliability, durability and affordability.



STAGE MANAGER CONTROL SYSTEM

All-aluminum, insulated inlet baffle allows exact control of incoming air.



Aero-Baffle is shipped in convenient four foot sections and is available in 8", 12" and 16" widths. The attractive mill finish aluminum stays looking good and assures long life. Stainless steel clips (for attaching adjustment cords) are a unique design that require no fasteners.

PA DHIA Supervisors Honored

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — At the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association's annual Supervisors' conference held recently in State College, several supervisors were honored for exemplary performance to the DHIA dairy farmers of Pennsylvania. Honored for excellence in performance was Robert Ream, Somerset County, Superior Supervisor Award. This is the highest honor given to a PA DHIA supervisor, and represents over 20 years of outstanding service to Somerset county's DHIA members, as well as cooperation with the state DHIA association.

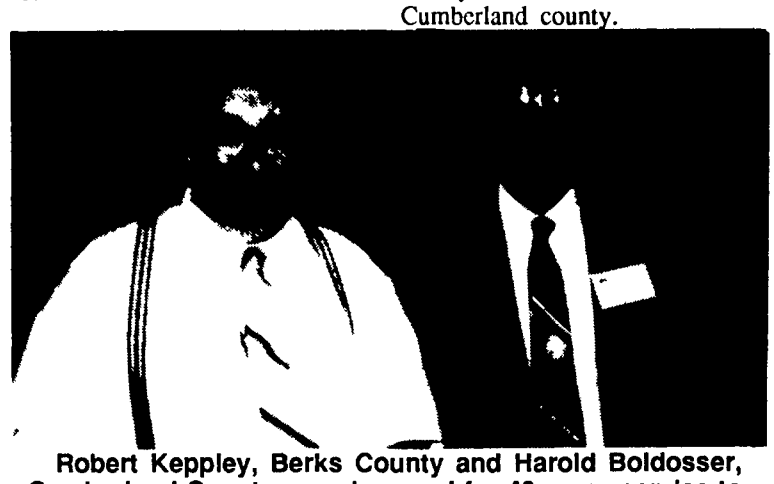
Jane Kashner, Crawford county, Darrell Brumbaugh, Blair county, Linda Wagner, Wayne county, Terry Willow, Snyder county and James Lehman, Lancaster county all received Distinguished Service Awards. These individuals have consistently delivered outstanding service to the DHIA members they serve.

Also honored was Harold Probst, Lancaster county who received the Carl B. Hollinger Memorial Award for excellence in handling samples sent to the central lab. James Batz, Dauphin county received the Putnam Memorial Award for the lowest errors per number of cows tested. Lynn Bowersox, Centre county, and Bob Ormsby, Bradford county shared honors as rookies of the year.

During the conference supervisors were also honored for years of service to PA DHIA. Receiving recognition for 40 years of service were Robert Keppley of Berks county and Harold Boldosser of Cumberland county.

This mechanical tomato picker was operating northeast of Rothsville (Lancaster) along Skyview Lane Thursday afternoon at a field day sponsored by Furman Foods, Inc., Northumberland. Burkholder built the machine from the frame up and has his tomatoes contracted with Furman. Burkholder said with the right variety and good growing conditions the harvester will pick up 95 percent of the crop on one time through the field.

Dwight Hess, Furman representative said the tomato crop across southeast Pennsylvania was hit hard this year because of the dry weather. Burkholder's crop was irrigated but according to Hess many other tomato farmers will have trouble making a profit.



Robert Keppley, Berks County and Harold Boldosser, Cumberland County were honored for 40 years service to PA DHIA.

Blindness Doesn't Stop Becky From Being A Normal Kid

BY LOU ANN GOOD

PHOENIXVILLE (Chester) — Nine-year-old Becky Hendricks stretched out her arms, "Here, Pride," she called as her hand groped for the halter of her Guernsey calf.

Pride gave her a playful nudge and Becky replied, "Come on. We're going for a walk."

Stepping backwards, Becky led her calf alongside the orchard. The morning sun glistened on Becky's straight, brunette hair; her golden suntan revealed the many hours she spends in the pool. Her steps were a bit slow as her fingers caressed Pride's throat.

Elaine, Becky's mother, explained, "Becky uses her right hand under the calf's neck as a brake. By feeling the neck muscles with her hand, Becky can tell where the calf's feet are."

Becky can't see her calf's feet. She's blind. But don't feel sorry for her. "She's a real trooper," her mom declares. "She gets right in the mainstream of things."

So when Becky decided she wanted a 4-H calf, just like her 16-year-old brother Troy had, her parents did not argue, "You can't do that because you can't see where to walk at shows." Nor did they vocalize the many other obstacles that Becky would need to overcome by appearing in competition.

Elaine explains, "As parents, John and I always strive to make Becky as normal a child as possible. We actually expect more out of her than we do her brothers who are sighted. We want her to do everything she can possibly do."

The Hendricks checked thoroughly for an appropriate calf for Becky. John joked, "We needed a seeing-eye calf." They settled for a docile Guernsey, purchased from Roger Campbell of Halifax.

Like other 4-H'ers, Becky keeps a record book for her calf project. Her vision tutor copied it in braille so that Becky can read it and fill it out whenever she wants to. Interspersed among the records are stories that she wrote independently about owning a calf. A typical example is one she wrote in braille and then read aloud: "Pride will go to the show. I hope she will win. It will be fun. Pride will be leading in the ring. Pride is good. Pride is big. I will wash Pride at the show. I really like Pride and I'm glad I have Pride."

When Becky attempted to maneuver Pride into the corral, her mother said, "Watch out, Cream Puff (Troy's calf) is in the way." Elaine gave Cream Puff a slap to move her on.

Becky giggled and said, "That was a good slap!"

Incidents like these show that although Becky cannot see, she is not blind to what is happening around her. Her ears discern the many noises that surround her whether she is at home on their Kimber-Vu Farm, at school or at the mall where she typically identifies the sounds surrounding her while walking. For example, if she hears a baby carriage, she remarks, "There goes a baby in a stroller."

The Hendricks video-taped the 4-H shows that Becky enters. Although she can not visually see them, Becky likes to replay them so she can hear the sounds of the fair and the judges' comments on her calf.

The videos show that Becky was much more relaxed at her second competitive event than at her first. During showing, Becky's brother Troy walks nearby and gives verbal directions such as, "Take two steps forward or back up."

For showing, Becky wears show clothes—a green shirt with white pants. She said, "I really don't like to wear them because I'm not suppose to get them dirty." Another thing she doesn't like to do is wash Pride. "She moves around too much because she doesn't like it," explained Becky. Otherwise Becky sums up her calf project with "I like it. It's fun."

Becky proudly displays the blue ribbon that she received at the Kimberton Fair. Another ribbon shows that she received the reserve junior champion at the Chester County 4-H dairy roundup; and she had the reserve champion female at the 4-H cattle show.

Teaching independence

Exactly how to raise Becky to be independent and to enter into the mainstream was a bit difficult for the Hendricks in the beginning. As a premature infant, Becky was given oxygen. Too high a dosage caused her blindness, which was discovered when she was three-months old. Her mother recalls, "When Becky was a baby I wanted to find help. I looked for services and information, but found little." Consequently, Elaine who had a master's in social work returned to graduate school at the Philadelphia College of Optometry where she will soon earn a master's in vision education, because "Blind children deserve their place in the world."

With advanced studies and with the help of her husband, John, who is executive director of a drug and alcohol clinic and who teaches a college psychology class, Elaine has taught Becky to be independent: unaccompanied, she walks next door to her grandparents' home, to the barn, around the yard and house. She's learned to do many things that sighted people take so much for granted such as discerning the proper amount of toothpaste to put on her toothbrush, to shower and shampoo her own hair, and to do chores such as feeding the rabbits, pony, calf and dogs, and in breaking up the lettuce for a salad.

"She's developed good concepts of underneath, below, above and around, and she uses her senses acutely," Elaine explained."

The Hendricks believe Becky is better off remaining in a regular classroom rather than attending a

Homestead Notes

Although she's tall, Fancy Lady is Becky's pony. The Hendricks believe that animals and 4-H help teach children responsibility and independence.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Fresh peaches are wonderful to eat out of hand, but they also make luscious microwaved desserts.

In Fresh Peach Pudding one peach is cooked with the pudding mixture to give a peachy taste. After cooking the pudding, mosre diced fresh peaches are added, uncooked, along with almond extract to give a fresh peach taste. The combination is rich tasting, but not too high in calories and fat.

Cooking is easy. Stirring the pudding about halfway through cooking and once towards the end are all that's needed to make a smooth creamy mixture. Notice that skim milk works well in this recipe.

In Fresh Peach Dessert Squares, buttermilk baking mix -- like Bisquick -- and a few other ingredients are stirred together to make a thin crust. The crust is topped with fresh peach slices arranged in rows. And finally, peaches are topped with a crumbly mixture of oatmeal, brown sugar, cinnamon and butter. The crumbly topping gives a baked-like look and texture to this homey dessert.

Cooking here too is fast and easy: about 12 minutes of microbaking time is all it takes. Medium Power (50% power, 325-350 watts) is used to slow cooking so that the center gets done better. A special technique using aluminum foil helps the center get done without getting the corners overdone and dried out. Because metal reflects microwaves, foil -- if used correctly -- can be a useful tool to prevent overcooking on corners of this and other desserts, bars and cakes.

Cover only the corners or other undone edges. Mold the foil around the dish so edges of foil are smooth against the dessert and dish. Keep foil at least one inch from microwave walls or ceiling. Before using foil be sure to check your microwave cookbook or Use and Care Guide and follow your manufacturer's recommendations.

Fresh Peach Pudding

2 cups granulated sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup skim, low-fat or regular milk
3 or 4 peaches, diced (peel, if desired)
Teaspoon almond extract

In microwave-safe 4- to 6-cup measure stir together sugar and cornstarch; gradually stir in milk until smooth. Stir in only 1 diced peach; reserve remaining peaches for later. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes, stirring after each 1½ minute, or until pudding is thick. Stir in remaining diced peaches and almond extract. Pour into 4 or 5 individual serving dishes. Serve warm or cold. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

(Each serving- One fourth of recipe: 160 calories, 2 mg. protein, 0 fat, 39 mg. carbohydrate, 25 mg. sodium, 2 mg. cholesterol.)

Fresh Peach Dessert Squares

1 egg
2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons milk
¾ cup buttermilk baking mix
2 large peaches, sliced (peel, if desired)
⅓ cup quick oatmeal (not instant)
⅓ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons soft butter

In a small mixing bowl, using a fork, mix egg until white and yolk are combined. Mix in brown sugar, oil and milk until smooth. Stir in baking mix until well combined. Spread mixture in an ungreased microwave-safe 8-inch square dish, spreading slightly thicker in dish corners and slightly thinner in dish center. Arrange peach slices close together in a single layer in about 3 rows to cover dough. Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle evenly over peaches. Microwave on Medium (50% power, 325-350 watts) 10 minutes, rotating dish once. Then cover corners of dessert with 4-inch wide triangles of aluminum foil, molding foil around dish corners. Microwave (High) 2 to 4 minutes or until center is no longer doughy. Let dish stand on flat surface for at least 10 minutes. Cut into square and serve warm or cold. Refrigerate leftovers. Makes 9 dessert servings.

(Each serving: 152 calories, 2 mg. protein, 8 mg. fat, 19 mg. carbohydrate, 214 mg. sodium, 35 mg. cholsterol.)

special school for the blind. "It helps her grow up knowing how to fit into society. Sure, she is less sheltered, some things are tough for her, but she finds that the community is fun." Elaine spoke of visiting schools for the blind where the students held hands when they walked to a different area. "It's impractical," Elaine exclaimed. "In society, you don't hold hands with people whenever you want to walk to a different area."

While blind people often do see with their hands, touching people is not acceptable to society. Since Becky attends a regular classroom, society's norms are built into her naturally. She knows that people do not enjoy having her run her fingers over their faces so she does not attempt it.

Elaine believes everyone belongs in the mainstream to the point where it is enjoyable. If pressured too much, a person will withdraw. It's a challenge for the Hendricks to encourage Becky to do as much as possible without pushing her to the point of frustration. "Sure," Elaine remarks, "it is quicker and easier to do things for her. But in the long run we would only be hurting her."

Around home, both inside and outside, Becky does not use a cane, but she does rely on it sometimes in the mall and at school.

Classmates have accepted Becky. Some children, when first exposed to a blind person are more sensitive and shy, and are uncomfortable in knowing how to relate to someone who cannot see; others have no reservations and with inquisive enthusiasm question Becky about her blindness. One sighted nine-year-old learned how to use the braille writer so she could write letters to Becky.

"She's my friend," said Becky. "I call her everyday. I dial her telephone number myself."

Is it hard to write in braille?

Becky answers, "It's easy when you know how."

Blindness does not hinder sibling squabbling. Said Becky, "Sometimes I fight my brother Ben. He's seven. When I get angry at him, I don't let him use my braille writer. I lock him out of my room. I like to tease him."

Ben and Becky spend many hours swimming in the pool. They ride their ponies; Becky named hers Fancy Lady.

"It's hard work on the farm," Becky said. "When I grow up I want to be the secretary for our orchard." The Hendricks planted 1,200 trees on 20 acres of land that was formerly part of Elaine's parents' dairy farm homestead. They sell peaches, corn, tomatoes and apples, which they grow on the land.

"The orchard is Elaine's forte," said her husband. Elaine explained, "I wanted to establish work here so I could be home with the kids."

The Hendricks are adament supporters of the 4-H program. "It teaches kids independence and responsibility." Since Elaine grew up showing 4-H cattle all her life, she especially is pleased that her daughter can now be part of the program. "The leaders and the extension agent have been super in helping Becky become part of the program."

Becky looks forward to continued 4-H competition. She said, "My dream is to go to state competition with Pride. I want to show Roger Campbell how much she has grown."

The Hendricks live at 207 Merlin Road in Phoenixville.

Farm Queen Pledges To Listen To Maryland Farmers

By Sharon Schuster
Maryland Correspondent

HOWARD CO., MD. — The 1988 Howard County Fair was the site of the crowning of the new Howard County Farm Queen, Rhonda Patrick. Nineteen-year-old Patrick was selected from a field of four contestants in the event sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Howard County Farm Bureau.

As one of the three judges, I had the honor of being a part of the selection of this very capable young representative of agriculture. David Cole, president of the Upper Chesapeake Production Credit Association and Jeff Griffith, Chairman of the Maryland State Young Farmers Committee shared with me the task of narrowing down the number to just one winner, a first runner-up and two princesses.

Each of the girls was interviewed individually by our panel. Clearly, Rhonda exhibited a zest for the farming way of life and was knowledgeable in the answers to our varied questions. She performed equally well during the on-stage portion of the contest, maintaining poise while speaking in front of the filled bleachers of the pavilion.

Rhonda lives and works on their family's 100-acre dairy farm in Woodbine, Maryland. She helps her parents, Dave and Ann, with raising and milking their Ayrshire and Holstein herds. A 4-H member for 10 years, and president for the past two, Rhonda has been a member of the Howard County and State Dairy Bowl and Judging teams. She was the 1986 South Central Dairy Princess and the Maryland Ayrshire Youth Representative.

Rhonda said that she enjoys exhibiting cattle, dairy judging, softball, dancing and spending time with family and friends. She confided that she acquired her golden tan while raking hay with the tractor. A 1987 graduate of Glenelg High School, Rhonda said she plans to pursue a degree in Dairy Science or Farm Management at the University of Maryland.

Rhonda pledged to "listen to the farmers of Howard County" during her reign as Farm Queen. No stranger to the plight of today's farmer, Rhonda expressed concern over urban sprawl. With houses closing in on the outer reaches of their farm, she has first-hand knowledge of this irreversible dilemma.

As Rhonda received the crown from the 1987 Howard County Farm Queen, Amy Brown, she said, "this is something I have always wanted. My three sisters were all Farm Queens."

Chosen as first runner-up was 17-year-old Cari Kasemeyer. She lives on a sheep and horse farm in West Friendship with her parents, Ed and Nancy. Princesses in the court were 17-year-old Rachel Clark of Glenelg, and 17-year-old Cheri Stern of Highland.

Rhonda Patrick rides the Howard County Fair float.

dings, most starch-thickened sauces, small cakes, muffins and vegetables cooked in their skin (like squash, potatoes or sweet corn in the husk.)

Q. Do you have a vent plastic wrap for microwaving?

A. It depends. Most cookbooks recommend venting for safety sake because during cooking steam collects in the covered container and when you remove the plastic wrap you could be burned from the steam. However when cooking foods for a short time where much steam won't collect (for example, heating a plate of leftovers) you don't need to vent the plastic wrap. Also, after you've become an experienced microwaver, you'll learn how to carefully lift the tight cover away from you and how to avoid burns; then, you may want to cover the dish without venting for certain other uses.

Q. If a recipe doesn't say to cover or what kind of cover to use, could I always use a casserole cover?

A. No. If a recipe says nothing about covering, don't cover the food at all.

If thre recipe just says "cover," a casserole lid often works well. But sometimes a loose cover -- such as waxed paper or even the lid set slightly off the dish top -- works better. For example, when cooking chicken with a crispy coating, hamburger or fish, a waxed paper cover is the best choice.

This prolific vegetable from the squash family continues to gain popularity with cooks. It is adaptible to many recipes and offers nutrition and low calories for health-conscious people.

Skim over the recipes and you can see from our readers' responses, zucchini fits into most categories of a full-course dinner. Try the recipes and you're sure to find some that you'll want to make again and again. Zucchini dishes promise to squash those mealtime blahs.

DEVILED SQUASH

1 medium butternut or acorn squash
2 cans (4½ -ounces each) devilled ham
1 cup prepared stuffing mix
⅔ cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 tablespoons margarine
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Cut squash in half lengthwise and clean out seeds. Place squash, skin side up, in a baking dish; pour in water to ½ -inch. Bake 30 minutes, turn squash over and continue baking for another 30 minutes. Hollow out squash, leaving skin intact. Mash squash in a bowl, add remaining ingredients and mix well. Return mixture to shells. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves 4.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

4 eggs, beaten
½ cup oil
Dash pepper
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup grated cheese
½ cup onion
1 cup biscuit mix
3 cups grated zucchini, unpeeled

Beat eggs and add other ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Use a 9x9x2-inch pan. Cut in squares to serve.

Manheim

MICROWAVE ZUCCHINI

7 cups sliced zucchini
1 small onion, chopped
1 10½ -ounce can cream of mushroom soup
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup shredded carrot
¼ cup butter, melted
2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix

Microwave zucchini and onion in ¼ cup water until tender, about 15 minutes in a covered, microproof dish. Drain. Combine soup, sour cream and carrot, and add zucchini and onion. Toss together stuffing and butter and spread half of it in the bottom of an 11x7-inch glass dish. Spoon zucchini mixture over this and top with remaining stuffing. Microwave until hot, about 7 minutes, turning once. Serves 6.

Montgomery Co. Dairy Princess

ZUCCHINI SEAFOOD CASSEROLE

4 cups ¼ -inch sliced zucchini
1½ cups biscuit mix
1½ cups shredded sharp cheese (8-ounces)
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup (6½ -ounce) crab meat drained and cartilage removed or 1 (6½ -ounce can tuna drained)
½ cup vegetable oil
3 eggs
1 teaspoon oregano leaves
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Grease baking dish 12x7½ x2-inch. Mix all ingredients and spread in dish. Bake uncovered until golden brown and knife inserted in center comes out clean 25-30 minutes. Serves 6.

BAKED ZUCCHINI

Cut zucchini in half lengthwise. Scoop out seeds and discard. Scoop out zucchini down to skin, being careful not to cut through skin. Combine tomatoes, onion, celery, salt and pepper with cut-up zucchini. Put everything back in skins, putting bread cubes and grated cheese on top. Bake 350 degrees for 1 hour.

Glenna Foose

Zucchini is as versatile as a creative cook can imagine.

ZUCCHINI AND PASTA SOUP

1 garlic clove, minced
1 onion, chopped fine
2 tablespoons butter
6 ounces zucchini or squash, scrubbed, trimmed and cut into ½ -inch cubes (about 1½ cups)
3 cups chicken stock, bouillon or canned broth
⅓ cup corn
⅓ cup macaroni or other pasta
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese (optional)

In a saucepan cook the garlic and the onion in the butter over moderately low heat, stirring, until they are softened, add the zucchini, the corn, and the broth, and bring the liquid to a boil over high heat. Stir in the macaroni, boil the mixture, stirring occasionally, for 8 to 10 minutes, or until the macaroni is done. Season with salt and pepper. Ladle the soup into bowls and sprinkle with the Parmesan if desired. Makes about 3½ cups, serving 2 or 3. Soup can easily be doubled or tripled.

ZUCCHINI LOAF

3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup oil
3 cups flour
2 cups grated zucchini, unpeeled
1 cup crushed pineapples, drained
1 cup nuts
½ cup raisins
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs, then add sugar and oil. Combine dry ingredients and add to egg mixture, alternately with zucchini. Stir in pineapple, nuts, raisins and vanilla. Fill three loaf pans one-half full with the mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Loaves may be frozen for six months.

ZUCCHINI MUFFINS/BREAD

2 cups peeled, grated zucchini
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups white sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons cinnamon

Mix ingredients in the order listed. Put about ¼ cup of the mixture in 24 paper-lined or greased muffin cups (can be poured in a loaf pan and baked 1 hour). Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until toothpick comes out clean.

As the new Wyoming-Lackawanna County Dairy Princess part of Patty Spadine's job is to inform the public about dairy products. The minimum recommended daily number of servings for milk per person is as follows: children (3), teenagers (4), and adults (2). And what better way of getting these minimum recommended servings than by eating ice cream.

Here's a "Sweet Surprise" that is delicious, nutritious and easy to make for these hot sizzling summer days.

Chocolate Raspberry Cups

¾ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 tablespoons butter
Vanilla Ice Cream
6 tablespoons raspberry topping

Melt chocolate with butter over low heat. Stirring until smooth. Place six muffin cup liners in a muffin pan with 2½ x1 -inch cups. Spoon approximately 1 tablespoon chocolate mixture into each of the paper-lined muffin cups. With back of spoon, spread mixture evenly around bottom and sides of cups; refrigerate at least 1 hour, just before serving, carefully remove paper from cups. Fill each cup with small scoop of ice cream; spoon topping over ice cream.

QUESTION - Lana Stoner, Greencastle, requests a recipe for pineapple fritters. She said the batter is deep fried and the juice from the pineapples is used to make a sauce to pour on the fritters.

QUESTION - Virginia Brubaker, Manheim, requests a recipe for a pear tart that appeared in this paper a few weeks ago. She recalls that the recipe, which she misplaced, uses sour cream.

QUESTION - Margaret Gockley of Mohnton would like to know if fondant that is used in chocolate coating cherries can be used in other ways.

QUESTION - Violet Cassner, Newburg, requests recipes for cooked tomato jam and strawberry jam that are made with strawberry gelatin.

QUESTION - Carol Berger, Womelsdord, requests a recipe for raisin custard with meringue topping. She said that the custard is made with brown sugar so the pie is not a yellow, custard color.

QUESTION - Sandy Tabor of North East, Md. requests a recipe for Amish macaroni salad and a recipe for bean pie that has the consistency of pumpkin pie.

QUESTION - Martha Oberholtzer, Mifflinburg, requests recipes using whole wheat flour or wheat germ.

QUESTION - Kathy Agett of Franklinville, N.Y. requests recipes for red beans and rice and one for a cheese ball that has chipped beef in it.

QUESTION - In the June 18, 1988 issue there was an article about the Old Order River Brethren of Lancaster County who printed a cookbook. Carlton Brown of Martinsburg, W.Va., requested the address for ordering this cookbook. We are sorry that we inadvertedly omitted the address. For those interested, the address is Ruth Conley, R.D. #3, Box 801, Mount Joy, PA 17552. Include $9.25 to cover the cost of the cookbook and the postage.

QUESTION - R.S. Griswold requests recipes for homemade pizza, especially directions on making the crust.

QUESTION - Sara Horst, Gardners, would like to know how to remove candle wax from cotton material.

QUESTION - Mabel Hoffer, Manheim, requests a recipe for Christmas pickles.

ANSWER - Mrs. Florence Gruber requested a recipe for Mush cake or Mush pie. Thanks Ruth Bushong, Columbia, who sent a recipe that she said her mother made in the 1920s. Although she called it mush pudding, Ruth said, "Cake would be a better name for it since we ate it warm, broken into a bowl with milk and a bit of sugar, or we ate it cold with molasses spread on it."

Mush Cake

1½ cups cornmeal
1½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients and set aside. Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Add flour mixture alternately with milk and mix well. Pour into 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 375 degrees or until sides begin to pull away from pan and cake feels firm to a light touch in the center.

ANSWER - Edith Moore of Pennington, N.J. requested recipes for blueberries and muffins. Thanks to Mary Ann Reich, Beaver Springs; Shirley Moyer, Millerstown, and Martha Oberholtzer, Mifflinburg. Thanks to E.J. Duricou, Saxonburg, who writes that the oat bran can be purchased at General Nutrition stores for approximately $1.69 per pound.

Blueberry Cake Muffins

2 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup milk
1 cup fresh or thawed, drained blueberries

Line muffin pan with papers or grease well. Sift flour and baking powder, salt. Set aside. Beat butter, sugar, eggs, vanilla until light and fluffy (about 4 minutes). Beat flour mix alternately with milk. Beat until smooth. Fold in blueberries. Put about ¼ cup butter in muffin cups. Bake. Remove. Cool slightly and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Blueberry Oat Muffins

1 cup quick rolled oats
1 cup sour milk
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup brown sugar
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup melted butter
1 cup blueberries

Combine oats and sour milk in small bowl; let set. In another bowl, combine flour, baking powder, soda, salt and brown sugar; stir well until blended. Add egg and melted butter to oat mixture; mix well. Add oat mixture all at once to dry ingredients. Stir until all ingredients are moistened. Gently fold in blueberries. Fill well-greased muffin cups ¾ full. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 22 minutes.

Pumpkin Bran Muffins

Beat 4 eggs
Add:
2 cups white sugar
2 cups pumpkin, cooked and mashed
2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups cooking oil
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 teaspoon baking powder
Beat, then stir:
3 cups bran
2 cups flour
1 cup raisins, optional

Mix. Bake in muffin pans 350 degrees. Approximate 20 minutes.

Apple Cinnamon Muffins

2¼ cups oat bran cereal
¼ cup brown sugar
1¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon baking powder
¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup raisins
¼ cup skim milk
¾ cup frozen apple juice concentrate
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 medium apple pared, cored and chopped

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In a large bowl, combine cereal, sugar, cinnamon, and baking powder. Stir in walnuts, raisins, skim milk, apple and oil. Bake at 425 degrees for 17 minutes. Serve with apple sauce or spread with apple butter.

ANSWER - Mabel Hoffer, Manheim, sent in a correction for strawberry pretzel salad that appeared in a previous issue. Here is the correct complete recipe.

Strawberry Pretzel Salad

2 cups crushed pretzels, not to fine
3 teaspoons sugar
¾ cup melted margarine

Mix together and press in bottom of 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 minutes. Do not overbake. Meanwhile, mix the following ingredients together:
1 large box strawberry flavored gelatin
2 cups boiling water
2 (10-ounce packages) strawberries

Let mixture set while mixing the following.
8 ounces cream cheese
1 cup sugar (optional)
8-ounces whipped topping

Spread on cooled pretzel crust. Top with the gelatin mixture and let set in refrigerator until firm.

SUMMER SQUASH CASSEROLE

6 cups zucchini, sliced
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup sour cream
1 8-ounce package herb seasoning croutons
½ cup margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup shredded carrots

In saucepan, cook zucchini and onion in boiling salt water for 5 minutes. Drain. Combine chicken soup and sour cream, stir in shredded carrots. Fold in drained zucchini and onion. Combine croutons and melted margarine. Spread ½ of croutons on bottom of casserole dish. Spoon in vegetable mixture. Spread remaining croutons on top. Bake 350 for 30 minutes.

ZUCCHINI FRUIT CAKE

3 large eggs, beaten well
1¾ cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon pineapple juice
1 cup vegetable oil
2 cups peeled, thinly shredded, zucchini well-drained
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
¾ cup well-drained crushed pineapple (packed in own juice)
¼ cup applesauce
½ cup finely cut pitted dates
½ cup finely chopped walnuts

Beat eggs well. Add sugar, vanilla, pineapple juice, oil, zucchini. Mix well. Stir in remaining ingredients blending until no trace of flour can be seen. Pour into greased 10-inch tube pan. Bake 60-65 minutes in 325 degree oven. Cake is heavy in texture.

2 teaspoons baking soda
2 cups shredded zucchini
12-ounces chocolate chips

Cream together first four ingredients. Add egg, vanilla and sour milk, mixing until well-blended. Sift dry ingredients and add; mix in zucchini last. Spoon into greased and floured 9x12x2-inch pan and sprinkle top of cake with chocolate chips. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes.

Cook's Question Corner

ANSWER - Carol Berger, Womelsdorf, requested a recipe for lemon pie with sweet cake stripes. Thanks Mrs. Leonard Bauman, Pottstown, for sending one.

Lemon Strip Cake

1 lemon grated and juice
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup molasses
1 cup sugar
2 cups hot water

Boil the above mixture until thickened.

For strips:
3½ cups flour
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
Milk

Mix together ingredients to make strips. Use just enough milk to make a dough that can be rolled out and cut into strips. Line 3 to 4 pie dishes with dough. Fill with lemon mixture. Cover with several strips of dough.

ANSWER - Sandra Reith, Emmaus, requested a recipe for Dairy Queen ice cream. Thanks Betty Biehl, Mertztown; and Rachel Kreider, Richland; for sending it.

Dairy Queen® Ice Cream

Soak 2 envelopes of unflavored gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Heat 4 cups whole milk until hot, but not boiling. Remove from heat.

Add:
Gelatin
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt

Cool and add:
3 cups cream

Freeze five to six hours.

Serve A Healthy Lunch

Summer is waning, vacation season is winding down and school bells will soon be ringing again across the country. It will soon be time to start the lunch time ritual again. Whether packing a lunch box or putting together a quick meal at home, preparation of the noontime meal — 365 days a year — can present a real challenge.

Nutritionally speaking, lunch is one of the most important meals of the day. The midday meal should provide a full one-third of the day's nutrients. The sandwich, because if combines with so many nutritious foods into one tasty, convenient package, has become a mainstay of most lunches. Statistics show that over 9,000,000 bag lunches are prepared each year.

Most sandwiches can be conveniently prepared ahead and either refrigerated or frozen. Here are a few suggestions for successful sandwich making: Spread bread slices with butter or margarine to "seal" them and prevent sogginess. Softened cream cheese, cheese spread or peanut butter are other spreads that seal the bread.

To freeze sandwiches, wrap securely in heavy-duty plastic wrap or plastic bags, freezer paper or foil. Press the wrap to the bread and seal tightly. Label with contents and date.

Fillings that freeze well include meat loaf, sliced cooked meats, chicken or fish, shredded or sliced cheese, cream cheese, peanut butter and nuts. DO NOT FREEZE vegetables or fruits, or very crisp foods. They become watery and lose their crispness when thawed.

Remember basic food safety precautions as you pack lunches. First, cook foods thoroughly. If they are meant to be hot, keep them hot. If they are meant to be cold, keep them cold. Many lunch containers are made with insulation so that they will keep foods at the right temperature. Check your containers, especially vacuum bottles, to be sure they are designed to keep hot and/or cold foods. If possible, refrigerate your lunch during the morning. If not, a cold device in your bag or box can help. Commercial frozen gels are available and can be reused. Plastic margarine tubs filled with water and frozen, plastic bags filled with ice cubes, or a can of cold beverage are also ways to keep foods cold till lunch time.

Community Rallies Around Amish Family Hospitalized By Drunk Driver

LANCASTER — For 38-year-old Joseph Esh and his family, life took a difficult twist for them on June 27. That was the day an intoxicated hit-run driver rammed the rear of their buggy on Route 41, one mile north of Christiana.

The accident left Esh paralyzed from the neck down. His 38-year-old pregnant wife, Barbara, lost the baby she was carrying and four of their five children were seriously injured.

The Esh family from Atglen are faced with astronomical hospital bills. To help meet this need the community is organizing a benefit sale on September 3. A spokesperson for the event, who asked not to be identified, said, "We are selling anything that people bring to sell. So far we have crafts, furniture, ice cream, subs, chicken barbecue and baked goods to sell."

The sale starts at 8 a.m. and is scheduled to run to 6 p.m. on September 3. The sale site is located on Route 23 across from the Atlantic gas station on a farm two miles west of New Holland.

Why We Like Pappy And Grandma

Colette, 9; Parke, 7; and Chad, 3; live on a 117-acre dairy farm in Lebanon County. Their parents are Brenda and Marlin Heisey. They like to visit their grandparents Ivan and Emma Martin who live in Greencastle. That's about a two hour trip.

Colette said she likes to visit Pappy and Grandma 'cause I don't get to see them very often. She likes to play with her cousins and with the Cabbage Patch dolls at her grandma's house.

Parke said, "I like to visit Pappy's store and see the meat hanging in the cooler." His Pappy used to give him toy horses for a collection, but then Parke's daddy said, "I want Parke to grow up to be a herdsman." So now Pappy buys Parke toy cows and Parke is glad because he said, "I like helping with real cows."

Chad said, "I like Pappy 'cause he gives me candy."

The Heisey children from Lebanon: Colette, Parke and Chad, enjoy visiting their grandparents Pappy and Grandma Martin of Greencastle.
Read what the children say about their grandparents then write and tell us about your grandparents.

Ag Progress Is For Kids Too

While Dad was off exploring the exhibits, this toddler decided to explore the puzzles and games at the Shaver's Creek exhibit.

Youngsters learned about snakes at the Shaver's Creek Environmental Center exhibit.

Attention: Kids!

Hey, Kids!

Don't forget, September 13 is National Grandparents Day. To celebrate we want you to write and tell us about your grandma or grandpa. Maybe you call them names such as Pop-Pop, Gramp, Grams or Pappy. Whatever you call them, you're sure to have lots of fun together.

Tell us why you like them. What do you do with them? Make sure you include your grandpa's and grandma's name, and your own name and address and age. Mail your replies to Kids' Korner, "Lancaster Farming." P.O. Box 366, Lititz, PA 17543. Deadline is September 5.

Remember you can write and tell us about your pet or yourself anytime you'd like. Send your letters to the address listed above.

Peter Writes . . .

My name is Peter Hoffman. I am 7½ years-old. I have a dad, mom and a sister named Mindy. We have a cat named Wendy. I have a goldfish. I hope I'll get a collie soon.

My family has 13 acres of land and two John Deere tractors. We planted oats, alfalfa, pumpkins and 2,000 strawberry plants.

My favorite things are drawing tractors and tractor and trailers. I also like to help my dad work on our 1939 John Deere tractor. We are scraping grease and rust off of it. We want to restore it. I really like when my dad lets me drive our 1950 John Deere. My dad and I are starting to collect toy tractors.

Sincerely,
Peter Hoffman

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

No doubt you're familiar with the phrase about "biting the hand that feeds you."

That — believe me — is not just an empty cliche.

But then, common sense should have told me never to get involved on a personal level with a chicken.

Still, even from the beginning, this particular chicken stood out from the rest of the flock. She was hatched in late spring, along with about a dozen sibling balls of fluff, by a grumpy and highly-protective barnyard hen.

Most of this particular flock of hatchlings had arrived out of their shells wearing soft down of pale yellow, deep gray or black. But, one little chicken running around on matchstick legs was a warm strawberry-blond shade.

Knowing the mortality rate of chicks in flocks that earn their living scratching through the meadow and nearby fields, we feared that this lone reddish-colored chick would vanish. While others of the large family did disappear over their early weeks, this particular youngster appeared to be a survivor. Once she reached the several-week stage and was maturing from fluff to feathers, it seemed certain we'd added a red hen to our poultry genetic bank.

Then, one morning several weeks ago, I walked into the bank barn to feed the heifers. Hiding in a corner of the alleyway was the half-grown, reddish-feathered hen. And, she didn't look too healthy. Each time she tried to stand, she'd simply fall over on her limp left wing.

I stooped down and gently picked her up. She promptly took a nasty peck at my arm, leaving me with a half-inch, bleeding chicken "bite."

It was self-defense. My mistake.

Through most of July, "Brownie" spent her days in that alleyway, resting under a wide board set over concrete blocks. After a few weeks, she could stand to eat her daily ration of ground feed, fresh water and occasional extra milk hoarded from the cats.

Though she fussed at first, the hen became accustomed to being stroked on the silky feathers on her back. Gradually, the squawking protest changed to a soft clucking sound at the attention. One day, though, she caught me with that sharp beak on the other arm.

Brownie has almost fully recovered. Still unable to fly up to roost with the others at dusk, she's content to perch at a lower level. At daylight, she waits in the alleyway, underfoot, for a handful of ground feed and stands quietly, clucking gently, to be petted.

When our little niece, Katie, visited on a recent evening, we paid a brief visit to Brownie, settled in for the night on her near-ground roost. Our intrusion aroused her neighbors perched higher up, and they began cackling.

"Why are the other chickens laughing?" K[illegible] wanted to know.

I spe[illegible] were 'laughing" at a [illegible]ged servant, who'd learned her place in the pecking order, but continued to wait on one very smart, little red hen.

Makes you wonder who the "dumb cluck" really is.

Soft Drinks Cause Calcium Loss

Many teens enjoy soft drinks and consume them regularly. However, they may be losing calcium from the body as a result, says University of Dealware Extension home economist Debbie Amsden.

Studies at Washington State University show that the addition of caffeine to a noncaffeinated diet soft drink increased calcium losses over the next three hours by 20 percent, Amsden said. When both caffeine and sugar were added to the soft drink, calcium losses jumped to 76 percent (from 17 mg of calcium to 30 mg of calcium).

Why the concern for calcium in a teenager's diet? First, says Amsden, because during the teen years bones are increasing in size and density and need calcium to support growth and nourishment. People with less calcium in their bones may be more likely to develop osteoporosis in later life than people with normal calcium levels.

Second, teens who drink more soda consume less nutritionally adequate diets, according to a national survey of food habits and nutrition. These diets are low in calcium, probably because young people often choose soft drinks instead of milk.

Dr. Sue Snider, Delaware Extension nutrition specialist, suggests some steps parents can take to help teenagers maintain a healthy calcium level: keep milk on hand, serve yogurt at mealtimes and snacktimes, offer cheese for a snack (1 ounce provides 25 percent of the recommended daily allowance for calcium) and add cheese to sandwiches. Milkshakes are also a good source of calcium, and many teens, particularly boys, can use the calories too, says Snider.

Children require three dairy servings, teens need four and adults need two to three.

Kelly Boyd Named Franklin County Lamb And Wool Queen

Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin) — Kelly Boyd of Chambersburg was crowned the county 1989 Lamb and Wool Queen August 17 at the Franklin County Extension Office. Kelly, 15, formerly served as Lamb and Wool Princess under 1988 Queen Christiana Keener. This year, Gretchen Christman was chosen 1989 Princess.

The daughter of Gary and Donna Boyd, Kelly will be a sophomore at Chambersburg Area Senior High School. She has been a member of the Franklin County 4-H Shepherds for eight years and is also a member of the Seeing Eye Puppy Club. The owner of two ewes and three lambs, she shows market lambs at round-up. Her favorite lamb recipe is barbecued meatballs made with ground lamb. In her dialogue with emcee Scott Smith, she explained the advantages of the new natural fabric "superwool." A garment made of superwool may be machine washed, Kelly said, if certain directions are followed. "Turn the garment inside out," she explained, "and wash it on a gentle cycle with a mild detergent. Spin and rinse it on a normal cycle. This will get most of the water out and the fabric will stay firm. Tumble dry for 15-20 minutes on a normal cycle."

Kelly also told the audience about the uses for the most common breeds of sheep in Franklin County. "Suffolks are used for meat," she said, "and the Dorsets for wool. They have a medium grade wool, which is used for blankets, jackets and hats."

Princess Gretchen Christman, 14, of Shippensburg is the daughter of Peggy Christman and Gregory A. Christman Sr. She will be in ninth grade at Shippensburg Area Junior High School. She has been a member of the Franklin County 4-H Shepherds for five years and also a member of the Franklin County 4-H Pig Club.

At the Shippensburg Fair last month, Gretchen showed her two sheep, which placed first and second in their classes. She told the audience how to prepare sheep for showing and for eating. Her favorite way to prepare lamb is as chops or in ravioli.

The queen contestants were judged on appearance (10 points), poise and personality (20 points), knowledge of the lamb and wool industry (35 points), and speaking ability (35 points).

Scott Smith, a retail appliance salesman, has officiated at the contest since its inception four years ago.

Judges for the event were Pam Bartl, Chambersburg, a weaver and clothing designer; Karen Wagaman of Fayetteville, a junior high school teacher; and Elsie Overcash, Chambersburg, a singer and voice teacher. Wagaman, speaking for the judges, told the four contestants that the judges were impressed with their poise, attractiveness and knowledge of the lamb and wool industry. She encouraged all of them to pursue promoting lamb.

Club leader Beth Keener explained that the duties of the Queen and Princess will include handing out samples of lamb and wool at county events. She noted that a local butcher has noticed an increase in the sale of lamb since the county has had a Lamb and Wool Queen to promote lamb.

Other contestants were Jill Mellott, 10, daughter of Wallace and Joyce Mellott, Waynesboro; and Rachel Coady, 13, daughter of Robert and Elisabeth Coady, Spring Run.

Master of Ceremonies Scott Smith with Lamb and Wool Queen Kelly Boyd and Princess Gretchen Christman, right.

Making Herr's Yours: Snack Company Tells How

NOTTINGHAM (Chester) — It was 1946. World War II was over. Twenty-two year-old Jim S. Herr was cleaning eggs on his father's farm. He was restless. While he washed the eggs, he dreamed of owning his own business. After checking out the newspaper, he discovered a one-person potato chip operation. He needed $1,700 to purchase it.

It took some haggling, but Jim talked his fiance, her boss, and his father into lending him the money.

Today this entrepreneur oversees a multi-million dollar company, with eight hundred employees and 14 branches scattered throughout the eastern states.

He started Herr Foods Incorporated with virtually no experience other than a few days training from the former owner on the old-fashioned potato chip cooker. In the beginning, every afternoon and evening, Jim slaved over the single old-fashioned cooker. In the morning, he sold his product door-to-door like many other businesses did in that day. This method, he soon discovered, was time-consuming so he soon quit the door-to-door sales and talked local stores into stocking his product.

Two years later he moved his business from Lancaster city to his father's farm where he set up shop in a former tobacco shed, from there he moved to Willow Street where the shop burned down in 1951.

After the fire, Jim contemplated not rebuilding. At the time, his wife Miriam and he were helping established a mission outreach in Nottingham. While commuting from the mission station, the Herrs noticed 15 acres with a brick house and steer barn for sale. They bought it, converted the barn into a factory that has been torn down only last month to make room for a large visitors' center.

Annually 15,000 people tour the plant. Son Jim, who is now the executive vice president, says, "We've had to say, 'No,' to large groups because we did not have the facilities to accomodate them." The visitors center, which is scheduled to open in May 1989, will allow them to increase the tour numbers, which the company views as good for their business.

Herr said, "Visitors seem impressed by our good, clean plant and after observing the process of potatoes becoming delicious, crispy chips, they want to buy the product. We see it as an extension of marketing. It creates an attitude of saying, 'We'd like to thank you.'"

The free tours include a brief video of the company history and of the behind-the-scenes work that isn't available for touring. Visitors are given chips, pretzels, corn chips and cheese curl hot off the line as they watch the process. The new vistors' center will also be stocked with T-shirts and gift items with the Herr's logo.

Junk food?

Herr admits that snack foods such as the ones they produce have gotten some bad press in recent years. Generally snack items such as chips and pretzels are consider junk food, unnutritious, loaded with calories, and high in fats and sodium. "It makes us cringe, but," Herr observed, "after a good, hard look at our product, we find it's better than we previously thought. It has less sodium than most cereals per ounce. It has no cholesterol since we do not use animal fats, and it's low in satuated fats."

According to Herr, food editors and dieticians who take the time to get correct information are more tolerant of eating snacks. He said, "Our product is not like green beans, it's fun food associated with good times and parties."

Growth

The company's growth has been steady and sales have increased every year. But, Herr cautions, "that doesn't mean we always showed a profit." His father relates that the fire was a "real downer", there were times when they sold lots off the land to pay bills.

On the whole, the last 25 years have had only a few years that were not profitable. Herrs gross $75 million annually and lay claim to one of the largest independently owned chip companies in the U.S. Statistics show that Herrs have the number one chip for the Philadelphia area, but Frito Lay with its $3 billion business carries one-half the market nationwide.

Quality ingredients

Seventy five million pounds of potatoes are needed annually to fill the chip orders. That translates into 36,000 tons or 40 to 45 trailers hauling in potatoes weekly.

They buy potatoes through three brokers. In the spring until June 15, the potatoes are transported from Florida then one month from North Carolina, a month from New Jersey and then a month locally. Potatoes bought locally, from New York and North Dakota are stored over winter months until the spring crop comes.

Mim and Jim S. Herr

Visitors can observe potatoes become delicious, crispy chips not only by watching, but by tasting. Jennifer DeoPerlo, a fulltime tour guide, says the plant can produce per hour: 7,000 pounds of potato chips, 500 pounds of pop corn, 1,300 pounds of nachos and 2,000 pretzels per minute.

James M. Herr, executive vice president stands outside the current headquarters for Herr's. The snack company was started by his dad, James S. Herr, as a one person operation. It now employs 800.

Do some potatoes make better chips than others? Herr said that they prefer the Atlantic variety. Unfortunately, it doesn't store well. Norchip, they find, works best for winter storage.

The appearance and taste of chips actually varies, at times, since different varieties brown differently; fresh potatoes have less defects. Herr admits that although he can taste the difference between the potato varieties, the average consumer cannot. "We start with only the finest, freshest quality ingredients. This always assures quality snack food products," he said.

The company looks for round potatoes that slice well, have a low sugar content, and do not brown, but get crisp. Since 75-80% of the potato is water that is lost during transportation and cooking, it takes four pounds of potatoes to make one pound of chips.

Corn for the corn chips comes from the midwest on the railroads that line the Herr's buildings. Corn chips require field corn with food grade cleaning, and it is dried slowly so it does not become brittle. Wheat flour is milled locally.

Attributes success

"Two main facets attribute to our success," says Herr, "quality and service. It's the little things, like giving attention to the customer. And we do a good job at marketing. We can't do anything without having good people. We strive to continue offering quality and service."

Herr said the company is most proud of being fair to all concerned. "We try to have a business which is not only good for the owners, but also one that is good for the community."

He explained, "We try not to do things to discredit our reputation. We're a good, clean company based on Christian principles: Going the second mile with employees, totally honest by not giving one-half of the story when talking with employees and clients." In accordance with Christian principals the company also gives ten percent of their income to various charities, mostly to the church and community services.

On a less philosophical note, Herr takes pride that all products are labeled under the company name. "You can't find a Herr product in another bag." Although they been approached and tempted to package their product for other companies, Herr said, "We have this feeling that we'd rather be a small size than larger and sell other brands."

Son Jim said that in the 16 years he has been with the company, he has witnessed a lot of growth. "We are a growth oriented company, but we want to remain solid. We are aware that one of the quickest ways to go bankrupt is to grow too fast. We want our company to offer opportunities to people."

Statistics show that the general food industry grows two percent annually. Last year, Herrs grew five percent, which is lower than their overall average of eight to ten percent, but still well above the national average. Although Herr admits that cannibalizing other companies could make them more competitive, he feels, "there is room for everyone who offers a good product to consumers."

Although the company's product line has grown considerably since its origin, Herr has never forgotten those who helped him launch his dream. He carries a soft spot in his heart toward other entrepreneurs and often assists them financially in launching their dream business. He knows, a one person operation can grow and grow when there is a commitment to quality, service and dedication. That is what has made Herrs, yours.

Great Eggs-Pectations Contest Finalists

Six finalists for the adult division and two for the youth division will compete for the State championship of the "Great Eggspectation" contest on Monday, August 29, at the Timonium State Fair, Administration Building, Second Floor Banquet Room, Timonium, Maryland. The cook-off will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 PM. The winners will be announced at 5:00 PM followed by sample tasting of recipes and refreshments.

The "Great Eggs-Pectation" finalists:

Adult Division- Ethel Lambert, Baltimore County; Virginia Moore, Montgomery County; Kim Lowery, Washington County; Babe Nelson, Baltimore County; Connee Sheckler, Baltimore County; Linda Baker, Washington County.

Youth Division: Maria Cellarosi, Montgomery County; Edward Uppole, Charles County.

The finalists will have one hour to prepare their dishes for presentation to the judges. A panel of three food experts will sample the results and select the winners from the divisions. Criteria for judging will include flavor, appearance, nutritional value, preparation ease and creativity.

The championship recipe will be entered in the 1988 American Egg Board Cooking Contest.

Removing Ice Cream Stains

How you remove ice cream stains will depend upon which ice cream flavor you prefer and, as always, the type of fabric stained. First remove the milk portion of the stain. If any stain remains it is left by the fruit or chocolate or some other ice cream flavor.

A simple method to remove stains from washable fabrics is to apply a combination solvent, like Shout or Spray'n Wash, to the stain and wash the garment in cool water. If you are dealing with a nonwashable fabric, sponge the stain with liquid detergent in cool water, and then rinse with plain water. Let it dry and apply an oil solvent such as K2r or Carbona.

Now you can attack what's left from your ice cream flavor. Chocolate lovers will need an oil solvent. If any stain remainis, it is due to protein. To remove, moisten the stain and apply a digestant paste, which you can make from Biz or Axiom. Rinse this before it dries out.

Remember to test a small hidden area of the fabric first to determine if damage will occur. Never use heat on a sugar stain and never use soap or iron a fruit stain.

Cimarron Alfalfa
Proven Performance

Premium alfalfa seed is an important part of any high-yielding, high-quality alfalfa program.

That's why more and more growers are planting CIMARRON Alfalfa. CIMARRON is a consistent top producer, both on the farm and in university tests — not only in total yield but in crude protein content and TDN. It's an extra leafy/full season variety with excellent stand persistence.

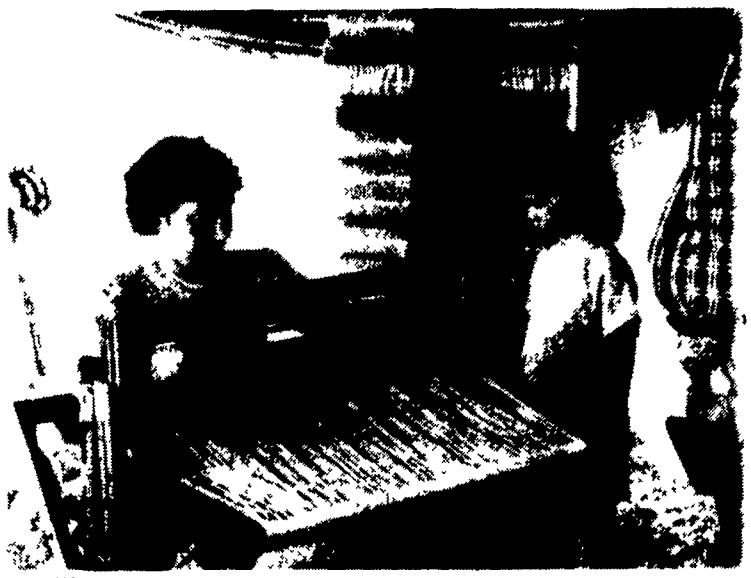
Americana Crafts Demonstrated At Ag Progress

BY LISA RISSER

ROCK SPRINGS (Centre) — A new highlight at this year's Ag Progress Days was the Heritage Crafts Tent, which featured Pennsylvania artists and craftsmen versed in various of the day-to-day skills of the Early Americans. Artists displayed and demonstrated their crafts and talked to visitors during the three-day event.

Here is a hodge-podge of the talent that gathered August 16 to 18.

By the time Ag Progress was over, Perley Bowen hoped to have crafted enough roofing shingles to cover the outhouse that is part of his business establishment, Bowen's Schoolhouse. One in a long line of carpenters, Bowen is self taught and has been working with wood for 40 years.



Ellen Meneely shows visitors to Ag Progress how to weave. The owner of Elm Studio in Punxsutawney, Meneely began weaving three years ago while still an accountant. Now she works full time creating clothing and housewares. Meneely also was a part of the winning Sheep To Shawl team at the Farm Show.

Whether lilies, mums, buttercups, wild roses, or daisies, Robert Zorn creates them from wood with the help of his wife, Carol. The Tidioute man uses woods such as butternut, cedar, cherry, and sumac. Here he demonstrates carving a mum.

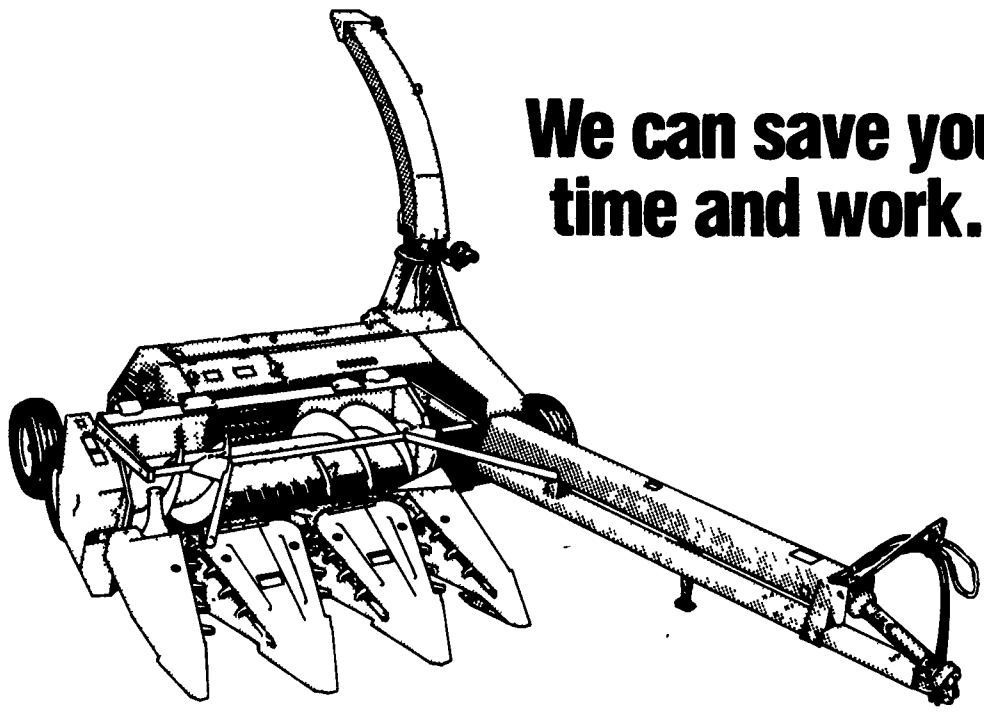
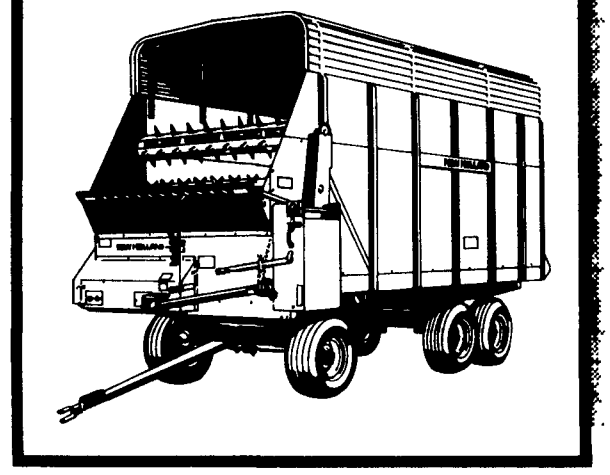
WITH NEW HOLLAND HARVESTERS EFFICIENCY IS BUILT IN, NOT ADDED ON.



We can save you time and work.

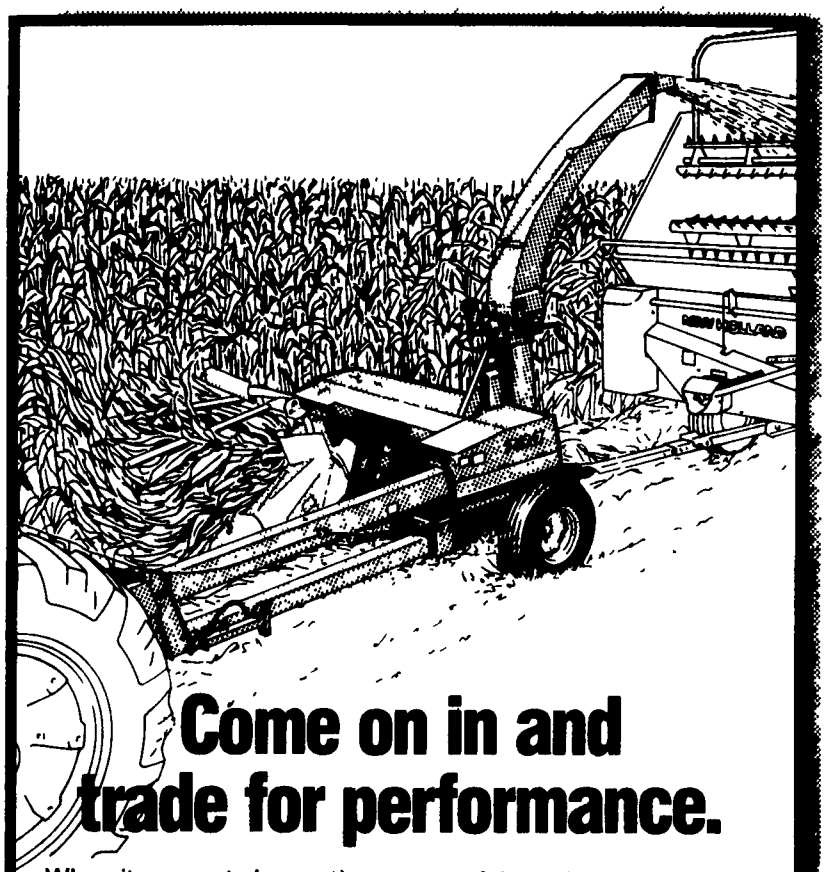
You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut high-quality forage. Other features on the 900 include:

- Metalert II electronic metal detector — protects cutterhead and your valuable animals
- Electromagnetic clutches — give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Easy-adjust shearbar — makes adjustment fast and precise.



WE CAN HELP YOU HAUL, UNLOAD FASTER.

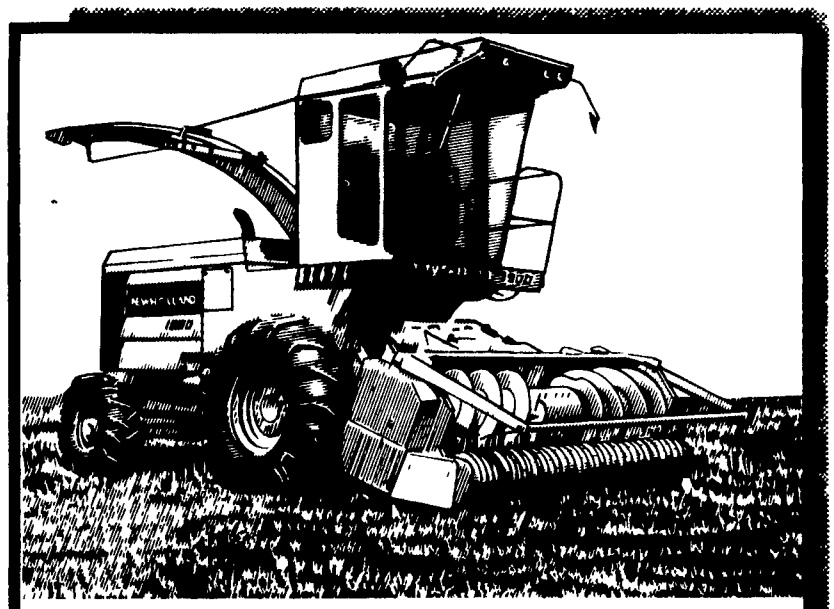
Stop In And See The New 716 Forage Box Today. It Has Unloading Speeds Of 2.39 And 5.40 Feet Per Minute. And Tough Duraply Sides Flex Under Heavy Loads For Long Dependability.



Come on in and trade for performance.

When it comes to harvesting, you can't beat the heavy-duty performance that's built into the New Holland Model 790 forage harvester. Performance starts at the cutterhead. The 19 11/16-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop that's just right for most silage feeding operations. And an electric clutch gives instant response and positive control on the reversing gearbox. The Model 790 is available with either a 540 rpm or 1000 rpm PTO drive.

Stop in today and trade for the performance leader in harvesters — the 790 from Ford New Holland.



Let us demonstrate the winner in self-propelled harvesting.

If you custom harvest as well as chop your own forage, a self-propelled harvester like the Model 1900 could help you harvest more crop at peak quality. The fuel-efficient 270-horsepower diesel engine and the 24-inch, 12-knife cutterhead give you high capacity for day in and day out harvesting. And an interchangeable crophead system features one auger base feed system that lets you mount either a four- or five-row cornhead or a Super-Sweep windrow pickup.

Stop in and let us show you the other features of this Whopper Chopper. Or better yet, let's set up a time to demonstrate this harvester in your own field.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

As I start to write this article, I think how nice it is to have an excuse to sit down. It is early morning but I'm hot already as I just put the soaker hose back in my garden. We had some good rains in July but now it is dry again.

We've been eating cantaloupe and watermelon recently. But, so has a groundhog who found them to his liking also. A poultry netting fence has been placed around the latest planting of beans to try and save them from being devoured.

Yesterday Allen took a calf to market and stopped on the way home and bought a basket of peaches. At the same time, I was at the grocery store and got a basket of peaches too and so I know what my work will be this afternoon. Besides canning and freezing them, I'll probably make a batch of jam although I really don't need it as I don't have the jelly eaters that I used to have when the six children were home.

A few weeks ago our daughter in Atlanta had her first baby. This is our fifth grandchild and she was one of those 8-8-88 babies. They even gave her my middle name of Elizabeth — that was a pleasant surprise. I'll probably not see the baby until Christmas but Judy phones me quite often to tell me the news of her family.

My mother would not have liked the bucket of potatoes that I dug this morning as they are huge. She disliked big potatoes but I find that they are fine for French fries. That is one dish that always gets emptied at our table. I can't say as much for kale, chard and cabbage.

The Hemline Dilemma

PHILADELPHIA — In a quandary about how long or short to make your hemline? Take heart and listen to the designers trying to predict next Fall's hemlines. Marc Bohan of Dior: "Short is the most modern, current look." Calvin Klein: "Very short is finished. Bringing back long won't be confusing if it looks different than what women have in their closets."

Still confused? Then maybe you agree with Ralph Lauren's statement: "I have never believed in one length." Or perhaps Carolyn Roehm sums it up best: "I have mixed emotions about lengths. We'll do both lengths — but I'm doing lots of pants." So what should you do for spring and summer? Pants might be one solution but don't rule out another possibility. This mixed analysis of hemline length provides us with options, not edicts, and allows us to choose which lengths to wear. Just don't overdo in any one direction.

The choice between a new and exciting shorter hemline or staying with a more romantic longer length will depend on what's best for your lifestyle and figure type. Age will also factor into your length considerations. Below the knee or mid-knee will be perceived as short on a more mature figure, while a youthful figure will look great in a mid-thigh length. But perhaps the most practical approach is to choose a length that relates to what you are doing.

Most people look good in more than one length and can enjoy different lengths for different occasions. For business, stay conservative. Frivolous extremes ranging from above the knee, to just above the ankle lend themselves to eveningwear. And even if you generally prefer mid-calf, this spring and summer you might want to update your wardrobe with a few short skirts or skorts (split skirt) for a sporty, more casual look after work.

Under the SUN

The miracles of natural products, combined with technology, promise a more profitable future for farmers.

MIRACLE FEEDS, Inc., Your "By-Products Specialists", combines the miracle of nature with today's technology to bring you greater profits. One option is Wet Brewers Grains.

WHAT ARE WET BREWERS GRAINS? In the brewing of beer, only the highest quality barley and other cereal grains are used. Wet brewers grains are the portion of the grains that remain following the extraction of carbohydrates that takes place in the brewing process. They provide protein, fat and energy as well as essential minerals — while lowering your feed cost.

For FREE information about The Miracle Feeds Program write or call the office listed below. We'll do everything "Under the Sun" to help your feeding program.

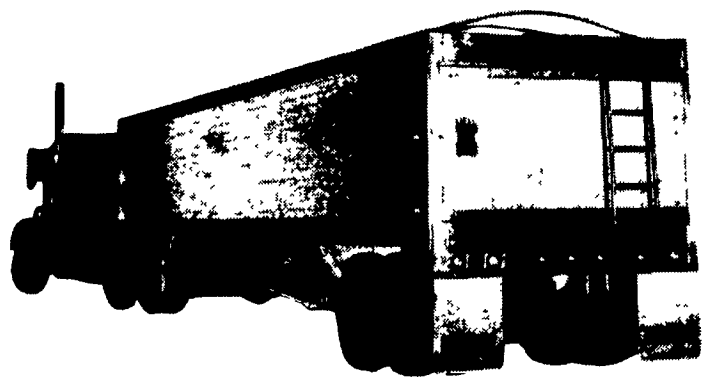
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER



Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

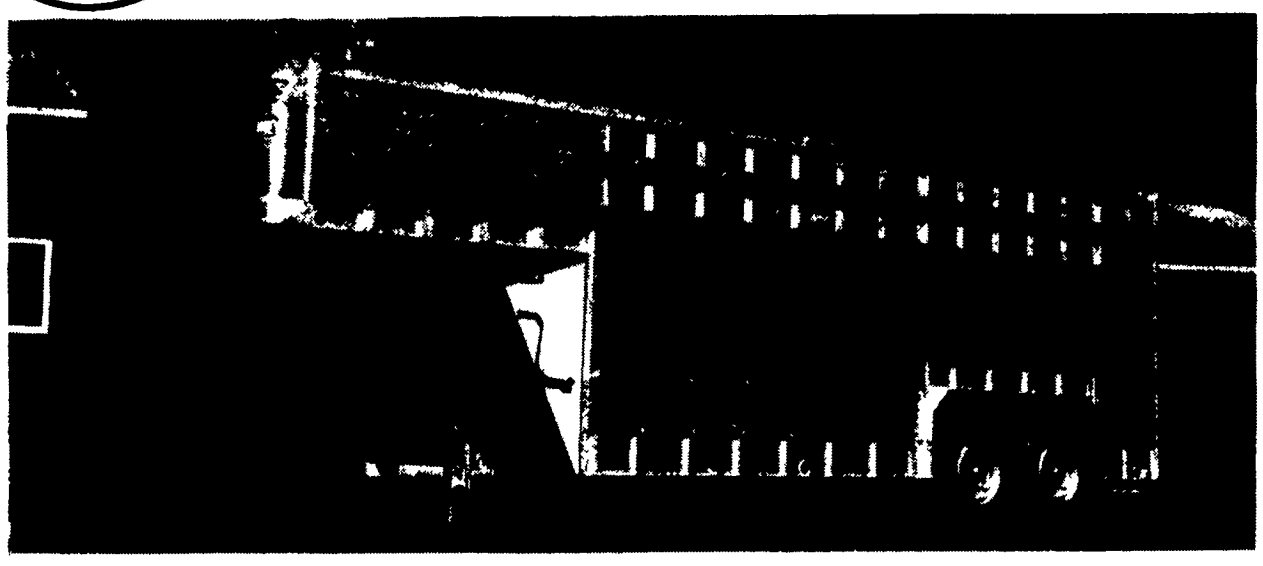
ALUMINUM GOOSENECK TRAILERS



20' Gooseneck Trailer

A versatile, lightweight, Eby aluminum stock trailer is built to provide years of maintenance free service. An Eby trailer is custom built to fit your individual hauling needs - No mass production! We use only quality components and strong alloy aluminum to manufacture what may be the last trailer you'll ever buy.

- LIGHTWEIGHT - Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY - Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

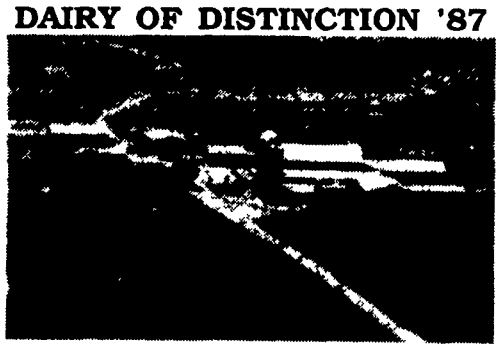
DAIRY OF DISTINCTION '87



This is a modern dairy farm - Something to be proud of!! 338 Ac. (M/L) mostly Hagerstown Soil in high state of cultivation. The buildings are located near the middle of the land for a very convenient operation. Note: picture is lane not public hwy. Over 200 free stalls - double 4+1 milking parlor, 2000 gal. bulk tank, new barn 1985 (burned) open on 2nd floor for freedom to move equip. or bales. Many different combinations of pens by moving gates one way or another. Modern facilities for calves and an extra barn for heifers - 2 nice equip. sheds - 2 wings on main barn to separate high & low producers. Farmtronic computer system so each cow can eat accordingly to production.

Includes 3 - 20x60 & 1-20x70 & 1-20x80 Blue silos. Also 2-20x60 Fickes silos all rigged up with conveyors & feed bunks to mix almost any combination from silos.

This setting is just East of a mountain range near the Maryland line in Franklin Co., Pa. (Montgomery Twp) in an intense farm community.

Sale includes 2 modern large ranch style homes in addition to the 2½ story brick farm house which is very nicely remodeled.

While it is true the drought has hit this area quite hard, the owner tells me he lived there 50 years & this is only the third dry spell of this magnitude in all those years. So think of it in terms of overall investment & give me a call today to see this "Dairy of Distinction."

Farm Philosophy

By Newton Bair

LET'S GO ON A BEAR HUNT

In our travels around the fringes of civilization, we always include a hunt for bears. You see, Mrs. Bair collects 'em, not with a gun, but with cash, camera, or credit card. It seems to be a natural thing to do, since it has something to do with our bloodlines. Our forebears were identified by such names as Bar, Bare, Baer, Bear, etc., including the present spelling. So plese bear with me - I'll try to stick to the bare facts.

The treck to Alaska with a group of rural people last month was billed as a farm tour. We did visit farms (nearly all 15 of them, it turned out), but we couldn't resist the temptation to visit the parks, zoos, museums and of course the gift shops. Those are all places where bears are known to hang out.

For avid bear collectors like us, Alaska is a paradise. Some tourists prefer moose watching, with an occasional sighting of a caribou or eagle. But nothing can compare with the thrill of seeing a live grizzly bear, expecially from the safe haven of a bus. For a bonus, we even sighted a mother grizzly with twin cubs. They were, of course, wild and free, in their native habitat: the high tundra of Denali, near Mt. McKinley. I was fortunately able to bring home a fair picture of a grizzly's rear end, which is the safest place to be when close to a grizzly. A mug shot would mean he's reading the menu for lunch.

Those were the only breathing, non-stuffed bears that we encountered in Alaska. But we never got very far from the other kind. I mean the fierce 1,200 pounders that were supposedly brought down by some lucky hunter with a bow and arrow, or wrestled to a draw by a less lucky fisherman who should be sharing the showcase with the poor bear. Every hotel in Alaska has a polar bear or grizzly in the window, and every restaurant worth it's $26.50 entree, sports a stuffed bear in the lobby. At the lodge in Denali Park, visitors are greeted by a life-size brown bear, carved from a pine stump by a chain-saw artist!

All of the aforementioned bears were too big for our collection anyway, so we set our sights on something a little more portable. The only problem here is making a choice between bears carved of black spruce, which grows all over Alaska, or those made of reindeer bone, walrus ivory, Alaska jade, Dahl sheep horn, or moulded moose nuggets (found wherever moose graze, which is all over Alaska). If you want to mortgage the farm, you could even buy bear jewelry made of Alaska gold. We were tempted by those pretty little scenes of a mama bear catching a fish for her cubs. They are mounted in a sparkly cavelike setting made from a quartz geode, or else standing on a shiny crystal of fool's gold. But all of these were deemed too heavy for our luggage, which was already giving me a hernia. "Wait till we get to Sitka or Ketchikan, then we won't have to carry it so far".

We had a fleeting glimpse of an Alaska brown bear fishing for salmon in Glacier Bay. He wasn't much more than a brown spot, separated from the ship by an icy half-mile of glacier chilled water. We would have missed him if the naturalist on board hadn't pointed him out. I got a good picture of the mountain and the glacier, but you have to take my word for the bear.

The hunt for a bear to add to our collection ended in Skagway. Our trophy was spotted in a fur shop, next to Soapy Smith's saloon. I heard a small shriek, just as I slammed the bat-wing doors, and there it was, just waiting for us in the furriers show case. A snowy white polar bear, no more than eight inches long, with REAL FUR. Pretty as a picture, and quite harmless, a suitable mate for our other bears. I bagged it with a single shot from the trusty Mastercard.

We learned later that its fur is from a genuine Holstein calf. But no matter, it looks enough like polar bear fur to fool anyone but an Eskimo.

Foreigners Reminded Of 90-Day Reporting Rule

WEST CHESTER (Chester) — Foreign investors who have bought or sold agricultural land in either Chester or Delaware counties are reminded to report these transactions to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) within 90 days of the closing.

"The Foreign Disclosure Report is required by law, and those who fail to report or who are late in reporting face possible fines," George A. Stickels, county executive director of the Chester/Delaware ASCS office, said. The Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act requires all foreign owners of U.S. agricultural land to report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases of 10 years or more, and land-use changes to ASCS.

According to Stickels, foreign investors have reported owning about 12.5 million acres of land in the United States as of December 31, 1987. In Pennsylvania, foreign-owned agricultural land totaled 165,614 acres for 1987.

For reporting purposes, Stickels said agricultural land is defined as any tract of more than 10 acres now in agricultural, forestry, or timber production. "This includes land in agricultural use when purchased, as well as land later converted to agricultural use." He said foreigners who own or have an interest in 10 acres or less do not need to report unless annual proceeds from the sale of agricultural products grown on these acres exceed $1,000.

Individuals or companies that specialize in land holdings, land transfers, or management services should contact the local ASCS office for details on reporting in behalf of foreign clients.

HAPPENINGS

Robert Savers of New Berlin has worked to improve his parent's farm, and has been rewarded with the state home and farmstead improvement proficiency award.

Three members of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter have been selected to receive Pennsylvania FFA proficiency awards. Jonathan Boop, Alan Kaler, and Robert Sauers are 1988 graduates of the Mifflinburg Area High School. At the present time their eight-page applications plus photos are competing at the national level against FFA members from the Eastern Region of the United States. If selected as one of the four national finalists, they will be traveling to the National FFA Convention in November. The state awards certificates and $100 at the Pennsylvania FFA Mid-Winter Convention held during Farm Show week this coming January.

Jonathan Boop was selected to receive the feed grain production proficiency award, which is awarded by the FFA Foundation and Pioneer Hi-Bred International. It is presented to the Pennsylvania FFA member who uses modern management practices in the production and marketing of crops such as barley, millet, buckwheat, oats, corn and grain sorghum.

Jon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boop of Millmont. He raises oats and corn to feed the dairy animals on the family farm. He also has a dairy herd and winter wheat projects. Jon was the president of the Mifflinburg FFA chapter, vice president of the SUN Area FFA and a member of the parliamentary procedure teams that placed first, second, and fifth in state competition. Jon had the reserve champion FFA Holstein at the 1987 Pennsylvania Junior Dairy show and participated in All-American Dairy Show. Jon received proficiency awards for cereal grain, small grain and forage crop production on the chapter level. He received state project record book awards and was awarded the Keystone Degree in January. This fall he will be studying diesel mechanics at the Williamsport Area Community College. He eventually plans to go into dairy farming.

Alan C. Kaler was selected to receive the forage production proficiency award which is awarded by the FFA Foundation and Gehl Company and Northrup King. It is awarded to the Pennsylvania FFA member who uses modern management practices in the production and marketing of crops such as sorghum and other grain forages, alfalfa, clover, bromegrass, corn and grass silages and pastures.

Alan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kaler of Millmont. He started his forage project two years ago to provide corn silage and hay for his growing dairy herd. He began with five acres of alfalfa hay, then added four acres of alfalfa and six of corn silage. He has increased the forage production to 17 acres of corn silage and 30 acres of alfalfa hay. He also is growing corn, oats, and soybeans.

Kaler placed first in the Pennsylvania FFA tractor driving competition and placed second in national competition held at the Eastern State Expo in 1987. He placed 10th in the Pennsylvania FFA public speaking contest in June and was awarded the Keystone Degree in January. Alan has placed in the county conservation public speaking contest and in the silage, hay, corn, and oats classes at the West End Fair. He also has exhibited hay at Ag Progress Days. Kaler is serving on the Union County Extension Executive Committee. At the present time Alan is renting a farm from his grandfather, which he plans to purchase at a later date.

Robert Sauers was selected to receive the home and farmstead improvement proficiency award, which is awarded by the FFA Foundation and Tuco, Asgrow and O's Gold Agricultural Division of Upjohn. It is awarded to the Pennsylvania FFA member who has activities to make the home and/or farmstead a more desirable place in which to live and work.

Rob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Robert Sauers of New Berlin. He has worked to beautify the home and conducted various improvement projects, included renovating buildings on Sauers Haven Farms for the past four years. They have included landscaping at his home, tearing down an old barn and helping with the construction of a new building, repairing and painting equipment and buildings. He plans to construct new pens to house a 60-calf veal operation in the farm's barn, paint the one barn and shed, and attend classes to learn how to do embryo transplants and artificial insemination.

Sauers was named the North Central FFA star agribusinessman when he received the Keystone Degree this past January. He served as vice president of the Mifflinburg FFA Chapter and Union County vice president of the SUN Area. He was named star greenhand and star chapter farmer. Sauers was a member of the parliamentary procedure teams that placed second and fifth in the state. He also was awarded the scholarship awarded and numerous project book awards. Sauers is working on Sauers Haven Farms and plans to become more involved with the dairy management of the farm.

Reading Fair

For the 33rd year the 1988 Reading Fair will again honor an outstanding farm family in Berks County together with four young people who have made outstanding achievements in agriculture or home economics.

Two of these young people are chosen by the Berks County Cooperative Extension Service on their Blue Forms of Achievements as the top boy and girl in 4-H work. The two others are chosen from Vocational Agriculture as the Outstanding Future Farmers of America (girl and boy) who have excelled in their projects for the year.

The award for the outstanding family is a $600 gift certificate and for each of the young people it is a $100 Hamilton Bank Growth Bond.

These four young people, their families together with the Outstanding Farm Family chosen for 1988 will be honored by the Reading Fair at the Awards Banquet, September 7, 1988 at the Fleetwood Grange Hall.

Also in attendance will be all former Farm Families honored by the Fair since 1956 plus the Board of Directors, their spouses and the Fair Committee Chairpersons.

The guest speaker will be The Honorable Boyd Wolff, Secretary of Agriculture from Harrisburg.

The Fair in 1988 will again follow in the tradition of the past by placing a strong emphasis on agriculture and giving young people the opportunity to excel in showing cattle and exhibiting.

The date of the 1988 Reading Fair is September 19th to the 24th.

Shippensburg Fair

Shippensburg will host the Eighth Annual Corn Festival on Saturday, August 27, from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. More than 250 crafts vendors will be set up throughout the Historic District, which becomes a large walking mall for the day. A dozen food vendors will offer a variety of good homemade foods, most of them containing corn. There will be live entertainment on a temporary stage in town center, strolling musicians and dancers, and an antique car exhibit.

The day will begin with a local church and fire company serving breakfast at 6:00 a.m. A biathalon starts off at 8:00 a.m. at the community center. All day demonstrations will include blacksmithing, quilting, lye soapmaking, potting, a working still making whiskey from corn squeezins'; and "fleece to shawl", which demonstrates spinning, carding, and weaving.

The annual Corn Recipe Cookoff will pick winners in five categories. Antique merchandise displays as well as modern sidewalk sales are featured by local retailers.

The Corn Festival is sponsored by SHARP, the Shippensburg Historical and Recreational Preservation committee, and is organized by a group of local volunteers headed by Rose Dillner and Becky Myers. More information is available from the Chamber of Commerce, (717) 532-5509.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Columbia County 4-H Week Winners

Columbia County was awarded nine team and many individual honors at the 1988 Penn State 4-H Week at the Pennsylvania State University's main campus on July 25 through 28.

More than 1200 4-H members throughout the state participated in judging and demonstration contests. Awards were presented by Dr. B. Alan Snider, assistant director of 4-H youth programs for Penn State's Cooperative Extension.

Teams representing Columbia County placed first in Junior Archery and earned distinguished honors in Horse Judging, Air Pistol, Rifle, Horse Bowl, Hippology, Air Rifle and Clothing and Textiles. Kim Beishline, of Bloomsburg and the Mt. Pleasant 4-H Club, won the top individual honor with the high score in .22 rifle competition.

Pennsylvania's 4-H Achievement Days were designed to award participants who demonstrate solid skills and knowledge in selected subject areas. Members are invited to meet other 4-H youth from around the state while developing self-confidence and high standards.

Select Sires Dedicates New Building

Plain City, OH. A crowd of 2,000 dairymen and beef producers representing 20 different states attended Select Sires' dedication of the new Howard C. Kellgren Production Center of July 27, 1988, at its headquarters, Plain City, Ohio.

The production facility is named in honor of Howard C. Kellgren, Vice President and Director of Production at Select. Kellgren has served in the production phase of A.I. for over 30 years and has provided dedicated service to Select for the past 18 years.

"The dedication is both a tribute to Howard Kellgren and Select Sires," said Dr. James Nichols, Dean of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and former Select Sires General Manager, during the afternoon program. "To Howard because of his long, dedicated, and capable service, which has positively impacted the credibility and stature of Select, and also to the organization for having the good sense and grace to publicly recognize and acknowledge the worth of his work."

General Manager, Richard Chichester talked about "Growing into the year 2000" and what will make that growth both possible and successful.

"In planning for the future we shall not abandon the values that got Select Sires here in the first place," remarked Chichester. "We shall not abandon the pursuit of the best genetics in the industry."

Speaking directly to his colleague, Chichester closed, "Howard Kellgren, we're happy to join you today to witness together another milestone in Select's continued effort in the pursuit of excellence."

The afternoon program, "Come Grow With Us", was emceed by Ron Long, Vice President-Sire Procurement and Evaluation. President Fred Friday welcomed all guests, including all members of Kellgren's immediate family, to the memorable and historic day.

The Howard C. Kellgren Production Center consists of 33,580 square feet and was designed and engineered by Jerry Wille of Curry, Wille and Associates, Ames, Iowa. The new state-of-the-art production facility consists of 53 comfort box stalls, ranging in size from 13'5" x 13'4" to 13'5" x 20'1".

Fifteen of the box stalls are air-conditioned and kept at a constant 70 degrees F. The remaining 38 pens are kept under constant computerized climate control. Other features in the new facility include three sick bay pens, a foot bath, electronic scale, formal welcome area, conference room and kitchen. In addition, visitors can safely view collection through large glass windows, without coming in direct contact with the bulls.

In addition four of Select Sires' staff: Richard Chichester, General Manager; Howard Kellgren, Vice President and Director of Production; Stan Cameron, vice president - purchasing and plant management; and Dale Pennington, farm and livestock manager; were involved with the building committee's decision making.

Come On In & Trade For Performance

When it comes to harvesting, you can't beat the heavy-duty performance that's built into the New Holland Model 790 forage harvester. Performance starts at the cutterhead. The 19 11/16-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop that's just right for most silage feeding operations. And an electric clutch gives instant response and positive control on the reversing gearbox. The Model 790 is available with either a 540 rpm or 1000 rpm PTO drive.

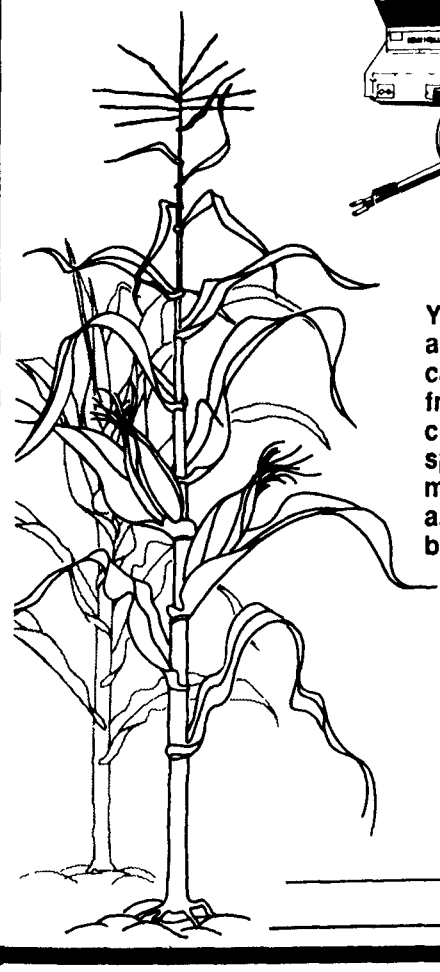
Stop in today and trade for the performance leader in harvesters — the 790 from Ford New Holland.

You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut high-quality forage. Other features on the 900 include:

- Metalert II electronic metal detector — protects cutterhead and your valuable animals
- Electromagnetic clutches — give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives.
- Easy-adjust shearbar — makes adjustment fast and precise.

Stop in soon and see the Model 900.

NH 716 Forage Box



We Can Help You Haul, Unload Faster

You can unload any crop quickly and efficiently with the new big capacity Model 716 forage box from Ford New Holland. Roller chain drive provides unloading speeds of 2.39 and 5.40 feet per minute. For a closer look, stop in and see us about this new forage box.

N.H. 40 Forage Blower

Fills Silos 80 Feet And Higher

The Model 40 forage blower, with 20% greater tip speed than previous models, center fills silos over 80 feet in height. The 1,000-rpm driveline and 48-inch diameter Whirl-A-Feed® hopper means the Model 40 works fast. See the Model 40 at our store today.

Our Trunnion Bearing is designed to mount on our C-Flex™ spring cushioned bearing standard and is allowed to self-align as the gang flexes. Part of the secret to the Trunnion Bearings' longevity is 2-triple lip seals and metal seal washers that prevent dirt from contaminating the inner workings of the regreasable bearing. Excellent seal protection, of course, reduces wear and helps eliminate premature bearing failure.

MAGNUM

IS SUPERIOR FOR MANY REASONS

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years. Here's why you'll get more out of it:

MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 505 cubic inch turbocharged engine with reserve power. MAGNUM power.

The MAGNUM tractor's powershift puts 18-speeds of shift-on-the-go workpower at your fingertips — standard. And only MAGNUM tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from .5 to 2.1 mph... for more control and performance. MAGNUM performance.

The MAGNUM tractor's new larger cab has 48 square feet of window area.. virtually unobstructed visibility... more room... and more seating comfort. MAGNUM comfort.

It all adds up: Case IH MAGNUM tractors are setting new standards for the 130-195 PTO hp power range and for you. See us for details.

MAGNUM means more.

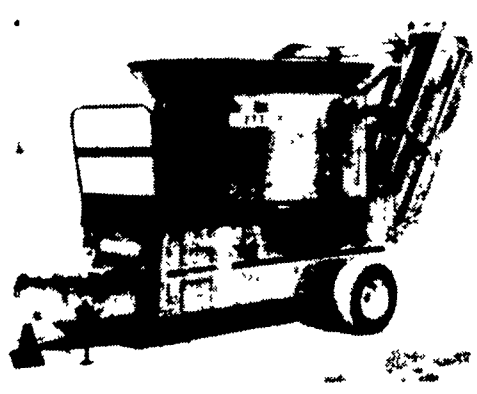
WE SELL QUALITY GRINDERS

Here Is A Unique Opportunity To Earn Extra Profit From Sawmill Operations



Turn Thousands Of Tons Of Waste Material Into Profit With This Heavy Duty Grinder!

Wood bark was considered waste material only a few years ago. These mountains of bark, both hardwood and pine, also created disposal problems. Now these wood wastes are put through a Farmhand Tub Grinder which reduces the bark into a specific particle size. The end products are sold both in bags and in bulk by the truckload. They are in demand by lawn and garden supply outlets, golf courses, nurseries, parks and landscapers.

case IH Axial-Flow Combine

HERE'S THE INSIDE DIFFERENCE:

1. An impeller on the front of the rotor draws the crop and air into the rotor and threshing cage.
2. The single rotor threshes and separates the crop. Speed of rotation can be adjusted on the go.
3. Torque-sensing rotor drive automatically regulates belt tension in relation to load.
4. Three-section concaves can be removed and reinstalled by one man in less than 30 minutes. Small-wire and large-wire concaves are available to match different crops. Clearance is easily adjusted with a ratchet handle.
5. A variety of separating grates are available to best handle almost any crop you'll be harvesting.
6. Augers move the grain smoothly, positively to the cleaning sieves. Grain can't bunch up, even on steep hillsides.
7. Opposed-action adjustable sieves remove chaff from the grain.
8. Advanced-design cleaning fan with variable speed drive removes any chaff and foreign material that remains.
9. Positive discharge beater propels straw rearward to the straw spreaders. (Straw chopper is optional.)
10. Wide spread twin-rotor straw spreaders distribute discharge material uniformly and can be removed in seconds for windrowing material.

Why Axial-Flow is superior. On conventional combines, the grain passes between the cylinder and concave only once. Consequently, the threshing action is severe. But with Axial-Flow, grain is threshed several times — repeatedly, but gently — as it spirals around the single, large diameter rotor and passes through the threshing cage. Multiple threshing plus gentle threshing results in less cracked grain, less dockage at the elevator and top price for every bushel.

Centrifugal force replaces straw walkers. Axial-Flow eliminates the need for straw walkers — a substantial source of grain loss with conventional combines. Consequently, the more grain you grow, the more grain you'll save with the more efficient Axial-Flow system.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

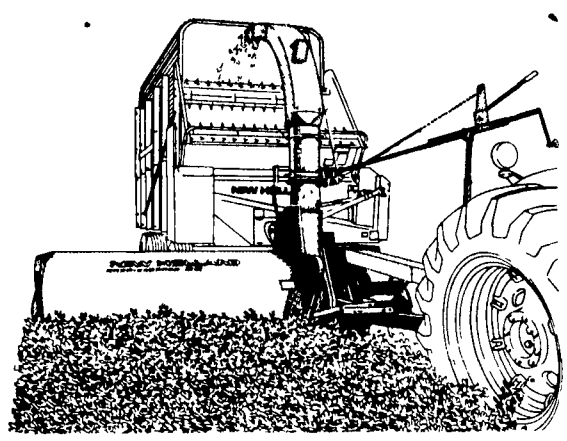
Exclusive – 12-knife cutterhead

High quality feed is important to you So you'll like the fine uniform chop you get from the Model 718 forage harvester It's the only medium duty chopper available with a 12 knife cutterhead to give you a controlled even cut The uniform length of cut makes for easier unloading blowing storing and feeding And you can choose from four crop ving heads—a one or two row cornhead a windrow pickup or a sicklebar

Fill silos fast

The Model 30 forage blower has only one speed—FAST It keeps up with your harvester and wagons and fills silos quickly The secret of the Model 30's capacity is its 1,000 rpm driveline and the Whirl A Feed hopper that gives the crop a running start before entering the blower And the hopper is a whopping 48 inches in diameter for reduced spillage If you're looking for a blower with amazing capacity ask us about the Model 30



All-seasons chopper

A Crop Chopper is perfect for a variety of chopping jobs Use it to cut green feed make bedding out of cornstalks or straw or shred and spread cornstalks for mulching It can even mow weeds or clear small brush and stubble

"Consider The Concrete Advantages"

Poured concrete silos since 1908. Now in our 80th year and recognized as the leading silo manufacturer in the east. This quality storage system is available now. Top unloading - bottom unloading - and the unique Big Jim System.

Solid 6" concrete wall, heavily reinforced with hi grade steel, and equipped with concrete chute, fill pipe, ladder, safety cage and aluminized steel roof. Our conventional top unloading silo has a door system 2nd to none!

FACT: Our poured concrete wall has 780 times more heat-resisting ability than steel. Heat damage occurs when stored feed is heated above 95° F. Our silo protects your feed quality.

MASTER MIX

SILO-BOOSTER

REDUCING THE LEVEL OF NITRATE IN HEAT STRESSED CORN SILAGE

Why should you use Master Mix SILO-BOOSTER instead of another product? SILO-BOOSTER has been proven in 21 years of on-farm use, as well as in continuous university research. With each new discovery in silage science, we have improved the original formula. Today's SILO-BOOSTER gives the most effective silage inoculant yet developed.

Laboratory analysis of both treated and untreated silages confirms the increased production of lactic acid by the bacterial cultures in SILO-BOOSTER.

	SILO-BOOSTER TREATED	CONTROL
Lactic acid % (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	2.35%	1.83%
pH (average of 11 measurements from day 1 to day 30)	3.98%	3.96%

While both silages showed very similar changes in total pH change; the SILO-BOOSTER treated silage contained more lactic acid. The homofermentive production of lactic acid by SILO-BOOSTER cultures reduces the potential for dry matter losses and the generation of excessive heat of fermentation.

COMPARISON OF SILO-BOOSTER TREATED AND CONTROL SILAGES

Fed To High Producing Dairy Cows

Statistics conducted on weekly totals.

SILO-BOOSTER treated silage was able to generate income per ton of forage feed. With milk valued at $ .125 per pound; butterfat at $ .17 per point; forage at $ .045 per pound of dry matter, and the concentrate portions at $ .08 per pound; SILO-BOOSTER silage returned $4.90 for each $1.00 invested in inoculant.

APPLICATION: 1 Lb. of SILO-BOOSTER per ton of Forage.
2 Lbs. of SILO-BOOSTER per ton of High Moisture Ear Corn.

Water Needs for Hogs

This year's drought has created a lot of concern for water -- and not just because it's a handy medium for cleaning, cooling and flushing. Hog producers know that as a nutrient, nothing ranks higher than water. From a practical sense, feed intake hinges on an adequate water supply. From a biochemical sense, virtually everything that happens in the body thrives on and depends on water.

QUANTITY

Pigs normally drink a little more than a quart of water with every pound of feed they eat. Hot weather, boredom and high salt levels in the feed increase water needs. High salt and mineral levels in the water may also increase consumption -- to a point. If salt or mineral levels get too high, water intake will drop. Some typical water consumption rates:

Pig Weight	Quarts/day
Up to 30 lbs	1
30 - 80 lbs	2
80 - 130 lbs	5
130 lbs & over	6
Pregnant sow	8
Lactating sow	16-21

(Adapted from Natl Hog Farmer, '84)

Pigs (and sows) on full feed should have free access to water to maximize feed intake. Water can be restricted somewhat for limit fed animals. For example, sows getting five pounds of feed per day need no more than three gallons of water under normal conditions. And some commercial feeding systems successfully combine limited access to both feed and water for growing-finishing pigs.

NUMBER OF WATERERS

Too many waterers is better than not enough. Pigs fight for the water fountain just as they do for the feeder. A rough rule of thumb is to provide one waterer for every 10 to 15 pigs with a minimum of two per pen. Keep the fountains far enough apart, at least 1 1/2 to 2 feet, so pigs can drink without aggravating each other.

FLOW RATE

Studies at South Dakota State University and the University of Minnesota show that when flow rates are less than 1/2 cup per minute, pigs spend more time drinking but they still consume less water than pigs getting at least 3 cups/minute through the waterer. Sows on restricted water flow tend to eat less and lose more weight during lactation.

While limited research has been done to define the best water flow rate from a waterer, here are suggested values:

Stage of Prod	Flow Rate
10-25 lbs	1 cup/min
25-50 lbs	2 cups/min
50-125 lbs	3 cups/min
125-market wt	1 quart/min
Sows and boars	1-2 quarts/min
Lactating sows	2 quarts/min

TYPE OF WATERER

The best waterer provides fresh water, requires little maintenance and stands a lot of abuse. For most stages of production it's tough to find a waterer that will do a better job than a nipple. Sows housed in gestation stalls could also drink from a continuous concrete trough with a valve at one end. The only concern with continuous troughs is that some diseases (such as TGE or pseudorabies) are quickly spread in a trough.

For baby pigs, water isn't too important until they start consuming a significant amount of creep feed (3 weeks for most operations).

However, 3/8 inch nipples work well. Bowl or cup waterers, while less sanitary than nipples, probably have better acceptance with baby pigs.

MOUNTING THE WATERER

Nipple waterers work nicely when mounted horizontally. Many folks suggest pointing the nipple down at a 45 degree angle to prevent wastage. I'm not convinced that will reduce wastage at all, but if nipples are mounted on an angle, they should be mounted an inch or two higher than the pigs back line. A study from the University of Nebraska did find that pointing the nipple up on a 45 degree angle created clogging problems with the feed particles.

WATER QUALITY

While this has been getting a lot of attention in recent years, effects of changes in water quality on pigs is still open to estimation. Here are suggested quality values (adapted from EPA standards, 1973 and the National Academy of Sciences, 1974):

Total Dissolved Solids (TDS, also total dissolved salts) - Avoid using water for swine when TDS levels exceed 5000 ppm. High levels are more of a problem during hot weather, pregnancy and lactation. Watch for low consumption rates or milking problems.

Total Coliforms - This is a measure of total E. Coli present in the sample. While all strains of E. Coli are not harmful, total coliforms provide an indicator of contamination. 5000 coliforms/100 ml should be a maximum. If the value approaches this, look for sources of contamination.

Fecal Coliforms - These are the E. Coli bacteria originating from manure. Don't use the water for swine when fecal coliforms exceed 1000/100 ml. High levels usually lead to diarrhea or mastitis problems.

Nitrates - This form of nitrogen can be tolerated at moderate levels by the pig. Some estimates place the maximum level at 440 ppm. I would prefer that 100 ppm (23 ppm nitrate nitrogen) be the maximum level. Even at this level, the source of contamination should be located and contained if practical. Nitrites are much more toxic than nitrates. Nitrite level should not exceed 30 ppm. High levels can lead to stillborn pigs.

Toxic Metals

Element	Maximum Level, ppm
Aluminum	5.0
Arsenic	0.2
Cadmium	0.05
Copper	1.0
Iron	No limit
Lead	0.1
Mercury	0.001
Zinc	25.0

Commercial laboratories or your health department can usually assist in water analysis. For routine sampling, annual checks for total dissolved solids, nitrates, total coliforms and fecal coliforms are probably adequate. For diagnosing production problems, it's often wise to at least rule out water problems.

Remember that pigs consume more pounds of water each day than any other nutrient. Be sure you give it the attention it deserves.

Two Lancaster County 4-H Teams Win Top Honors

LANCASTER — Eight Lancaster County 4-H'ers teamed together and came home with two wins from the Penn State 4-H Week.

The meats identification team, consisting of Rob Rush of Strasburg, Carey Donches of Manheim, Mike Craig of Nottingham, and Anna Marie Frey of Quarryville, are tops in the state, beating out other county teams. The junior livestock judging team also is first in the state. The judging team is composed of Dwain Livengood of Lancaster, Greg Harnish and Elizabeth Hess of Manheim, and Jason Wolgemuth of Elizabethtown.

More than 1,200 4-H members throughout the state participated in judging and demonstration contests. Awards were presented by Dr. B. Alan Snider, assistant director of 4-H youth programs for Penn State's cooperative extension.

York County 4-H Swine Roundup Held

YORK — York Co. 4-H Swine Roundup was held at the Weikert's Livestock Buying Station, Thomasville on Monday, August 8. The show was judged by Dennis Grumbine of Lebanon.

Champion lightweight was shown by Robin Shive of Seven Valleys. Reserve champion lightweight was shown by Sarah Kitzmiller of New Freedom. Champion mediumweight was shown by Bobbi Myers of Thomasville, while reserve champion was exhibited by Allan Werner of Hanover. Champion lightheavyweight was shown by Robin Shive of Seven Valleys, while Jason Frantz of Seven Valleys showed the reserve champion in that weight class. Champion heavyweight was owned by Allen Werner of Hanover, and the reserve champion was exhibited by Cindy Miller of York.

The grand champion was shown by Robin Shive, and her 230-pound market animal was sold to R.S. Delp & Sons, Inc. of Seven Valleys for $4.10 per pound. The reserve champion was shown by Jason Frantz, and sold to Hatfield Quality Meats for $1.50 per pound. The animal weighed 230 pounds.

Robin Shive exhibited the grand champion hog at the York County 4-H Swine Roundup. Scott Delp, and daughters, represented buyer R.S. Delp and Sons, Inc., and paid a record $4.10 pound for the 230-pound champion.

York County 4-H Swine

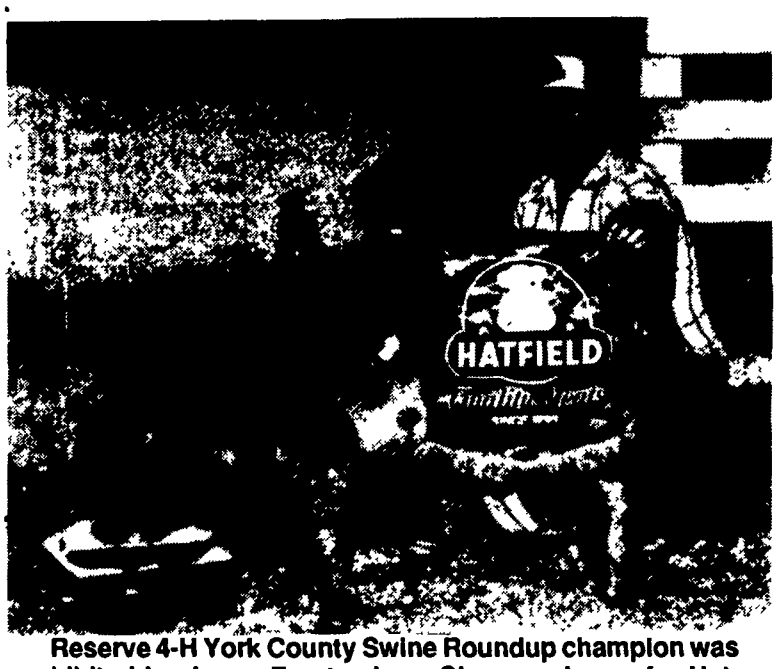
The champion pair was shown by Kim Frantz and went to Kennies Market of Spring Grove for $1 per pound. The reserve pair was shown by Bobbi Myers of Thomasville, and sold to Hatfield Quality Meats for $.85 per pound.

The 4-H members showed 63 head, which averaged $92.84 with the champions and $85.36 without the champions. Hatfield Quality Meats purchased 14 head and Gwaltney of Smithfield, Va., bought six head. Other buyers were Evergreen Tractor, McClarin Plastics, Glen Rock State Bank, W. L. Mummert, Leidy's, Gordon Snyder, Norwood McGuigan, Bankert's Durocs & Chester Whites, Robert Miller, Godfrey Bros., Peoples Bank of Glen Rock, Dave Holloway, Rutter's Livestock, Wildason Dairy Farm, Dale Myers, York Agway, Harry Bachman, Hoke Mills, & Farm Credit Services.

Champion fitter was Kris Miller of York, and reserve was Robin Shive. Champion showman was Greg Bankert of Hanover, and reserve was Steve Wherley.



Reserve 4-H York County Swine Roundup champion was exhibited by Jason Frantz. Jerry Clemens, buyer for Hatfield Quality Meats, purchased the runnerup champion at $1.50.

Bedford County Livestock Show Results

BY BETH GRAY
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD — A 1,242-pound black steer fed since last October by Ty Jay, 17, of Artemas emerged as grand champion in a 66-head steer show at the 115th Bedford County Fair here.

Judge John Comerford, Extension beef specialist at Penn State, pointing to the Everett Area Future Farmer of America's entry, said it was "a real combination steer with good dimension," adding that "he handles real well with a lot of natural thickness." The calf also was chosen heavyweight champion.

In the Fair's Junior Market Livestock Sale, Jay's steer sold for a record $6.25 a pound, purchased by American Outfitters of Bedford.

Jay bought the calf at a Uniontown sale where he had come from the farm of Don Witt, Champion, Pa.

Ten-year-old Nathan Claycomb of Osterburg stood in with the reserve grand champion steer, a black calf weighing 1,197 pounds and doubling as middleweight champ. Comerford said he liked the steer's combination of meatiness, muscle and condition.

Hoss's Steak and Sea House of Bedford bid a record of $3.30 a pound for the Claycomb calf.

Lightweight champion honors went to Brian Miller of Bedford who exhibited a 1047-lb. homebred Limousin that Comerford praised for its high cutability.

Miller's brother, Kevin, stood in with the reserve champion lightweight, a 1,069-pound Limousin. Reserve middleweight prize went to Matt Miller of Buffalo Mills RD 1 for his second place 1,175-pound steer that ranked in class next to the Claycomb entry. Jim Fisher of Bedford marched his black heavyweight, at 1,199 pounds, to the reserve champion heavyweight position.

At the sale auctioneered by Clayton Winebark of Indiana County, steers turned in an average of 90 cents including the grand and reserve grand champions, 78 cents without the top two.

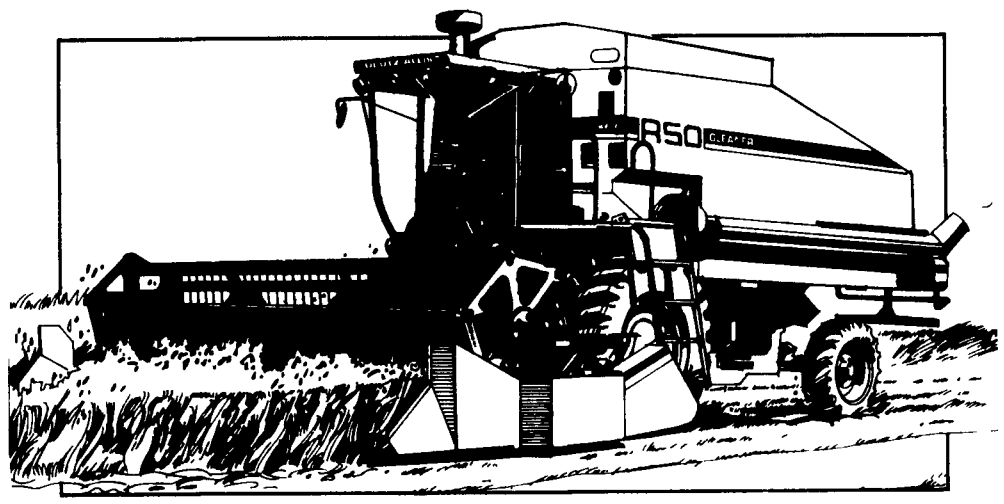
Introducing the new-size rotary Gleaner combine.



R50

This is your kind of combine—rotary productivity for the price of a conventional combine.

This new-size rotary is just right for medium-to-large farming operations. Built with the best of Gleaner rotary technology. Built tough to stay on the job 'til harvesting is finished. Built for easy maintenance and handling. And powered by the world-famous Deutz air-cooled engine.

Here's your chance to improve harvesting efficiency. To put more clean grain in the bin. To give yourself a profit edge with more reliable harvesting.

Come in and get the full details. We can order one to meet your needs exactly.

Lamb Show

Two Everett teens, both introduced to shepherding by former-neighbor Kathy Weaver-Claycomb, scooped up banners in the Bedford County Fair's Junior Market Lamb Show.

Top prize went to Candace Crawford, 14, a four-year veteran of the show ring, while reserve honors went to Tammy McCloskey, the county's reigning sheep and wool queen.

Weaver-Claycomb was on hand to watch her proteges capture the honor that eluded her in many years of FFA showing.

Crawford exhibited a long-loined, 116-pound, black-faced lamb to a blue ribbon, the heavyweight championship, and finally the grand. McCloskey's 113-pound Suffolk paced its class and was chosen middleweight champion before going on to the reserve title.

In the winner's circle, also seeking the purple banner, was Nanette Whitfield of Schellsburg with her lightweight champion, a 100-pound crossbred.

Don Witt of Champion evaluated the 90-head offering, also conveying these lavender prizes: Rhett Funston of Buffalo Mills, reserve heavyweight; Ginger Kegg of Bedford, reserve middleweight; Sonja Harclerode of New Paris, reserve lightweight.

Both champions earned record prices at the Fair's Junior Market Livestock Sale, with American Outfitters of Bedford bidding $9.72 a pound for Crawford's lamb, and Mid-State Bank and Trust Co. nodding $7.50 per pound for McCloskey's winner.

Fifty-one lambs sold averaged $1.63 including the champions, and $1.35 excluding them.

Hog Show

Showing homebred Yorkshire-Duroc crossbreds, John and Julie Bechtel of New Enterprise drove their hogs to market champion banners in junior livestock judging.

It was the first time they'd exhibited hogs bred on their own farm, the young people said.

John, 17, a June graduate of Northern Bedford County High School, displayed his 228-pound barrow to the grand championship while Julie, 16, a high school junior, took the next-highest prize with a 220-pound gilt.

Nelson Beam, commercial hog producer of Elverson, judged the 99-head show and awarded blue ribbons to these other class winners: Danielle Pepple of New Enterprise, Kim Claar of Woodbury, Mike Anderson and his sister Judy of Schellsburg, Ginger Kegg of Bedford, Kirk Diehl of Bedford.

Buyers bid record prices for the Bechtel entries as Everett Hardwood Lumber Co. of Everett paid $11.30 per pound for the grand champion and Letrent's Pharmacy of Bedford gave $9.25 a pound for the reserve.

Seventy individual hogs averaged $1.38 a pound. The average without the champions stood at $1.11.

Brillion's Seeder Produces Uniform Stands

A farmer takes a closer look at the Brillion Sure-Stand grass seeder during Ag Progress Days. The seeder features improved deflectors and seed boxes, smoother clutch operation, optional hydraulic transportations, and retractable wheel-track levelers. Precision seeding devices meter out the seed, and the rear rollers gently firm the soil around the tiny seeds. The implement works with legume and grass seeds.

Hog Slat Introduces Blender Fan

NEWTON GROVE, NC — Hot Slat recently announced the availability of a new 12-inch Blender Fan, especially designed for rooms with high heat requirements and low ventilation. When used with a ventilation system, the Blender Fan provides hogs with a comfortable environment, plus offers the added benefits of energy savings and a more efficient system.

The new Blender Fan pulls warm air from the ceiling down over a unique aerodynamic cone that directs airflow out laterally. This enables warm air from throughout the entire room to be mixed with cooler air, then redistributed down to the animals' level at a warmer temperature. The even airflow creates an equalized temperature from ceiling to floor, plus eliminates dead spots in the ventilation system and air stratification.

According to Gary Duncan, company spokesman, the new blender fan "is ideal for nurseries and farrowing rooms, and provides a long-awaited alternative to the do-it-yourself fan and board systems."

Featuring heavy-duty fiberglass housing and a 100-watt variable-speed motor, each model is shipped fully assembled and prewired for easy installation.

Westfalia Introduces Automated Feed Car For Stanchion Barns

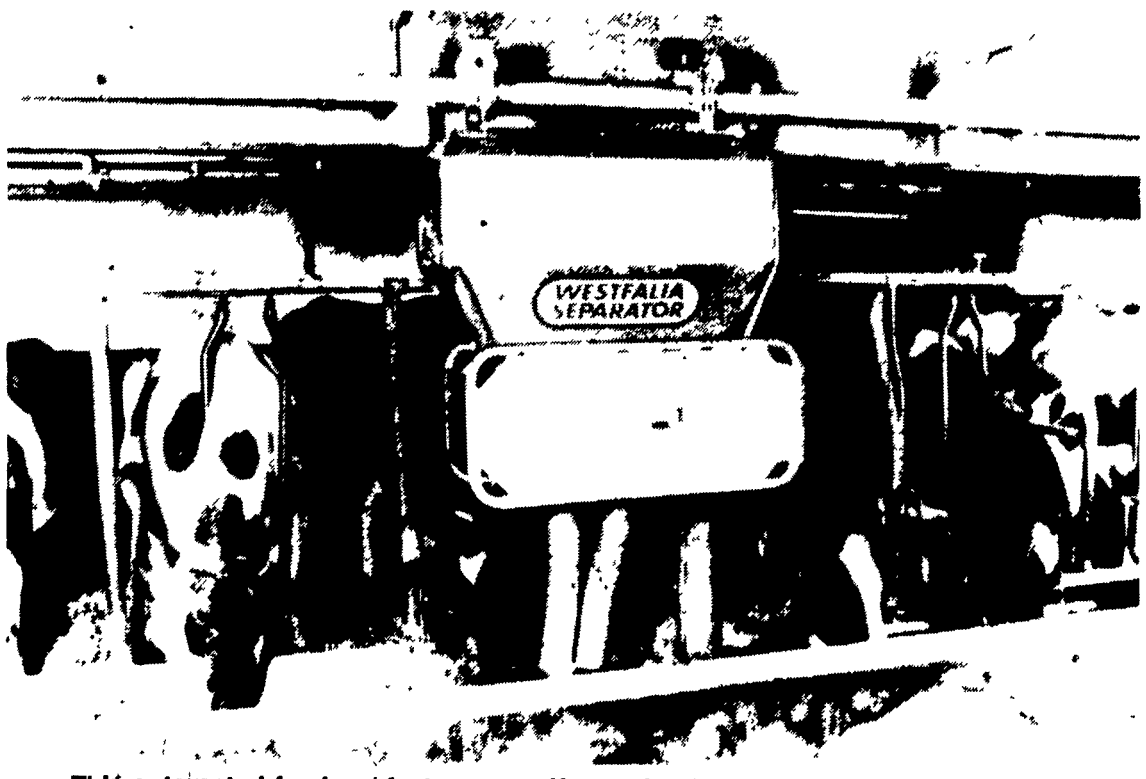
ELK GROVE VILLAGE, IL — An automated feed car designed to help stanchion barn operators save labor, time and money is now available from Westfalia Systemat, Inc., the nation's leading manufacturer of high-tech dairy equipment.

The Mobitron, which combines conventional features like self-contained 24-volt battery power with state-of-the-art features like an on-board computer, travels by monorail throughout the stanchion barn as it automatically delivers a precise, pre-set amount of feed to each cow. After the unit finishes its run, it automatically returns to "home base" where it recharges itself for the next feeding.

Computerized feeding allows the Mobitron to utilize feed more effectively than conventional methods. Depending on the individual needs of the herd, the Mobitron can be pre-programmed to deliver either a single or dual ration and feed up to 150 cows nine times a day. A phase feed program such as this means better overall feed use, resulting in less waste and more savings.

Because the Mobitron's travel is not impeded by cumbersome electrical cords and power lines, the unit works in virtually all stanchion barns. Straight line-, L- or U-shaped layouts can be easily negotiated, as well as 5-degree slopes, 20-inch regular turns and 40-inch U-turns.

As always with Westfalia, quality features like stainless steel hopper construction and non-corrosive feed dispensers have been built right into the Mobitron, ensuring reliable service year after year. In fact, depending upon farm management, the initial investment can usually be recovered within a short time period.



This automated feed car features a self-contained 24-volt battery and travels by monorail.

Miller Joins White Oak Mills

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster) — Dr. Michael Miller has joined White Oak Mills as vice-president of sales and marketing, effective September 1. He was previously assistant professor of animal science at Penn State as well as extension swine specialist for Pennsylvania, positions he had held since 1986.

In his new position, Miller will work with sales staff to provide technical support to White Oak customers. White Oak Mills is a major supplier of swine feeds and Genesis breeding stock to independent swine producers throughout the state of Pennsylvania, Delaware and parts of New York.

Miller grew up on a hog farm in Iowa. He did his undergraduate and graduate work at Iowa State where he earned his Ph.D. in animal breeding. He was also on the Iowa State extension staff where he taught computer courses and developed computer programs for animal science applications.

His wife, Sharon, also grew up on an Iowa farm and holds a masters degree in adult education and gerontology.

Agway To Acquire Milford Fertilizer

SYRACUSE, NY — Agway, Inc. has announced plans to acquire Milford Fertilizer Co., headquartered in Milford, Del.

The 50-year-old Milford Fertilizer Co. is owned and operated by Robert A. Fischer and his family. Approximately 110 full-time and 60 seasonal employees manufacture, market, and distribute Milford Sure Crop brand dry and liquid fertilizers, agricultural chemicals, and crop seeds at 39 locations in Delmarva, southeastern Pennsylvania, and southern New Jersey. Under Agway ownership, Milford Fertilizer will remain an independent business entity and will continue to operate as it does today with Robert A. Fischer Jr. as its president.

Philip W. Ashcraft, Agway vice president, crop services, states that Milford Fertilizer adds an important dimension to Agway's marketing plans for the Delmarva region.

"The Milford brand name, Sure Crop, is recognized as a leader in value added crop input products in this important farming region and the Sure Crop brand and service will remain in effect," Ashcraft stated.

"Under the continued leadership of Bobby Fischer Jr. and the Milford Fertilizer sales staff and other employees, this blending of Agway and Milford resources bring synergies which are beneficial for farmers in the region," he said.

Bobby Fischer Jr. expressed pleasure with the planned acquisition of Milford Fertilizer by Agway.

"Our family is pleased that after 43 years of building an outstanding relationship with our farmer customers, Milford and the Sure Crop brand will continue to grow and provide services for growers strengthened by this combining of resources as well as provide an outstanding opportunity for our employees," he said.

"We look forward to being able to better supply and satisfy the ever-changing needs of our customers as agriculture evolves into the 21st century," Fischer said.

Armstrong Tire Wins Patent

NEW HAVEN, CT — Armstrong Tire Company's Hi-Traction Lug R-1 farm tire's performance characteristics have been awarded a patent by the U.S. Patent Office, according to Daniel A. Cutrone, director of marketing.

Cutrone explained that the drive-axle tire's ability to deliver improved traction, less vibration and lateral rocking and longer mileage won patent approval.

"We weren't the first on the market with a long-bar, short-bar lug tread design," said Cutrone. "But, the award of a patent on the Hi-Traction Lug tire's performance proves that we achieved our goal of introducing a tire that outperforms our competition."

Betty Wells, product manager, large equipment, explained that the Hi-Traction Lug has outperformed Armstong's own popular Hi-Power Lug tire in traction, drawbar horsepower, field capacity and vibration. The patent on the Hi-Traction tire was awarded to Mrs. Wells, who designed it as an Armstrong engineer before transferring to the marketing department.

"We worked on this design for several years and ran extensive field testing on various designs before introducing the tire last winter," said Wells. "This has helped us to develop an open, curved lug design that provides excellent traction and cleaning."

The new tire also has a moisture-resistant nylon carcass and Armstrong's Agri-Tough natural rubber compound which resists chips, cracks and cuts.

Each Hi-Traction Lug tire is sold with Armstrong's eight-year limited warranty on materials and workmanship and a five-year field hazard and stubble-damage warranty.

Market statistics show that Armstrong, in the farm tire business for over 40 years, is the second-largest supplier of farm and construction equipment replacement tires, third-largest in original equipment tires and No. 1 in tires for irrigation equipment.

Local Man Attends Case IH Training Course

RACINE, WI — Donald Gehris, service specialist at Erb & Henry Equip., Inc. recently completed a 4½ -day training course at the Case/IH training center in Racine. The course emphasized the repair and servicing of Case/IH Axial Flow Combines.

This training program included information in hydraulics, drive train, electrical and electronics, threshing and separating systems.

To sharpen their service skills, students performed hands-on testing and troubleshooting of the electrical and hydraulic systems. They also made adjustments to the headers and combine threshing and separating systems.

Case/IH offers a wide variety of training courses for dealer service specialists. Personnel from dealerships throughout North America take advantage of this training.

Donald Gehris has been with Erb & Henry Equip., Inc. for 16 years, specializing in combine and farm equipment set-up and repair. Erb & Henry Equip., Inc. offers complete Farm service of Case/IH farm equipment since 1898.

Management Is Tool To Uncover Alfalfa's Potential

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster) — Among livestock producers, especially dairymen, alfalfa has a reputation that no other forage can match. It's known as the queen of forages and is an essential crop on most Northeastern farms.

But experts say farmers have been reluctant to take full advantage of alfalfa and manage it to its fullest potential.

"Alfalfa and many of our forage crops are neglected and receive only minimal attention," says Les Vough, forage crop extension specialist of the University of Maryland.

The lack of attention is attributed to the other demands on a farmer's time, he said.

"We need to look at alfalfa and recognize that it has great yield potential and is a very valuable crop," Vough said. Suggested methods to more effectively manage alfalfa were part of Vough's and other forage specialists presentations at a field day and open house at an alfalfa breeding station recently completed by Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., near Quarryville.

Vough strongly suggested farmers consider increased amounts of fertilizer, particularly potash to increase alfalfa yields. Results from a five year study showed that increased yields more than offset fertilizer costs.

"The greatest return occurred when we applied 430 pounds of potash. Typically, farmers in this region apply 100-125 pounds of potash," Vough said.

He also suggested an early first cutting would help increase yields.

"If you're two weeks behind on the first cutting that means you have less time for regrowth as the season progresses. Depending on the year, it can make a real difference," Vough said.

Weather — specifically hot, dry weather — has pressured alfalfa and other crops this summer. Although these conditions could have an impact on crop yield there are practices farmers can use to adapt to the conditions, said Bill Fleet, Pioneer agronomy services manager.

"Harvest timing is one of the most important factors to consider when drought conditions hit," Fleet said.

"The plant may look differently, almost like nothing is happening, but it is only adapting to the situation. It still requires management techniques that will optimize yield and quality while helping the stand persist," Fleet said.

Other speakers at the field day included Dennis Calvin, Pennsylvania State University; Vance York, Pioneer alfalfa product coordinator; Tim Woodward, director of Pioneer alfalfa breeding department; Dave Jessen, Quarryville station manager; and Ed Poynor, Quarryville station assistant manager.

Massey-Ferguson To Continue Combine Line

DES MOINES, IA — Massey-Ferguson Inc., the western world's largest tractor manufacturer, has purchased the conventional combine technology, tooling and related parts of the bankrupt Massey Combines Corporation.

The purchase will enable Massey-Ferguson dealers to offer a continuing supply of spare parts and service to owners of Massey combines.

"Although Massey-Ferguson will not manufacture, we will source a new combine line for our dealers to sell in 1989," said J. David Pitt, president of Massey-Ferguson's operations in North America. "This will keep our dealers in a competitive position, not only in tractors, implements, and haying equipment, but combines as well."

Vicon Inc. has acquired Massey Combines' rotary combine technology, tooling, parts, and work-in-process, and has agreed to produce the rotary combine under the M-F label for exclusive distribution through the Massey-Ferguson dealer network.

Vicon Inc. is the Canadian operating subsidiary of Greenland N.V., a Netherlands-based worldwide farm equipment manufacturer. They also have acquired the Massey Combines' rectangular baler technology, and will also supply them exclusively through Massey-Ferguson dealers.

Massey-Ferguson is a wholly owned business of Toronto-based Varity Corporation supplying farm tractors and implements to a global market.

Schuylkill Conducts Conservation Sign-Up

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill) — The Schuylkill Conservation District will be conducting a sign-up period for The Chesapeake Bay Agricultural Program underway in the Swatara Creek Watershed. The Swatara Creek Watershed is located in the southwest corner of Schuylkill County, west of Route 183 and south of Tremont.

Agricultural landowners can apply for an 80 percent cost-share rate for the installation of conservation practices such as terraces, diversions, waterways, contour strips, cover crops, and animal waste facilities. Sign-ups will be held on September 5th-16th (Mon.-Fri.), from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Conservation District located in the Fairlane Village Mall.

Farmers signing up will be prioritized as to the extent of their conservation needs, with contracts and construction beginning in spring of 1989. The Conservation District has requested funding from The Department of Environmental Resources of more than $400,000 over the next four years. Since this is not a long term project, farmers are encouraged to participate while the 80 percent cost share is available.

Contracted farmers will also be aided in a nutrient management and conservation plan for the entire farm. For more details contact Dave Siminitus at the Schuylkill Conservation District at 717/429-1744.

Feed Assistance Planned For Pork Producers In Legislation

DES MOINES, IA — Compromise drought relief legislation approved by Congress and signed into law by President Reagan recently means that a majority of pork producers who have been hurt by this year's devastating dry conditions now will be eligible to participate in either the Emergency Feed Assistance Program or the Emergency Feed Program. Under previously existing law, pork producers were not included in the programs.

"We worked very hard in recent weeks to get this inequitable situation taken care of and we are confident a majority of pork producers suffering from severe drought conditions will now be able to get some assistance from the government," said Ray Hankes, president of the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC). The emergency legislation was primarily designed to assist crop farmers, Hankes said, but NPPC was able to get it extended to this extent to pork producers suffering from drought conditions.

The pork producers organization also was successful in expanding coverage from foundation herds to other livestock that are normally purchased in an operation.

A provision to include producers who do not grow their own feed was not included in the compromise legislation. USDA opposed the provision for several reasons, including its additional cost and the contention that those who buy feed have not suffered the loss of grain production costs as have those who grow their own feed. USDA also argued that many producers who buy all their feed do so for feeder pigs. USDA contended that the price of feeder pigs has dropped enough to offset higher feed costs.

Eligible pork producer participants in the Emergency Feed Assistance Program will be able to purchase corn at 75 percent of the county loan rate. Participants in the Emergency Feed Program will be eligible for a 50 percent federal subsidy when purchasing feed. The new programs go into effect September 1.

To participate in the federal assistance programs, eligible pork producers must have suffered a substantial loss in feed production, be actively engaged in farming and be living in or next to a county that has been declared a disaster area. There is a $50,000 per person cap on benefits. Livestock producers with gross annual revenues in excess of $2.5 million are not eligible as participants in the federal emergency assistance programs.

Other eligibility requirements are available at local county extension offices.

The USDA indicated eligible farmers could begin getting federal assistance money in October.

Issues-Management Program Acts For Veal Growers

RAPID CITY, SD — Issues management, animal welfare and misleading advertising are concerns that affect the entire animal agriculture industry and particularly, the veal industry. New solutions to those problems were discussed by veal growers attending the 66th Annual Meeting Of The National Livestock and Meat Board held recently in Rapid City, S.D.

"I hope that all people in animal agriculture realize that animal issues are a big concern throughout the whole industry," said Floyd Many, veal grower from Hobart, N.Y. "I feel that the veal committee is riding point for the animal industry in this area." The veal-issues management program, backed by an issues-management team and resource materials, has been formed to help veal growers inform consumers about animal welfare and food safety issues affecting the veal industry. The program is managed by the Veal Committee of The Beef Industry Council. In the area of misleading advertising, the team succeeded recently in it's efforts to stop an ad placed by The Humane Farming Association in "The Atlantic" magazine.

The veal committee also has developed retail promotion programs to help increase the sales of veal. "I'm very happy with what's happening here. Our focus has been on the food service industry and now is starting to move into the retail arena to some degree." Many says the committee also has developed a program to help the retailers identify the best methods of merchandising veal.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF U.S. FARMLAND

H. Louis Moore
Professor of Ag Economics
Penn State University

Concerns about foreign ownership of U.S. farmland began in the 1970's when oil embargoes resulted in great wealth flowing to the Middle East. Some of that money was reinvested in the countries that were buying the oil. Kuwait bought a substantial interest in Germany's Mercedes Benz. Individual sheiks bought resort hotels in Florida and, because farmland values increased rapidly in the 1970's, they began to buy U.S. farmland as well. Foreign ownership has never been popular among U.S. farmers. Their concerns led to the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act of 1978. Under this act foreigners investing in U.S. farmland must report all transactions. The Economic Research Service of the USDA analyzes the data and makes periodic reports to the nation.

Despite media reports about large holdings of U.S. farmland by foreigners, foreign investment in U.S. farmland has not been important and hasn't changed much since 1978. Foreigners own less than 1 percent of the nation's privately held agricultural land. The amount of U.S. farmland owned by foreign investors as of December 31, 1987 totaled 12.5 million acres, up only 202,000 acres since December 1986. Interestingly, nearly 60 percent of the foreign-held acreage is really owned by U.S. corporations in which foreign persons have a significant interest or substantial control. A little less than 8 percent of the total is owned by foreign individuals.

While we naturally assume that foreigners concentrate their holdings in the Sun Belt, the largest amount of foreign-owned acreage is in Maine. Fully 14 percent of the U.S. acreage held by foreigners is in Maine and most of that is timberland. Three large paper companies own most of it. Two are Canadian, and the third is a U.S. company that is partially foreign owned. About 36 percent of the foreign held acreage is in the South and 34 percent is in the West. Rhode Island is the only state with no reported foreign owned agricultural land.

It appears that foreign ownerhsip of U.S. farmland is no threat to U.S. farmers. Drought, credit, trade business and foreign competition are all bigger threats to a profitable agriculture than foreign ownership of our agricultural land.

Farm Credit Makes Statement On Drought Conditions

YORK — The Joint Boards of Directors of the York Farm Credit Service has issued a statement regarding the severe drought damage done in all of the six counties served by the cooperative. During the 1987 drought that effected most of South Central Pennsylvania, York Farm Credit Service offered reduced interest rates on loans necessitated by drought conditions. Since the impact of the 1988 dry conditions are not yet defined enough to design a repeat program, the Boards did issue the following statement.

"York Farm Credit Service, in addition to its ongoing and historical philsophy of providing sound and constructive credit in bad times as well as good and doing its utmost to work with farmers who are experiencing stressful conditions in their operations, will institute a special program for drought affected members that will be of longer duration than the 1987-1988 Drought Program, which concluded on April 1. Further, the Associations are encouraging members to familiarize themselves with government programs as they become available and to take timely action in responding to these programs. Farm Credit loan officers will make a special effort to stay up to date on these programs to provide assistance to members."

The York Farm Credit Service presently provides more than $65 million in long term Land Bank loans to 1000 borrowers and $38 million in short term Production Credit Association loans to 775 borrowers in South Central Pennsylvania.

York Farm Credit Service is affiliated with the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore, part of the nationwide Farm Credit System, the nation's leading agricultural lending institution. The bank serves farmers and agricultural cooperatives in the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Bull Alley Planned For Eastern National Livestock Show

NEW WINDSOR, MD — Plans are being made to feature a display of herd sires and beef breeds in "BULL ALLEY" at the 41st Eastern National Livestock Show to be hald Sept. 30 thru Oct. 4 at the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium.

For a minimal fee, any breeder or breed may purchase space in BULL ALLEY to display his herd sire or a representative of a breed.

Each year the Eastern National Livestock Show attracts exhibitors from all over the North American continent with 1,400 to 1,500 head of livestock.

In addition, the Intercollegiate and 4-H/FFA Livestock Judging Contests attract 25 to 30 teams of future stockmen, veterinarians and educators to the show each year.

A display on BULL ALLEY will afford your herd sire a breed exceptional exposure to the people you wish to reach.

For more information contact: Andy Cashman, Manager, Eastern National Livestock Show, 826 Springdale Road, New Windsor, MD 21776. Phone: 301/775-2841.

Pride Of York County Swine Sale Scheduled

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — Take any statewide and many national hog competitions and run down the list of top winners. Very likely, names of several veteran York County hog breeders will be among the high placers.

Producing high-quality, high-production hogs has become a tradition of continuing pride among York County's hog breeding industry. Many of those consistently topping shows and sales began their swine breeding vocations with 4-H and FFA project pigs. Now, several of these successful, long-time breeders have set out to give something back, by making available offspring from some of their finest foundation stock.

They're calling it the "Pride of York County All Breed Sale," a joint effort of the York County Pork Producers and the York Fair. And, it's scheduled for 12:30 p.m., Saturday, September 17, a highlight of closing day at the York Fair.

Headliners for the breeding stock portion of the sale are the Supreme Champion boar and gilt of the York Fair's purebred shows scheduled earlier in the week. Additional purebreds offered are 12 boars and 25 gilts.

Numbers have been expanded from the initial 30 in last year's sale to fifty top-quality pure- and crossbred feeders. Consignments have been selected aged right for Farm Show competition. Bulk of the consignments are repeat and similar breedings to crosses already with proven success before showring judges and auctioneers' gavels.

"An incentive has been added," noted sale chairman, Dave Holloway. "Buyers whose animals do well at the Farm Show will earn credit toward the 1989 sale.

"These are club pigs for anyone, from anywhere," the chairman added. "There aren't many sales that offer pigs aged right for the Farm Show."

Among the featured bloodlines are Yorkshires from Wilson Bros. of New Freedom, breeders of the reserve champion in the recent York 4-H Swine Roundup, and Chesters and Durocs from Rodger Bankert of Hanover, breeder of numerous past 4-H Roundup champions.

From Carolyn Thomas of Stewartstown, are consignments bred similar to the champion Hampshire bred gilt at the 1987 Farm Show. Consignors Russell and Arlie Cornbower's Berkshires also produced high placers at the recent York roundup, and Spots breeder Larry Robinson of Delta was a multi-winner at last year's Keystone show with his entries.

John Strawbridge of Windsor, offers similarly bred feeders to the champion Yorkshire boar and gilt at the 1988 Summer State Show and Sale. Veteran Spots breeder and exhibitor Ron Trostle of Red Lion has taken numerous local and regional honors.

Perennial Farm Show honors winner Jim Parlett and Son of Airville have consignments from their Chester, Duroc and Spotted breeding operation. Holloway Durocs of Glen Rock will consign feeders from bloodlines which produced a recent national Class I Duroc gilt and champion boar and gilt at the summer state sale.

These little guys are among the 50 pure- and crossbred stock to be sold at the Pride of York County All Breed Sale on September 17. Among those selling pigs include Carolyn Thomas of Stewartstown, Larry Robinson of Delta, John Strawbridge of Windsor, and Ron Trostle of Red Lion.

Mercer County Holds Livestock Show, Sale

MERCER — The Sale of Champions led off the Mercer County Junior Livestock Sale at the Mercer County 4-H Park.

The grand champion steer was purchased by Leale Brothers, Castle Brand, and Amish Farm of Wheatland. The 1,300-pound steer, shown by Bill Nulph of Grove City, was sold for $2.55 per pound.

The grand champion market lamb, a 117-pound Suffolk shown by Nicole Howard of Mercer, was purchased by Farrell Golden Dawn of Farrel for $5.20 per pound. Jason Crawford of Mercer sold his 98-pound reserve champion market lamb to Leali Brothers and Castle Brand of Wheatland for $3.15 per pound.

Mowry's Meat of Sandy Lake put in the top bid of $2.40 per pound to walk away with Julie Bollard's grand champion pen of lambs. The reserve champions in this class were shown by Matt Fentons of Greenville. He sold his lambs for $2.30 per pound to Greenville Agway in Greenville.

The grand champion market hog was shown by Mike Dye of Stoneboro and weighed in at 246 pounds. Livingston Packing of Westford purchased the animal fo $4.55 per pound. Buyer of the reserve champion was Reimold, Leali, Castle Brand for $5 per pound. The reserve champion was exhibited by Amy Lazzar of Fredonia.

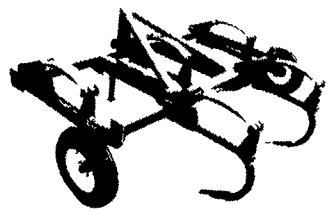
TWO-BAR OR FRAME



The frame type DEEP TILL is available with a Category II or III hitch and may be equipped with the optional drawbar hitch to convert it to a pull type. The hitch features both clevis and straight drawbar for four-wheel drive tractors. Adjustable top arm controls the front-to-rear leveling of the machine. Sizes range from 12'6" to 27'6". Hydraulic gauge wheels control working depth from 8" to 18". The pull-type hitch is easily removed to convert the unit to a 3-point Category III hitch model. The automatic reset feature on all models allows non-stop tilling and eliminates the inconvenience, downtime and expense of replacing shear bolts. All frame type Deep Tills must be used with pull-type hitch when using either style trash cutting coulters.

SINGLE RANK MODEL

The three shank model, shown below, has a Category II hitch. With a cutting width of 7'6", it is ideal for operators with smaller acreages and horsepower. It is extremely maneuverable, yet provides the same basic deep tilling job as its "big brothers". The single rank model provides simplicity and durability. It is available in 3, 5 and 7 shank sizes, in working widths of 7'6", 12'6" and 17'6". Shank spacing is 30" but can also be set at 20" in light trash conditions. Single rank models are close coupled to the tractor for effective control and maneuverability. Manually adjusted gauge wheels control working depth to 18". A speed of 4½ to 6 MPH is recommended.

Stoner Shows Champion Hog At Franklin County Fair

Becky Stoner showed the grand champion pig at the Franklin Co. 4-H Pig Club Round-up. Paul Bowders, representing W.R. Sellers Livestock of Greencastle, purchased the champion for a record price of $4.75 per pound.

GREENCASTLE (Franklin) — Becky Stoner, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Robert Stoner of Mercersburg, showed the grand champion pig at the Franklin County 4-H Pig Club Round-up & Sale on Saturday, August 6, at the Greencastle Livestock Market. In her bid for the championship, Becky was able to pass 38 other 4-H'ers to reach the top spot and saw her 245-pound champion sell for a record price of $4.75 per pound to W. R. Sellers Livestock of Greencastle.

The reserve champion, a 235-pound Yorkshire, shown by Darwin Meyers of Chambersburg, was purchased by the Hatfield Packing Co., Carlisle Buying Station, for a record price of $3.80 per pound.

The 4-H project animals sold for an average $1.09 per pound to establish yet another sale record, announced county agent Bill Reagan. A total of 95 animals sold for $20,304 and averaged 223 pounds, representing more than eight tons of pork-on-the-hoof.

In the pair-class competition champion, honors were captured by Donnie Sheiss of Chambersburg, whose animals averaged 227 pounds and were purchased by W. R. Sellers of Greencastle for $3.10 per pound.

Reserve champion honors in this class went to Darren Wilson of Chambersburg, with his two pigs averaging 212 pounds. They were purchased by Wayne F. Craig and Sons of Orrstown for $1.50 per pound.

In the fitting and showing competition, Donnie Sheiss was declared the senior champion, while brother Eric Sheiss captured reserve champion honors.

The show was judged by Kenneth Winebark, extension agent from Lebanon County.

Other buyers supporting this year's outstanding sale were: Hatfield Packing; Four States, Hagerstown; Orrstown Bank; Greencastle Livestock Market; White Oak Mills; Stouffer Enterprises; F & M Trust, Chambersburg; Preston Horst Meats, Mauginsville; Sniders Elevator, Williamson; Preston Horst Livestock; McDowell Ins., Greencastle; Strickler Ins., Chambersburg; Meyers Implement Co., Greencastle; C. Drought Corn—Plow Under Or What?

GEO. F.W. HAENLEIN
University of Delaware

You have a stand of corn out there left in a sorry looking state by this summer's drought. You ponder what is best and most economical to do about it? What are your options?

Green chopping is one, but presence of nitrate levels above safe limits due to the stunted growth of the corn is an important suspicion that must be eliminated with laboratory testing before feeding drought-damaged corn as green chop.

Ensiling is another option that reduces some of the nitrate contents if present.

What about buying some corn silage or green chop from your neighbor if you are short of forage this year? What is a reasonable price?

Feeding value of corn silage depends on kernel content, and their market price determines the silage price. Table 1 shows the potential price range under present conditions from about $16 per ton for poor silage to $29 per ton for good corn silage. The table prices are at the farm silo; if the corn still in the field, chopping, hauling and silo filling should be deducted from the table prices at about $5 per ton, assuming there is no long-distance hauling. Corn silage prices refer to a 35 percent dry matter content, if that is different in a particular case, then prices should be adjusted accordingly.

How much silage potential is out there in a particular field? Some thumb rules can be useful that say, you can expect one ton of drought-damaged corn silage for each five bushels of estimated corn grain yield per acre. Or you can expect for every poor stand, one ton of silage for each one foot of corn height without the tassel.

However, if you have no sale for your bad corn, you don't need to make silage yourself, or if it is loaded with nitrates, what about plowing under? Not all is lost because the corn contains nutrients that can save fertilizer in part next year. Table 2 shows some useful data. In short they say if a farmer cannot use or sell his bad corn between $25 to $60 per acre depending on severity of drought damages, then it will be more profitable for him to plow it under. Assumed fertilizer values were $.25 per pound for nitrogen or phosphates and $.13 for potash.

Thus some corn production cost can be recovered and not all is lost.

Pennsylvania Simmental Field Day

TITUSVILLE (Crawford) — The 1988 Pennsylvania Simmental Field Day was held at Windy Hill Farms.

One of the highlights of the day was a surprise guest appearance by Knic Overpeck. Knic, with the help of Craig and Cindy Smith, gave a very informative demonstration on showmanship to the many juniors in attendance.

Other well-known guest speakers included Jerry Williams (ASA Representative) Tom Holman marketing consultant, and Dr. John Comerford of Penn State.

The day also was highlighted by recognition of the outgoing PSA President Bill Flagg by the newly elected President Bill Shoemaker. A plaque was presented to Bill Flagg by Bill Shoemaker.

Sussex Open Swine Show

SUSSEX, NJ — The swine herd from Rutgers University took five of the top 10 honors, including grand champion best of show at the 10th annual Open Swine Show hosted by the Sussex Swine Association. Also doing well was Eugene Reininger, whose hogs were judged by Henry Gruber of New Tripoli, Penn., to be the reserve champion best of show, champion barrow, and reserve champion pair.

MEASURE THE PERFORMANCE

RICH & GEORGIANNA LOCKE
MERCERSBURG, PA

Rich and Georgianna Locke operate a 100 cow dairy near Mercersburg, Pa. A sound breeding program was started by Rich's father Wayne in 1960. As you can see from Lockway Holly Sexation, the breeding tradition has continued.

In September of 1986, The Locke's decided to give Purina the challenge of solving their butterfat test problem. They then started feeding Purina's North Atlantic Concentrate B-38% from Detrich Elevator. The concentrate was fed through a dual ration computer feeder with shelled corn. Buffers were added to the bunk which consisted of corn silage, alfalfa haylage, and high moisture ear corn. Six pounds of alfalfa hay was also part of the program.

Following are the results:

We thank the Locke's for sharing their DHIA Records with us, and for giving us the opportunity to work with them.
